Section 2 That the clerk of the said court with whom any such deposit in lieu of surety or sureties shall be made shall furnish a receipt for the same to the person or persons making such deposit and shall deposit said funds in some national bank or trust company approved by the court for the use of the party or parties who may thereafter recover the same or become entitled thereto by reason of the forfeiture or other breach of the condition of the bail or recognizance in the prosecution or proceeding in which the said deposit was made Provided however That upon the proper order of the said court the clerk aforesaid shall be required to pay to the party or parties entitled thereto the said money deposited with him without interest and less his commission for receipting and paying out said moneys which commission is hereby fixed at one-half of one per centum on all such moneys paid out with a minimum commission of three dollars A record of said money receipted for and paid out the commissions retained the name of parties from whom received and to whom paid shall be entered at the number and term of said prosecution or proceeding upon the record of the court by the clerk thereof In case there is no forfeiture or breach of condition of the bail or recognizance entered by the defendant or defendants in the prosecution or proceeding and the same is terminated then upon the order of the court the clerk shall pay said money deposited to the defendant or defendants or to the person or persons depositing the same in their behalf without interest after the deduction of his commission as hereinbefore provided unless said money has been in the possession of the said clerk for a period exceeding ninety days in which event interest shall be paid at the rate of two per centum per annum

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend the bill, page 4, line 2, by inserting after the word "annum" the following: "provided that no interest shall be paid on money deposited in lieu of real estate surety or security in compliance with order of support in desertion and non-support cases"

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chairs hears none.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I simply wish to state that this bill was drafted by a man for whom I have great respect, and who is familiar with the Public Service Commission. It gives to the Public Service Commission the power to review the rentals of underlying companies, and, where they are excessive, to regulate them.

There has been some opposition to this bill, but there is a gentlemen's agreement that the objectors will make their objections in the House and not in the Senate.

With that explanation, I hope the Senate will give me the honor of passing the bill.

Section 3 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I wish to call the Senate's attention to this Bill No. 926, the Greater Pittsburgh Bill. It was referred to the Committee on Judiciary General on March the 12th, also reported out and read the first time on March 12th, passed second reading March 13th and recommitted to the Committee for a hearing which was held March 26th. It was then amended in Committee, and reported out, as amended, on March 27th. It is now on the calendar for action.

I ask that the Senate pass this bill. It means a great deal to the City of Pittsburgh, and will affect its standing in the United States. If it is passed it will mean that Pittsburgh will be the second largest city in the State and possibly the fifth largest city in the United States.

For that reason, and others I might enumerate, and for the possibility that there may be errors or mistakes in printing, we wish to have it passed finally tonight in the Senate, allowing us an opportunity for the balance of the week to work with the House, and its committee to which the bill will be referred, in order to correct any errors that may be found.

I ask the Senate not only the support the bill, but I would ask that it be passed by a unanimous vote tonight.

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, this bill is a meritorious one, It has been given a great deal of study for a number of years, and its provisions now seem to satisfy most of the people who are interested. But the thing I desire especially to call attention to is the fact that even if this bill passes the Senate and House and is signed by the Governor, it does not become a law until the people of Allegheny County have had an opportunity to vote on it; and in order for it to become a law it must be given a two-thirds vote by 51% of the municipalities affected,—not merely a majority vote but a two-thirds vote in 51% of the municipalities affected, which number 120. So the passage of this bill merely gives the people the right to vote on this charter.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I did not intend to say anything about this bill, but since I am going to vote "no" on it I believe it would be just as well for me to state my position on this bill.

I do not agree that this is a bill that is meritorious, although I do not expect anything I say about it to have any influence on any Senator's vote.

Neither do I agree that this bill puts it up to the people of Allegheny County to decide. It is true that it will take a two-thirds vote in 51 per cent. of the municipalities to adopt it, but we have in Allegheny County 122 municipalities, and under this bill it is possible for 60 of those municipalities to be forced into this new form of government even though every voter in 60 of the municipalities should vote against it. That is the reason I am going to vote against this bill.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Blil No. 927, as follows:

An Act authorizing the Secretary of Highways with the approval of the Governor to establish construct and maintain roads parallel to existing State highways in order to relieve traffic congestion providing certain conditions and restrictions for the assessment and payment of damages for property taken thereby and providing that such highways when constructed shall become a part of the system of State highways of the Commonwealth

Whereas, In certain sections of the Commonwealth the volume of traffic has increased to the point where the existing State highways as constructed are not of sufficient width to provide for the safe and convenient passage of such traffic and

Whereas The present State Highways are in such condition that it would not be economical to relocate and abandon the same and

Whereas The expense of condemning private property along and adjacent to the present highway for the purpose of widening said highway in its present location would be excessive therefore

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the Secretary of Highways with the approval of the Governor is authorized to take over existing public roads parallel to State highways between any or all of the points named in the line or route of such State highway and construct and maintain the same according to the standards of the Department for the construction and maintenance of State highways

Section 2 The Secretary of Highways with the approval of the Governor is hereby authorized in the establishment of such parallel highway as provided in Section one hereof to relocate or change the lines and widths thereof or construct and improve such parallel route wholely or in part on a new alignment where such relocation and construction would eliminate dangerous grades or turns or decrease the cost of construction or maintenance

Section 3 Such parallel route when taken over by the Secretary of Highways with the approval of the Governor as hereinbefore provided shall become a part of the system of State highways of the Commonwealth and any moneys appropriated to the Department of Highways for the construction and/or maintenance of State highways shall be available for the construction and maintenance of such roads

Section 4 Any damages sustained by any property owner in connection with the construction change of width or relocation of such road shall be ascertained in the same manner as now provided for the ascertainment of damages in connection with the relocation construction and maintenance of State highways and when so ascertained such damages shall be paid by the county

Section 5 The Department of Highways shall have the same supervision and authority over such parallel roads as is now or hereafter conferred upon the said Department with reference to State highways

Section 6 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith be and the same are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 931, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to carry into effect the provisions of an act approved the tenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred ninety-three) entitled "An act providing for assistance to certain mothers providing for the appointment of boards of trustees for the several counties of the Commonwealth and for the appointment of a State supervisor and assistants and fixing the salaries of such State supervisor and assistants defining the powers and duties of boards of trustees including the power of appointing assistants and investigators and the distribution of funds at their disposal providing for the apportionment of the State appropriation among the several counties and requiring counties coming under the provisions of this act to appropriate certain moneys and providing penalties" as amended

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of three million four hundred ninety-seven thousand five hundred twenty-two dollars ($3,497,522) is hereby specifically appropriated for the two fiscal years beginning the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of the act approved the tenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred ninety-three) entitled "An act providing for assistance to certain mothers providing for the appointment of boards of trustees for the several counties of the Commonwealth and for the appointment of a State supervisor and assistants and fixing the salaries of such State supervisor and assistants defining the powers and duties of boards of trustees including the power of appointing assistants and investigators and the distribution of funds at their disposal providing for the apportionment of the State appropriation among the several counties and requiring counties coming under the provisions of this act to appropriate certain moneys and providing penalties" as amended

Section 2 Upon the approval of this act the State Treasurer after deducting from the entire amount appropriated for salaries and office expenses and for the unorganized counties shall divide the balance into two equal parts

The one part hereinafter referred to as the second part shall be held intact for distribution on and after the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty in the manner hereinafter provided

The other part shall upon the approval of this act be distributed among the several counties organized under the Mothers' Assistance System according to a budget for each county prepared by the Secretary of Welfare after taking into consideration the following basis of distribution

(1) The number of families receiving assistance on the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight (2) in addition provision for other eligible families which could not be aided from the fund available for the past biennium the number of additional families needing aid in each county to be determined by the following formula

In counties where the number of eligible families on the waiting list the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight was greater than the number representing the average yearly increase of families aided during the biennium ending the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight allowance may be determined by the former number In counties where the average yearly increase of families aided is the greater number allowance may be determined by this number rather than by the eligible waiting list The apportionment to each county shall be based upon the average grant per family prevailing in such county during the year ending the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight

Section 3 On the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty the State Treasurer shall set aside out of the second part to each county organized at the beginning of the biennium under the Mothers' Assistance System a sum equal to that apportioned to it under the preceding section by the Secretary of Welfare provided the amount so set aside to any county together with the unexpended balance of the amount apportioned to the county during the first year shall constitute the State's assistance during the second year to such county

Section 4 No county shall receive its allotment of the State appropriation available for any year under the method of distribution provided by this act unless such county has accepted the provisions of the act of July tenth one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred ninety-three) as amended and has placed at the disposal of the board of trustees a sum equal to the amount available from the State appropriation for such year No county shall receive any sum from the State under sections two and three of this act unless such county shall appropriate a like sum for the same purpose

Section 5 Out of the amount hereinbefore appropriated the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary shall be set apart to be apportioned to the counties heretofore unorganized under the Mothers' Assistance System At the beginning of the first year of the biennium the State Treasurer shall set aside for each of the counties unorganized prior to the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine equal parts of ten thousand dollars ($10,000) At the beginning of the second fiscal year of the biennium the State Treasurer shall set aside for the counties which have organized during the first fiscal year the amounts designated by the Secretary of Welfare who shall on the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty reapportion to the counties organizing during the first fiscal year the balance remaining on that date of the sum set aside for the unorganized counties the reapportionment to be determined by the need as presented by the counties

Section 6 Out of the amount hereinbefore appropriated the sum of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary shall be set apart and applied for the payment of the salaries of the State supervisor of the Mothers' Assistance Fund and of such assistants clerks and other employes as may be required for the proper conduct of the work of the supervisor for the traveling hotel and other expenses of the supervisor and her assistants for the cost of making special investigations and for incidental contingent and other expenses of every kind and description necessary for the proper administration of the Mothers' Assistance System

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1025, as follows:

An Act requiring all Title insurance companies to create and maintain a reserve fixing the amount thereof and regulating the same

Section 1 Title Insurance Reserve (a) Reserve Fund Required Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all companies heretofore or which may hereafter be incorporated for the insurance of owners of real estate mortgages and others interested in real estate from loss by reason of defective titles liens and encumbrances as well as all title insurance and trust companies receiving deposits heretofore incorporated and authorized by charter or by law to carry on said business shall from and after the approval of this act establish and maintain a reserve fund for the protection of policy holders in the manner herein provided

(b) Establishment and Maintenance of Fund Said reserve shall be established by setting aside a sum equal to ten per cent of the premium (that is the sum charged for insurance over and above examination and settlement fees) paid on each policy of insurance which such company may hereafter issue until the total amount set aside shall equal two hundred and fifty thousand dollars Provided That the said total reserve fund may with the consent of the Secretary be set aside at any one time or from time to time out of surplus and undivided profits Said ten per cent of each premium shall be known as the reserve and the aggregate of said reserves of all policies issued and outstanding shall be known as the reserve fund The reserve fund shall be maintained as herein provided so long as liability on any policies shall be outstanding

(c) Custody Supervision by Secretary The custody of said reserve fund shall be retained by the company and the fund shall be kept separate and apart from other asssets of the company in the manner hereinafter provided The Secretary is hereby required from time to time to make investigation to ascertain that a reserve fund equal to the amount required by clause (b) of this section is so maintained Should any company neglect or refuse to establish or maintain such reserve fund as herein provided the Secretary shall by an order under his hand and seal of office direct said company either to comply with the provisions of this section or to discontinue doing a title insurance business

(d) Investment of Reserve Fund Said title insurance reserve fund shall be invested by such companies in first mortgage or other securities designated by law as legal investments for trust funds and such investment of any accumulated reserve shall be made whenever such accumulation shall amount to one thousand dollars

Said mortgages or other such securities so held shall be carried at cost price but in no case at more than market price and in case there shall be a depreciation in the market price of any such securities such company shall make good any such depreciation by the addition of other legal investments so that the said fund may always be maintained at the full amount required by clause (b) of this section Such companies shall have the right to withdraw from said fund any mortgages or other securities so held therein by crediting the fund the amount at which such mortgages or securities are valued therein provided there are immediately substituted therefor other first mortgages or other securities designated by law as legal investments for trust funds

The securities constituting a reserve fund shall be earmarked and kept separate and apart from the other assets of the company The income of the reserve fund shall become part of the general assets of the Company

(e) Cancellation of Policy Whenever any policy of title insurance hereafter issued is surrendered by the holder cancelled or liability thereon completely discharged the reserve therefor may be withdrawn or credited against reserves that may be due

(f) Reserve Fund to be a Trust Fund It is the intent and purpose of this section that the reserve fund hereby directed to be set aside shall constitute a separate and distinct trust fund for the protection of policy holders and shall not be subject to distribution among depositors or other creditors until all policy holders have been paid in full or the liability on the policies contingent or actual has been completely discharged

(g) Reinsurance by Secretary In the event of the Secretary's taking possession of and winding up any company the Secretary is authorized if it shall seem advisable and practicable to him to use the reserve fund to purchase reinsurance for the liabilities represented by the policies outstanding against such fund Acceptance of the policy of the reinsuring company shall operate as a complete discharge of liability under the policy of the insolvent company Should any policy holder refuse to accept the policy of the reinsuring company he shall only be entitled to receive the pro rata portion of his reserve that shall remain upon distribution as set forth in clause (h) of this section

(h) Distribution of Reserve Fund The reserve fund in the custody of the Secretary shall be liable only to the following claims

One To pay all outstanding claims of indemnity that have arisen by virtue of any policies of insurance

Two For the purchase of reinsurance to indemnify and protect the remaining outstanding policies

Three To distribute among policy holders upon cancellation of their policies the proportionate share of the reserve fund to which they are entitled which shall in no case exceed the proportion which the premium paid for any such policy may bear to the whole amount of title insurance then outstanding

Section 2 The word "Secretary" whenever and wherever used in this act means the Secretary of Banking of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, April 1, 1929.

The House met at 9.00 o'clock P. M.

The SPEAKER (Aaron B. Hess) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The prayer to be offered this evening will be the prayer offered by the Rev. J. Duche, December, 1777, on the occasion of the first meeting of the Congress of the United States of America.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Martin W. Schweitzer, Ph. D., offered the following prayer:

O Lord, our Heavenly Father, high and mighty King of Kings, and Lord of Lords, who dost from Thy throne behold all the dwellers on earth and reignest with power supreme and uncontrolled over all the Kingdoms, Empires and Governments; look down in mercy we beseech Thee, on these American States, who have fled to Thee from the rod of the oppressor, and thrown themselves on Thy gracious protection, desiring henceforth to be dependent only on Thee; to Thee, they have appealed for the righteousness of their cause; to Thee do they now look up for that countenance and support which Thou alone canst give; take them therefore Heavenly Father, under Thy nurturing care, give them wisdom in Council and valor in the field; defeat the malicious designs of our cruel adversaries; convince them of the unrighteousness of their cause; and if they persist in their sanguinary purpose, O, let the voice of Thy own unerring justice, sounding in their hearts, constrain them to drop the weapons of war from their unnerved hands in the day of battle! Be Thou present, O God of wisdom, and direct the councils of this honorable assembly; enable them to settle things on the best and surest foundation That the scene of blood may be speedily closed; that order, harmony and peace may be effectually restored, and truth and justice, religion and piety prevail and flourish among Thy people. Preserve the health of their bodies and vigor of their minds; shower down on them, and the millions they here represent, such temporal blessings as Thou seest expedient for them in this world, and crown them with everlasting glory in the world to come. All this we ask in the name and through the merits of Jesus Christ, Thy Son, our Savior. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Wednesday, March 27, 1929.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Wednesday, March 27, 1929, when, on motion of Mr. Griffith, seconded by Mr. Peelor, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I desire at this time to present to the members of this House the report of the Ways and Means Committee, which I will now read:

The Chief Executive of the Commonwealth on January 21st, last, submitted to the Legislature, pursuant to law, a comprehensive and balanced budget for the biennium beginning June 1st, next. The budget figures relating to anticipated revenues were obtained from the fiscal officers and heads of the departments, boards and commissions, as well as from actual records in the several departments of the Commonwealth.

The estimates were made by the budget secretary in the light of available information and from revenue receipts experienced in previous years. The accuracy of these estimates naturally depends in part upon the degree of conservatism exercised by the budget secretary. The appropriation liabilities of the State, on the other hand, were ascertained and determined by the budget secretary from the very best sources available at the time when the budget was prepared.

The Executive Budget speaks as of the date when it was submitted to the Legislature, although the collection figures contained therein are as of December 1, 1928. More than four months have since passed. In that time, new developments have occurred. Conditions have changed. Additional fact information has been made available. Too much commendation cannot be given to the quality and value of the information contained in the Executive budget. Nothing that I may herein say should be construed to impugn or reflect upon its accuracy. The report which I now submit, if accepted, will doubtless paint an altogether different picture of the present financial condition of the Commonwealth, than was portrayed in the Executive Budget.

The Ways and Means committee probably for the first time in the history of the Commonwealth has used the Executive Budget for the purpose it was actually intended—namely, organized Legislative study—as a guide for deeper and more profound research by the Legislature into the General Fund finances of the State. Accordingly, since the early days of this session, that study has gone on through the whole-hearted co-operation of my colleagues of the committee, to whom I now make public acknowledgement of gratitude. These men have from time to itme, met and conferred with the fiscal officers and department heads of the State; they have searched deeply into the statements made to them by the fiscal officers and department heads; they have frequently conferred with the budget secretary, who on his own account has had under consideration the revision of appropriation recommendations in the light of later information; they have carefully analyzed the figures of the budget; they have on many occasions met together to consider and study profoundly the result of their labors and to reconcile the data on hand. It is the report of this research that I now ask the privilege to present to you in order that you, as members of the General Assembly, may more intelligently pass on the bills relating to appropriation and revenue that will, in the closing days of the session, come before you, and also that you, as the Legislative branch of the State Government, through this report, if it is accepted by you, may place before the Governor information and data that will greatly assist him in his consideration of the appropriation and revenue measures which will lie upon his desk after we have gone home.

We will first consider the subject of revenue:

The initial figure to be ascertained is how much, if any, surplus will we have in the treasury on May 31, 1929. According to the records in the office of the State Treasurer, the cash balance on March 1, 1929, was $30,885,009. Based upon collections of revenue for the period March 1st to May 31, 1929, in two preceding years, the estimated revenue for the period, March 1, 1929, to May 31, 1929, is $20,876,877. To the total of these sums should be added surplus estimated to be transferred from departments, boards and commissions, under the Department of Welfare to the General Fund (page 42, Schedule L of the Executive Budget) $980,806, thus making a total in the treasury on May 31, 1929, of $52,742,692. This sum, however, is encumbered by appropriation liabilities as of March 1, 1929, in the sum of $33,710,930, less the amount thereof estimated to lapse of $4,500,000 (Executive Budget page 34, Schedule G), or a net appropriation liability of $29,210,930, after the payment of which, there will remain in the treasury, as of June 1, 1929, the net sum of surplus of $25,531,762. This figure is in agreement with the Executive Budget (page 24) and the adjustments thereof made by the budget secretary.

With this sum we begin the new biennium on June 1, 1929. This brings us then to the question—how much money will we receive in the two-year period beginning on that date, from sources available under the law for General Fund purposes. On this item, we differ materially from the estimate stated in the Executive Budget (page 24, Schedule A). There it is stated that the estimated revenues available for General Fund purposes for the next biennium are $144,126,000. Your committee firmly believes that this sum is far too conservative an estimate for the following special reason: In the biennium ending May 31, 1929, the actual and estimated collections from county officers (which collections comprise almost entirely inheritance taxes) will be slightly over $42,000,000. Whereas, for the coming biennium, the figure used for this item (Executive Budget, page 130) is $39,500,000—a difference of $2,500,000. This cut or reduction is not justified. It is submitted in support of this conclusion, first, that the adult mortality in the next biennium will be at least as great as in the present biennium, and it is further submitted in support of the conclusion, that the per capita wealth of these persons who will die in the next biennium will be no less than the per capita wealth of those persons who died during the present biennium. It may be reasonably expected on the contrary, on account of the sharp advance in the value of securities, that the per capita wealth of such persons will be substantially increased, A responsible authority states that from the returns of income to the Federal Government for income tax purposes, it is shown that the per capita wealth for this State and the country is on a sharp upward trend. The very great increase in receipts of income tax payments made to the Government on March 15th, last, proves this fact beyond contradiction.

Your committee believes that it would be justified in anticipating revenues from this source, even in excess of the sum received by the State in the present biennium. However, for the sake of safety, it submits an adjustment of the budget secretary's figures on this item by adding thereto the sum of $3,149,163, making thus available $147,275,163. A further adjustment of this figure, however, is found necessary on account of required deductions for anthracite coal tax and interest in the sum of $300,000. This will leave us with a revised estimate of revenue available for General Fund purposes, in the sum of $146,975,163, which sum represents the net estimated revenue of the Commonwealth available for General Fund purposes in the next biennium. To this sum must be added the surplus $23,531,762, with which we begin the biennium. In this manner, the grand total anticipated net revenues for General Fund purposes, will be $170,506,925, which sum is in round figures about $3,000,000 in excess of the corresponding item set forth in the Executive Budget (page 131).

The announcement of this sum must not be accepted as encouragement to those of you who are interested in securing certain appropriations for institutions in your districts, or to those of you who are urging the enactment of measures the effect of which will be to reduce the revenues of the Commonwealth. The committee has put its proverbial "best foot forward" in placing the consideration and discussion of revenues in this report ahead of appropriation liabilities. Even with this greater amount of revenue, the committee deems it its duty to warn against "raiding the treasury." The greatest care and the profoundest judgment must be given to appropriation and revenue reducing legislation. This warning is given because in the study of the recommended appropriations in the Executive Budget (page 40) we find many items not there included, although the amounts thereof are actually required by mandate of law and are necessary to the ordinary operations of the State Government. These extra appropriation items are enumerated and explained as follows:

Department of Public Instruction—
For teachers' salary, teachers' retirement, transportation of pupils and consolidation of schools	$4,900,000
Department of Property and Supplies—
Under provisions of amended Administrative Code; organization of central purchasing department	1,000,000
Department of Revenue—
For organization and establishment (approximately)	1,500,000
State-aided Hospitals and State-owned Mental Institutions—
For normal expansion of operation, free bed services and temporary buildings	1,000,000
Board of Finance and Revenue	50,000
Department of Labor and Industry	24,000
Total	$8,474,000

And for less mandatory appropriations, yet none the less required for efficacious operations and expansion of the business of the Commonwealth, the following:

Executive Department—On account of normal increase due to ordinary expansions	$1,000,000
Additional hospital and other institutional deficiencies	300,000
Judiciary	728,000
Total	$2,028,000

The expenditure of these sums, it must be borne in mind, is almost entirely required by mandate of existing laws. To the total thereof—$10,502,000, must be added the sum of $166,666,302, which is the appropriation budget recommendation, including actual and estimated deficits, or a grand total of appropriations in the sum of $178,168,302.

Pausing here to take account of the situation thus far described, we find that against the total of estimated revenues available for General Fund appropriations, in the amount of $170,506,925, we shall have by mandatary laws, obligated the Commonwealth to the payment of $178,168,302. This indicates a deficit in the Treasury of the Commonwealth of $7,661,377.

Your committee believes that a normal increase in the revenues of the Commonwealth may be reasonably expected from all sources in the next biennium, but it is equally certain that such increase will not nearly equal the deficit just stated.

Anthracite coal tax measures pending in the Senate and House must also at this time have our consideration. According to the Executive Budget, the anticipated revenue from this source in the next biennium will be $12,500,000. If the coal tax law is repealed, at once, the Commonwealth will face an indicated deficit at the end of the next biennium of about $20,161,377. On the other hand, if the anthracite coal tax law is repealed under the Heaton bill, the loss of revenue to the Commonwealth from this source will be $6,250,000 in the next biennium, and the indicated deficit will then be $13,911,377.

The references in this report to pending revenue reducing measures are made impartially. The committee does not mean thereby to be considered favoring or opposing such legislation. This report is made for information only.

Your attention is further directed to the subject of additional financial aid required for capital expenditures by State-owned institutions. Although the Executive Budget allows for this item a very sizeable sum, it is strenuously urged by those interested in these institutions that the amount so allowed is much less than is actually required to place them in such a position as will do credit to the Commonwealth.

State-aided hospitals also deserve your notice. These institutions are justly entitled to greater financial assistance from the Commonwealth.

During every session of the Legislature the revenue receipts and the appropriation liabilities of the State are brought further apart through the enactment of laws, the final effect of which cannot be determined until a long time after their passage. In fact, the result of such legislation is often not felt or noticed until the close of the biennium or even later. In respect to such legislation, this session will be no different than others have heretofore been.

It becomes necessary, in the opinion of the Ways and Means Committee, to remind you again that you must not, in view of this report on the anticipated revenues and appropriation liabilities, place this administration in a position of embarrassment. This session of the Legislature must not be remembered by a deficit handed over by it to its successors.

Your committee believes that, in addition to the anticipated revenue hereinbefore considered, the Commonwealth might receive for General Fund purposes, beginning with the next biennium, the annual sum of $2,350,000, or in the biennium $4,700,000, from an entirely new source not considered or mentioned in the Executive Budget. This revenue might be expected to continue only so long as the Federal Estates Tax Act of 1926 remains unchanged. However, owing to usual delays in the appraisement and settlement of Federal Estate Taxes and the ability of the estates to pay the tax promptly (because the amount of the tax generally involves large sums), we are of the opinion that this estimated increase in revenue in the next biennium should be reduced to $3,000,000.

In fairness to the Chief Executive and his budget secretary, it must be here pointed out that this revenue could not have been included in the Executive Budget, since, at the time when it was prepared, the information relating thereto was neither in existence nor even remotely to be anticipated.

The revenue thus referred to may come to the Commonwealth from inheritance tax payments made under the provisions of and through the operation of the United States Revenue Act of 1926, and the Act of May 7, 1927, P. L. 359, supplementing the Inheritance Tax Act of 1919, P. L. 921. The constitutionality of the 1927 act remained in doubt until last Monday, when the Chief Justice of our Supreme Court, in a well-considered and profoundly reasoned opinion, upheld that act, in affirming the decision of the Orphans' Court of Philadelphia County, in the estate of Emma C. Knowles.

The Federal Government, by the Revenue Act of 1926, has declared it to be the national policy that the net value of all estates (in excess of $100,000, that amount being exempt; Section 303 (a) 4-44 Stat. 72 U. S. C. A. Tit. 26, Sec. 1095) shall, before distribution to the persons entitled thereto, be reduced by certain percentages, progressively levied as succession taxes, but it is willing that the several States should indirectly profit by this system; to that end, the Federal statute in effect provides that in all instances where the State imposes inheritance taxes, the Federal Government will allow to those paying such local inheritance taxes the amount thereof up to a sum equal to 80 per cent. of its own inheritance taxes, retaining the right to collect only so much of the Federal tax as may exceed the sum thus relinquished. This is a method of distributing to the several States moneys collectable by the National Government from their taxables, and the provision in question is not intended to either burden or benefit the taxpayer. Wherever the State does not see fit to take advantage of the situation thus created, the National Government will collect the entire 100 per cent. of its assessed Federal inheritance taxes. When this Federal Revenue Act with its extraordinary provisions which gives the States an opportunity to increase their own revenue, without cost to those who pay the taxes, by passing legislation pursuant to it, became effective, the Legislature of Pennsylvania, to avail the Commonwealth of the provision in question, supplemented the Inheritance Tax Act of June 20, 1919, P. L. 521, by the Act of May 7, 1927, P. L. 859. The constitutionality of the latter statute having thus been sustained, the Commonwealth may with reasonable certainty expect to receive revenues from this source.

Realizing the very great importance of this decision to the Commonwealth, your committee many weeks ago began a study of the records in the office of the Auditor General, relating to estates in which the Act of 1927 would be applicable. Careful computations were made of the revenue that the Commonwealth would have received from this source for a period of five years ending 1928, and from this result, an average annual return was ascertained.

Through the receipt of this revenue, the deficit first discussed will thus be reduced from $7,661,377 to $4,661,377. This figure does not, however ,include the added burden that will be imposed upon the Treasury through the enactment into law of the pending measures already mentioned. If these bills become law, the situation will be as follows:

Indicated deficit	$ 4,661,377
Loss of Revenue by repeal of anthracite coal tax act (Jones Bill)	12,500,000
Deficit	$17,161,377
Or if the coal tax act is repealed by the Heaton Bill, which will cause a loss of revenue of	6,250,000
The deficit will then be	$10,911,377

The anticipated revenue for the next biennium may be further increased by the provisions of the Act 1927 (supra) on account of inhertitance taxes which will be claimed by the State from the estates of Rodman Wanamaker and Philip S. Dupont.

There may become due the Commonwealth from these estates, in addition to the usual tax, the following sums: From the Wanamaker estate $6,510,000, and from the Dupont estate about $400,000, or a total of $6,910,000. Although the parties interested in the first mentioned estate may, because of the very great sum involved, resist the payment by litigation, it is believed that the Commonweath will ultimately be awarded the sum claimed. Delays in litigation may, however, postpone the date of payment beyond the close of the biennium under consideration. Assuming that the payment will be made during the next biennium, the deficit of $17,166,377 will be adjusted to $10,251,377; and the alternative deficit of $10,911,377 will be adjusted to $4,001,377.

Your committee believes itself obligated to state finally (notwithstanding the lengthy discussion of anticipated new revenue under Act of 1927 and Federal Estates Act) to point to you and the Chief Executive that this matter is still open and subject to further litigation, the result of which might ultimately deprive the Commonwealth of the revenue anticipated from this source.

Attached hereto are explanatory tables and summaries, as follows:

A—Estimated Revenue and Surplus available for appropriations.

B—Memorandum showing additional revenue that may be expected in Biennium 1929-31 from the 80 per cent. provision of Federal Estates Tax Act and Act of May 7, 1927 (P. L. 359).

C—Photostatic copies—records of Auditor General's Department used in making computation of anticipated additional revenue under Federal Estates Tax Act and Act of May 7, 1927 (P. L. 359).

D—Photostatic copies of the computations made in determining the amount of additional anticipated revenue under Federal Estates Tax Act and Act of May 7, 1927 (P. L. 359).

I would not be fair to my colleagues if I closed without stating to you that a very considerable part of the labor entailed in accumulating the data for and preparation of this report was faithfully contributed by my colleague, Mr. Wheeler, of Forest, and these men who served with him as a sub-committee of the Ways and Means Committee.

I move you, Mr. Speaker, that this report and the exhibits be accepted by the House and spread upon the Journal, and that a copy, provided for the purpose, be immediately transmitted to the Governor of the Commonwealth.

Respectfully submitted,

PHILIP STERLING,
Chairman Ways and Means Committee.

NOTES—All figures under the heading of revenues have been taken from the Governor's Budget, with the exception of the adjustment item of $15,223, which was furnished by the Budget Bureau, and the inheritance tax and anthracite coal tax corrections of $3,149,163 and $300,000, respectively. The inheritance tax figure has been revised upward because it is believed that revenues from this source will be at least as large in the biennium 1929-31 as in the present biennium. The amount added, plus the revenue estimated in the Budget for inheritance taxes, equals the total estimated revenue from inheritance taxes in the present biennium 1927-29. The reduction in the anthracite coal tax and interest is based on data furnished by the Auditor General's Department, which indicates that the full effect of the anthracite coal tax judgment was not allowed for in the Budget.

The items under the heading of appropriations are in no sense to be considered as final, but they represent the best estimates available at this time.

The indicated deficit of $20,161,377 (anthracite tax repealer), or $7,661,377 (anthracite tax not repealed) may be offset by additional revenue to be expected from the 80% provision of the Federal Estate Tax Law, to an estimated amount of $9,910,000, and from the normal growth in revenue contingent on the continued increase in the wealth of Pennsylvania. A 3 per cent. increase in the next biennium, which may be regarded as conservative, would mean additional revenue of $4,200,000, figured without the revenue from the anthracite coal tax.

MEMORANDUM SHOWING ADDITIONAL REVENUE THAT MAY BE EXPECTED IN BIENNIUM 1929-31 UNDER THE 80 PER CENT PROVISION OF THE FEDERAL ESTATE TAX LAW

A comprehensive and detailed investigation of all estates of $500,000 or over during the five-year period, 1924 to 1928, inclusive, has been made in order to determine what additional revenue may be expected during the biennium 1929-31, under the 80 per cent provision of the Federal Estate Tax Law, on the basis of past experience. The complete computations are set forth in separate tables but the summarized results are as follows:

Additional annual revenue from—
Allegheny County (4-year basis)	$508,419.59
Chester County (4-year basis)	18,701.37
Montgomery County 4-year basis)	360,530.46
All other counties (5-year basis)	1,465,493.77
Total (annual)	$2,353,145.19
Total for biennium	4,706,290.38

The above figures exclude the Rodman Wanamaker estate, which will yield approximately the following additional revenue:

Pennsylvania tax at 2% (on $52,000,000)	$1,040,000
Pennsylvania tax at 10% (on $2,100,000)	210,000
Total inheritances taxes payable in Pennsylvania	1,250,000
Federal estate tax on Wanamaker Estate	9,700,000
80% of Federal tax	7,760,000
Less taxes in Pennsylvania	1,250,000
Additional revenue on Wanamaker estate	6,510,000

If the above taxes on the Wanamaker estate are paid during the biennium 1929-31, as they should be, the total additional revenue to be expected during the biennium 1929-31 may be set down as follows:

Rodman Wanamaker Estate	$ 6,510,000
Philip S. Dupont Estate ($300,000 to $600,000 additional)—approximately	400,000
All other estates, approximately	4,700,000

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to convey to the House the information that in addition to your many accomplishments you have for twenty years rendered a most valuable service as the teacher of the Bible Class of St. Paul's Reformed Church in your home city of Lancaster, the membership of which is so largely represented in the House at this time. I request the privilege of the floor at this time to a member of your class, Mr. Martin M. Keener. It is now my pleasure to introduce Mr. Keener.

Mr. MARTIN M. KEENER. Mr. Speaker, I am speaking for the Men's Bible Class of St. Paul's Reformed Church, of Lancaster, when I say that we are glad indeed to visit with you this evening, while you are engaged in your official capacity as Speaker of the House. Having been the able teacher of our class for so many years, it was the consensus of opinion that we bring some token as a mark of appreciation for you. We concluded that it would be a strange coincidence if it were your birthday—we did not know whether it was or not—we didn't even know how old you were on your last birthday, and knowing that most young people dislike very much to divulge their age we didn't dare to ask, and so we took a guess at 57. I have the honor in behalf of the class, in consideration of your able services rendered as our teacher for so many years, to present these 57 carnations to you. It is our hope that in due course it will be our privilege to present you with at least a hundred.

The SPEAKER. Mr. Keener, President of the Class, membersof Ct. Paul's Bible Class, members of the House and Guests, it is indeed very gratifying to accept this gift at your hands. You guessed the right number of years. I hope the class over which I have the honor to preside in the capacity of teacher may continue to do the splendid work it has been doing for many years in the future. From the bottom of my heart I thank you.

RESOLUTION.

COMMITTEE ON JUDICIARY GENERAL TO INQUIRE INTO CONDUCT OF HON. HENRY A. FULLER.

Mr. HUESTER (by request) offered the following resolution, which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

Whereas, It appears from certain allegations filed with Honorable Aaron B. Hess, Speaker of the House of Representatives, by William P. Boland, of Scranton, Pa., that the official conduct of Honorable Henry A. Fuller, retired President Judge of the courts of the Eleventh Judicial District, embracing the county of Luzerne, is such as to warrant the investigation of the same by the House of Representatives, and

Whereas, In the allegations referred to the said Honorable Henry A. Fuller, while President Judge in the Eleventh Judicial District, did issue a court order directing the destruction of the stenographic notes of evidence in a case involving valuable property and a large amount of money and in which case he was formerly an attorney to the great prejudice and irreparable damage of the cause of the same William P. Boland in the said courts of the Eleventh Judicial District, and

Whereas, The said Honorable Henry A. Fuller while acting as President Judge in the said Eleventh Judicial District did take from the office of the prothonotary of Luzerne county the files of said case in which he was previously acting as attorney and refuses to restore the same or permit any restoration of the recorded evidence and facts on said case to the further prejudices of the interest and right of the said litigant, William P. Boland, and

Whereas, The said Honorable Henry A. Fuller while President Judge of the aforesaid courts did wilfully seek to exclude for a long term of years the said litigant from the rights and privileges conferred on him by law in the rightful trial and adjudication of the said action in law and did continue to act in his general official conduct as the attorney for interests opposed to the litigant in question while a member of the court and as president judge, and

Whereas, The said Honorable Henry A. Fuller is now acting as auxiliary judge in the pay and service of the Commonwealth in said courts and the witnesses in said action, which was wilfully allowed to remain unadjudicated in said court for a period of twenty-seven years, are dead leaving the said William P. Boland without the necessary measure of relief in said court, and compelling him to have recourse to the official offices of the House of Representatives.

Be It Resolved, That, the Committee on Judiciary General be and is hereby authorized and directed to inquire into and concerning the official conduct of the said Honorable Henry A. Fuller, retired President Judge and now acting auxiliary judge of the courts of the Eleventh Judicial District of Pennsylvania, embracing the county of Luzerne, and ascertain whether or not the said judge, now auxiliary judge in said district, has been guilty of any impeachable offense and report the same to the House with the conclusions of the committee in respect thereto and with appropriate recommendations.

Resolved Further, That the Committee on Judiciary General is hereby authorized and empowered to send for persons and papers to subpoena witnesses, to administer oaths to said witnesses, to take testimony, to employ a clerk, stenographer or stenographers, agents, investigators and attorneys, if necessary and to appoint a sub-committee from among their number by appointment of the chairman thereof whenever it may be necessary or expedient to take testimony for the use of the said committee. And the said sub-committee while so employed shall have the same powers in respect to obtaining testimony as are herein given to said Committee on the Judiciary General with a sergeant-at-arms by himself or deputy who shall serve the process of said committee and subcommittee and execute its orders and shall attend the sittings of the same as ordered and directed thereby and the Speaker of the House shall have authority to sign and the clerk to attest subpoenas for any witness or witnesses and the expense of this investigation shall be paid out of the contingent fund of the House.

RESOLUTION.

DIRECTING SECRETARY OF THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH TO STUDY ISOLATION OF CANCER GERM.

Mr. HEFFERNAN offered the following resolution which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, March 25th, 1929.

Whereas, In his message to the General Assembly at the opening of the present Session, His Excellency, the Governor, stated that during the past two years, every form of disease had shown a falling off with the exceptions of cancer and diabetes, and

Whereas, He suggested that some provision should be made for exhaustive laboratory research work to alleviate the ravages of these diseases, and

Whereas, Scientists have for years been pursuing the cancer germ and have so far failed in their efforts to isolate it, and

Whereas, Some effort should be made to put back of this so far unsuccessful task, the power of the Commonwealth and the scientific ability and knowledge of those connected with the Department of Health, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, shall be requested to direct the Secretary of the Department of Health to make a study of the efforts now being made to isolate the cancer germ, and to check the ravages of the disease, and be it further

Resoveld, That the said Secretary of the Department of Health shall be requested to make a report of the results of such study to the Governor for the next Session of the Legislature, and make such recommendations as to the policy the Commonwealth should adopt to assist in preventing the further spread of the disease, as he may deem advisable.

RESOLUTION.

HONORING ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF DEATH OF BRIGADIER GENERAL CASIMIR PULASKI.

Mr. MUSMANNO offered the following resolution, which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, April 1, 1929.

Whereas, On October eleventh, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, will occur the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the death of Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski, Revolutionary War Hero; and

Whereas, The service rendered by him was of great value and assistance to the cause of American independence and of such high importance that on September fifteenth, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven, he was appointed Brigadier General of the Continental Army and Chief of Dragons, and on March twenty-eight, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-eight was designated commander of an independent corps known as Pulaski's Legion; and

Whereas, He died on October eleventh, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-nine, of wounds received on October ninth, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-nine, at the siege of Savannah, Georgia; and

Whereas, It is but fitting that proper recognition should be given to the memory of Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski whose illustrious service in the war for American independence is well known to all who are familiar with our history; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the Governor of the Commonwealth is hereby authorized to issue a proclamation calling upon State officials to display the United States flag on the State building, and the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to display the flag at their homes or other suitable places, on October eleven, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, in honor of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the death of Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski, Revolutionary War Hero, and

That October eleventh, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine shall be designated and known as General Pulaski's Memorial Day and that the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is urged to request its observance as provided in this resolution, and be it further

Resolved, That there is hereby established a commission to be known as the Pennsylvania Pulaski Susquicentennial Commission (hereinafter referred to as the commission), and to be composed of eight commissioners as follows: Four persons to be appointed by the Governor, two Senators, by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and two Representatives by the Speaker of the House of Representativs, of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The Commissioners shall serve without compensation.

That the Commission is authorized to arrange an appropriate observance and commemoration to take place in the month of October, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the death of Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski, and to participate on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in such manner as it deems advisable, in any other observance or celebration of such anniversary which may be held in the Commonwealth of Pensylvania during the year of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine.

That the members of the Commission appointed shall be persons of high standing and character, having known interest in suitably observing and commemorating the events connected with the death of Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski. Revolutionary War Hero, and shall select a chairman from among its members.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker. I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Ederer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDERER. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DAVIS. Will you refer to your file on page 5207, line 25, the beginning of line 26, the bill was amended as you will notice allowing a supersedeas by special order of court. Then referring to the top of the next page where it says "but the rulings of the board shall be in effect until the final decision of the court." Now in view of the short time we have would it be agreeable to you to have line one to line four stricken out thereby clarifying the situation? As it stands now we have one part saying a supersedeas can be allowed and another part saying it cannot be allowed.

Mr. EDERER. I am satisfied to agree to this amendment in the Senate.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, then the bill is agreeable to me.

Mr. HOLMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House. I was hopeful this Legislature might not pass any game legislation this year. I am sure that there has been a great error made by the Game Commission during the last year, and I made the statement from the floor fo this House two years ago that it was impossible to enforce the game laws of the State without the co-operation and sympathy of the sportsmen of the State. The game laws of the State of Pennsylvania are enforced by public sentiment. The game warden looks after the exceptions. We have during the last year found a great deal of criticism relative to the open doe season and other open seasons which have been created by the Game Commission. It is very hard to tell, and it will be years before the people of Pennsylvania will properly realize what has been done. I took with me from the floor of this House two years ago many members and showed them the great abundance of deer in the rural sections. This year I have had men with me, and not even a track, not a deer to be found. If any one will go out into the forest on a bright day and follow the paths of the buzzards he will find what has really been done or taken place. Instead of having true sportsmen going to the forest as they should do, they went out and destroyed anything that moved, including does and bucks as well. Up in our county it was not safe to be in the forest. One old man and woman riding in a buggy had their horse shot down in the buggy. Men don't use any precaution. Why? Because they felt that the Game Commission had exceeded their authority and made a mistake. Now we started out with this bill—if you are going to pass this bill you might say the Legislature has delegated to the Game Commission entire authority to enforce it. The bill provides that on information received by a member of the Board or one Commissioner, then if you are not satisfied the people of the State, they say twenty-five of them must sign a petition and must come to Harrisburg in order to get redress, and if you want to hold that meeting in some other portion of the State they also provide that the sportsmen must pay the expense. So I think this would be unwise legislation for us at this time. What we want to do as sportsmen and what the Game Commission wants to do is to try to get the sympathy and co-operation of the people of the State in order that we may protect the game which we now have.

Mr. EDERER. The gentleman who just spoke against the bill—I don't know his name or county—didn't read the amendments thereto. The bill now provides a hearing shall be given in any county in which the petitioner shall request a hearing. This bill has been amended to meet the approval of the majority of the members of the House.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1086, as follows:

An Act to amend section one thousand two hundred and five of article twelve of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That sections one thousand two hundred and five and one thousand two hundred and five A of article twelve of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provision by which it shall be adminstered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1205 In school districts of the second third and fourth class all contracts with teachers shall be in writing in duplicate and shall be executed on behalf of the board of school directors by the president and secretary and signed by the teacher

After the thirtieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine each board of school directors or board of public education in this Commonwealth shall enter into contract in writing with all teachers supervisors supervising principals and principals employed by them and said contract shall contain the following

IT IS AGREED BY and between .... Teacher and the Board of Directors of the school district of .... Pennsylvania that said teacher shall under the authority of the said Board and its successors and subject to the supervision and authority of the properly authorized superintendent of schools teach in the said school district for a term of..........months for an annual compensation of $.......... payable monthly or semi-monthly during the school term less the contribution required by law to be paid to the Teachers' Retirement Fund

This contract is subject to the provisions of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" and the amendments thereto and to such regulations as the Board of School Directors of this district may impose consistent with the said act

And it is further agreed by the parties hereto that this contract shall continue in force year after year with the right of the Board of Education or the Board of School Directors to increase the compensation over the compensation herein stated from time to time as may be provided under the provisions and proper operation of the established salary schedule if any for the school district or to change said salary subject to the provisions of law without invalidating any other provision of this contract unless terminated by the teacher at the close of the school term by written resignation presented not less than thirty days prior to the close of said school term or by the Board of School Directors by official written notice presented to the teacher not less than thirty days prior to the close of the school term

Section 2 That section one thousand two hundred and five A of said act as amended by the act approved the fifth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws ninety-two) entitled "An act to amend an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled 'An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith' as amended" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1205—A The salary of any teacher principal supervisor district superintendent or assistant district superintendent in any of the school districts of the Commonwealth may be increased at any time during the term for which such person is employed whenever the board of school directors of the district deems it necessary or advisable to do so [Whenever such increase is determined upon by the action of the school board by mutual consent of the parties the contract existing between them may be cancelled Thereupon a new contract shall be entered into between the parties The new contract shall contain no changes from the original contract except in the matter of salary unless expressly agreed upon between the contracting parties

Any increases of salary heretofore granted and paid by any school board during the school year shall be as valid and binding upon the school district as if made after the passage of this act notwithstanding that the original contract was not cancelled or a new contract entered into]

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 511, (Senate Bill No. 53), as follows:

An Act to amend section five of article three and section seventeen of article four of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred fifty-six) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal-mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section five of article three of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred fifty-six) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal-mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith" further regulating barrier pillars on certain property lines and providing procedure for the settlement of disputes is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 5 The superintendent shall not permit the mining of coal within fifty feet of any abandoned mine or an abandoned portion of any mine containing a dangerous accumulation of water until said danger has been removed by driving a passageway to trap and drain off said water as provided for in this act [Provided That the thickness of the barrier pillars shall be greater and shall be in proportion of one foot of pillar thickness to each one and one-quarter feet of water head if in the judgment of the engineer of the property and that of the district inspector it is necessary for the safety of the persons working in the mine] The superintendent shall not permit the mining of coal in any seam the entire distance to a property boundary line (not including boundaries around reservations or along crop lines) when on the adjoining property there are mine workings in said seam within three thousand feet of said boundary line but shall leave a barrier pillar from the operation to the property boundary line of not less than ten feet plus two feet for every foot or part of a foot of thickness of the bed measured from the roof to the floor plus five feet for each one hundred feet or part of one hundred feet of cover over the bed at the boundary line and where the coal on one side of the property boundary line shall have been mined prior to the passage of this act closer to the property boundary line than hereinbefore permitted then the barrier pillar to be left in the mine approaching the boundary line shall be at least equal (when added to that already left in the adjoining mine) to that hereinbefore required on both sides of said property boundary line Provided That if in the opinion of the district mine inspector or the superintendent of either mining property the barrier pillar as hereinbefore required is deemed insufficient then after due notice to the operator or operators of the mining property adjoining a barrier pillar of unmined coal (one-half of which shall be on each side of the property boundary line except as provided above in this section) shall be left of such thickness as in the judgment of the district mine inspector and the superintendent or owner of either mining property is deemed necessary to afford safety and protection and provided further that if it shall be agreed by the superintendents of such adjoining coal mining properties that such property boundary line is so located that there is no danger to property or lives in mining coal on either or both sides of the property boundary line up to said property boundary line then in such cases mining to the property boundary line shall be lawful if all danger from accumulated water and gas shall have first been removed by driving a passage way to tap and drain off any accumulations of water and gas as provided for in this act Provided That if any of the parties in interest fail to agree on the carrying out of any of the provisions of this act any one of said parties may appeal to the Secretary of Mines who shall appoint three reputable and competent mining engineers who shall constitute a commission whose duty it shall be to investigate the conditions and determine the necessity for leaving barrier pillars or a barrier pillar of greater thickness than is provided for in this act or the adequacy of an existing pillar to withstand a water head as the case may be and the decision of said commission or a majority of its members shall be final and conclusive and binding on all parties concerned The members of the said commission shall be compensated for their services by the property owners in an amount to be fixed by the Secretary of Mines Before any such appeal to the Secretary of Mines is taken notice thereof in writing shall be served personally or by registered mail on the opposite party setting forth the date when such appeal will be taken and proof of the service of such notice shall be filed with the appeal

Section 2 That section seventeen of article four of said act is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 17 In any working place that is being driven within supposedly dangerous proximity to an abandoned mine or portion of an abandoned mine suspected of containing explosive gas or that may contain a dangerous accumulation of water the mine foreman shall see that at least two bore holes shall be maintained not less than [twelve] twenty feet in advance of the face and on each side of such working place bore holes of the same depth shall be drilled diagonally not more than eight feet apart and any place driven to tap water or gas shall not be more than ten feet wide No water or gas from an abandoned mine or portions of an abandoned mine and no bore hole from the surface shall be tapped until the employes except those engaged at such work are out of the mine and such work shall be done under the immediate instruction and direction of the mine foreman with the use of locked safety lamps

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARTON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill inflicts a penalty upon an official for carrying out the duties, or the provisions of a search warrant. I would like to call the attention of the House to the fact that it might have a tendency to break down the morale on some of the things we are interested in in the State.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 1685, Senate Bill No. 563, file folio 2123, on page 43 of to-day's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Wilson.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1685, (Senate Bill No. 563), entitled:

> An Act to amend section two hundred and five; sections five hundred and six, five hundred and eight, five hundred and forty-three, and one thousand four hundred and six as amended; sections one thousand four hundred and thirty-two, one thousand six hundred and fourteen, and one thousand eight hundred and one; and sections two thousand six hundred and twenty-two and two thousand six hundred and twenty-six as amended of the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, when this bill was upon the calendar for final passage last Wednesday, my colleague, Mr. T. J. Brown, arose in his place and asked if any one would explain the bill. The bill was then placed by motion of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stadtlander, on the postponed calendar. Since that time I have gone over the matter with Mr. Brown and he is satisfied. The bill is part of the administrative code and comes from the administration and there is no dynamite in it. The bill came to the House with the approval of the Committee on Education in the Senate and it has passed the Senate.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed without amendment.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mrs. KIRKBRIDE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 1224, file folio 4711, on page 43 of to-day's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on the final passage of House Bill No. 1224, entitled:

An Act relating to marriage and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Kirkbride.

The SPEAKER. Will the lady from Montgomery, Mrs. Kirkbride, permit herself to be interrogated?

Mrs. KIRKBRIDE. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Allegheny is agreeable, I would like to refer him to Mr. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. Is that satisfactory to the gentleman from Allegheny?

Mr. STEEDLE. Absolutely, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Wilson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILSON. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STEEDLE. If I understand the true purpose of this bill it is that when you apply for a marriage license such license will only be granted two days after the application. Is that correct?

Mr. WILSON. The marriage cannot take place until two days after the application for the marriage license.

Mr. STEEDLE. I should like to ask the gentleman from McKean, what the purpose of this act is.

Mr. WILSON. I would answer the gentleman from Allegheny that the purpose of the act is to codify the marriage laws. The purpose of the particular provision to which the gentleman from Allegheny has referred is simply this: The bill, when it first came to the House came with a provision that the marriage could not take place until five days after the application for the marriage license. When it came before the Committee on Judiciary General the bill was referred to a sub-committee consisting of Mr. Rhodes, Mr. Mathay and myself. We went over the bill very thoroughly, both with the Department of Health and Mr. Fertig. The provision as it is now in the bill for a two-day period is solely and only for the purpose of providing some period of hesitation between the time the marriage license issues and the time when the marriage takes place. The time is not so important. We simply tried to provide that if two people should go out in the middle of the night and they might then get a marriage license, we tried to provide some period between the issuance of that marriage license and the time when they should be married. There is also a provision which comes in on people who are intoxicated, but the only purpose of that two-day period is to allow some period between the time of the issuance of the license and the time the marriage shall take place. In addition to that, may I say to the gentleman from Allegheny the only other important provision is that marriage by first cousins, or the prohibition of marriage by first cousins has been eliminated. The medical fraternity, so far as our information is concerned, told us that prohibition is no longer necessary.

Mr. STEEDLE. If the court would issue an order to marry how long would they have to wait then?

Mr. WILSON. There is a provision in the act, answering the gentleman from Allegheny, wherever there is any reason for an immediate marriage, the Judge of the Orphans' Court has power to grant the permission for an immediate marriage and in the absence of the Judge the Clerk of the Court has the authority to grant such permission when there are any circumstances that justify it. There is no trouble about providing for an immediate marriage where there is a reason for it. The machinery is in the bill where a marriage can take place immediately if there is any reason to justify it.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker and Ladies and Gentlemen of the House, I am vitally interested in this matter and I don't know any other member of the House beside myself who has as much right to interrogate as to the provisions of this bill for the reason that we may arrive at a day of expectancy of marriage. For fear there may be some little minor defects in getting this marriage license, in case we should suffer from some intoxication, whether that might be auto or love intoxication, I thought it might be well for a single man to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

I should like to ask the gentleman further, what would happen in the case of a so-called death-bed marriage; how would that be affected?

Mr. WILSON. When you go in and get a certificate and ask for a license for an immediate marriage, it would be granted.

Mr. STEEDLE. It would be pretty tough for a fellow laying on his death bed to have to go into court.

Mr. WILSON. Answering the gentleman from Allegheny, there is no difficulty about securing a permit for an immediate marriage either from the Clerk or from the Court.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Wilson.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILSON. I will be very glad to, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Does this bill permit first cousins to marry?

Mr. WILSON. It does.

Mr. SOWERS. Has it not always been the policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to prohibit the marriage of first cousins?

Mr. WILSON. Answering that, it has not always been the policy of this State. Quite a number of sessions ago the legislature prohibited the marriage of first cousins. The Department of Health advises the committee that the medical fraternity do not now think the marriage of first cousins is inimical. Further than that, they can go across the line into any State of the Union and can there be married and the marriage is not only legal in that state but when they come back into this State it is legal in Pennsylvania. You therefore have two people, married in the State of Pennsylvania, legally husband and wife, and who are yet subjected to a certain amount of criticism in the community in which they live because they were obliged to go into another state to be married. They can come back into Pennsylvania and their marriage is legal and must be recognized by the courts; so it does not mean anything at all, because they go and get married anyway and then come back here and raise families and the only thing is that they are subject to a certain amount criticism about that for having been first cousins.

Section 404 Violations In the event of failure to obtain a permit or in any case where final decision of an inspector or of the Chief or of an examining commission is rendered such decision or order or certificate indicating that no permit has been issued or that violations have occurred after issuance of permit may be at once certified to any court of Common Pleas The court shall upon application of such bill of complaint duly verified by affidavit of the Director of Public Safety the Chief any inspector or any member of an examining commission issue a mandatory injunction requiring compliance with such order or decision within five days or within a shorter time if the relief sought is the removal of a dangerous wall ceiling chimney or other structure or unsafe portion thereof Should the court deem proper to fix a shorter time then all petitions bills or complaints to compel compliance with the provisions of this code shall be given priority over other business or cases by any Court of Common Pleas to which the final decision of an inspector the Chief or an examining commission appointed by the Director of Public Safety shall be certified If said injunction is not complied with within the time specified by the court or if it cannot for any reason be served the court shall have power to enforce its order by attachments or to issue an order to any sheriff commanding him to remove the wall building or structure condemned by the building inspectors (either as contrary to the provisions of this code or as dangerous) under the supervision of the Bureau or such inspector as the Chief may designate The sheriff shall have power to employ such competent builders riggers and workmen as shall be necessary to carry out the order of the court He shall certify to the court when he has performed the work required to be done and the costs incurred and such bill being approved by the court and not being paid by the owner of the premises the court shall have the power by mandamus execution to compel the City to pay such costs The court shall upon the issuing of such mandamus execution direct the Prothonotary of the court to enter the amount thereof as a lien against the premises on which the order was enforced and the costs were incurred and the City paying such costs may thereafter proceed in the case wherein the order was made to collect such bill of costs and the proper docketed costs thereon by the same process and proceedings and under the same restrictions as are provided for or required by law for the collection of claims for the removal of nuisances in said cities and said lien shall not be discharged by any judicial sale until paid and the said City paying such costs may also by action of assumpsit recover the same from the owner or owners of the said premises

Section 405 was read as follows:

Section 405 Penalties Any person or persons firm corporation or other legal entity whether owner architect builder contractor or workman who shall make or cause to be made any alteration construction or removal of any building or structure whatsoever without permit therefor first issued or in violation of any of the provisions of this code or who shall have become the owner thereof after the same has been so done and who shall omit neglect or refuse to remove the same if dangerous or in violation of this code or to make the same safe and secure and in all respects conform to the requirements of this code within one week after notice to that effect shall forfeit and pay for each offence the sum of one hundred ($100) dollars and the further sum of fifty ($50) dollars for every period of one week for which the said person or persons shall omit neglect or refuse to remove the same or make it comply with this code after the expiration of the notice aforesaid and any person or persons firm or corporation or other legal entity who shall contract for the erection or construction of any building addition alteration or other thing in violation of any of the provisions of this code shall be subject to the same penalties as aforesaid All of the aforesaid penalties to be recovered as penalties of equal amount are or shall be recoverable in the name and for the use of the city and when collected shall be paid into the treasury thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 14, Section 405, line 18, strike out the word "prvisions" and substitute in lieu thereof: provisions

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 406 to 409, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 406 Board of Appeals The Chief the engineers and all the inspectors shall constitute the Board of Appeals The decision of a majority of the members shall constitute the decision of the board The board shall hear all appeals as hereinafter provided for and after hearing shall render such decision or issue such orders as to them may seem proper

Section 407 Appeals (a) Any applicant for a permit from the Bureau whose application has been refused or any person who has been ordered by an inspector to incur any expense may appeal by giving notice in writing of such appeal If the appeal shall be from an order refusing a permit it shall be taken within fifteen days from the refusal of such permit If the appeal is from an order to take down and remove a dangerous building or structure or a dangerous wall or walls it shall be taken within three days from the issuing of such order

(b) Any person the value of whose property may be affected by work done or to be done under any permit granted by the Bureau may within three days after the commencement of the work appeal by giving notice in writing that he does so appeal

(c) In computing the time within which an appeal may be taken if the last day fall on Sunday or on a legal holiday the appeal shall be taken on the succeeding day Notice of appeal may be given either by leaving such notice in writing with the Chief or the Chief Clerk at the office of the Bureau or it may be mailed addressed to the Bureau If mailed the date of the postmark shall be taken as the date of the appeal

Section 408 Further Appeal to Examining Commission Should any party aggrieved object to the decision of the Board of Appeals he may further appeal in writing to the Director of the Department of Public Safety within three days of the decision of the Board of Appeals specifying in such appeal the reasons and ground therefor and accompanying the same by the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars

($150) The Director of the Department of Public Safety shall thereupon appoint an examining commission to consist of three experts who shall be either practical builders engineers or architects one of whom shall be named by the Chief one by the party taking the appeal and the third by the first two who shall within such time as the director shall specify carefully consider the said appeal and make decision thereon The decision of any two shall be the decision of the commission They shall be paid for their services fifty dollars ($50) out of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and fifty (150) dollars

Section 409 Finality of Decisions (a) The decision of a building inspector or of the Board of Appeals unappealed from shall be final and conclusive in any subsequent proceeding on the matter in question in court or otherwise

(b) The decision of an examining commission in case of appeal to such commission shall be final and conclusive when certified to the building inspectors provided however that no commission named in accordance with this code shall have any power or authority to set aside or nullify or alter any of the provisions herein or order or require any permit to be issued for a building to be constructed otherwise than is herein required

Section 500 was read as follows:

PART II

CHAPTER 5

Section 500 Unless otherwise stated the following words or terms when used in this code shall be construed to have the meaning herein given Words used in the singular include the plural words used in the present tense include the future words used in the masculine gender include the feminine /or the neuter gender and vice-versa the word "person" includes a corporation as well as an individual "writing" includes printing and printed or typewritten matter "oath" includes affirmation "signature" or "subscription" includes "mark" when a person who cannot write his nme makes his mark near his name at the time it is written by another person

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 17, Section 500, line 4, after the title "PART II" insert the title "DEFINITIONS"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 501 to 529, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 501 Adjoining Owner The owner authorized agent or trustee of any premises adjoining those under consideration

Section 502 Addition Any change to a structure which increases any of its exterior dimensions

Section 503 Alteration Any change to a structure which does not increase any of its exterior dimensions

Section 504 Apartment A room or suite of two or more rooms which is or are occupied as a home for one or more persons

Section 505 Apartment house Any building or portion thereof containing three or more apartments For the purpose of this code an apartment house is a tenement

Section 506 Approval The acceptance and sanction by the Bureau expressed in writing of any plan permit application device building material or type of construction

Section 507 Approval in part (a) The acceptance and sanction by the Bureau expressed in writing of any plan or permit application for a portion of a proposed alteration addition or new building pending approval of plans for the complete project

(b) The acceptance by the Bureau expressed in writing of new materials or types of construction but restricting or limiting their use

Section 508 Areaway Any sub-surface space adjacent to a building for lighting or ventilating cellars or basements or for other purposes

Section 509 Attic That part of a building wholly or partly within the roof framing unfinished not inhabited nor used for sleeping purposes

Section 510 Basement A story or portion thereof partly but not more than one-half below the average grade of the ground surrounding the building as shown on the drawings upon which the permit was granted and counted as a story in determining the height of the building

Section 511 Bay That space within a building between two adjacent rows of columns or between a row of columns and a bearing wall

Section 512 Bay window Any window extending beyond the wall of a building

Section 513 Building Anything erected by art and fixed upon or in the soil composed of different pieces connected together and designed for use in the position in which so fixed

Section 514 Building line A line beyond which property owners or others have no legal or vested right to extend a building or any part thereof without provision therefor in this code or without special permission and approval of the proper authorities ordinarily a line of demarcation between public and private property

Section 515 Building owner The owner authorized agent or trustee of the building or premises under consideration

Section 516 Bureau The Bureau of Building Inspection

Section 517 Cellar A story or portion thereof more than one-half below the average grade of the ground surrounding the building as shown on the drawings upon which the permit was granted and not counted as a story in determining the height of the building

Section 518 Chief The Chief of the Bureau of Building Inspection

Section 519 Court An open unoccupied space other than a yard on the same lot with a building

Section 520 Dimensional figures Nominal sizes or dimensions obtainable as acceptable commercial standards

Section 521 Dwelling Any house or building not a lodging house tenement rooming-house or inn all or any part of which is occupied as the home or residence of a family or of two families living independently of each other

Section 522 Fire door A door designed and constructed to successfully resist a fire in accordance with test specifications as prescribed by the Chief

Section 523 Fire Window A window frame with sash and glazing in which no single pane shall exceed seven hundred twenty square inches and which will successfully resist a fire for one hour in accordance with test specification as prescribed by the Chief

Section 524 Floor area The number of square feet of floor space enclosed within the exterior walls of a building exclusive of elevator shafts ducts stairways fire towers columns or such other parts of a building as cannot be used by the occupancy for which the building is intended

Section 525 Floor system A system of construction which carries the load for which it has been designed to the bearing walls or the beams girders and/or columns in skeleton construction used also to mean a similar type of construction in a roof

Section 526 Footing The spreading course at the base or bottom of a foundation wall pier or column

Section 527 Garage A public garage shall mean any place where space is rented for the storage of more than two automobiles or motor-driven vehicles

A private garage shall mean any place other than a public garage where motor-driven vehicles are stored

Section 528 Grade The surface of the ground court lawn or sidewalks adjoining a building

The "established grade" is the level of the street curb as fixed by the municipality

Section 529 Height of building (a) The vertical distance of the highest point of the roof in the case of flat roofs and for high-pitched roofs the average of the height of the gable about the mean grade of the curbs of all the streets or the mean grade of the natural ground adjoining the building if the said grade or ground is not below the grade of the curb
(b) The number of stories in a building including the basement but not including the cellar

Section 530 was read as follows:

Section 530 Length of building The greatest horizontal dimension

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 21, Section 530, line 10, strike out the word "Greatest" and substitute in lieu thereof: greatest

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 531 to 534, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 531 Living room A living room is any room not a water closet bathroom or a room used solely for storage or closet purposes and which is used in whole or in part for any household purpose
Section 532 Load (a) Dead load The weight of the walls permanent partitions framing floors roofs and all other permanent stationary construction forming a part of the building
(b) Live load The load or loads other than the dead load but including the weight of movable partitions for which a building is designed
Section 533 Mezzanine An intermediate floor placed in any story or room and which does not exceed one-third of the total floor area in said story or room
Section 534 Occupancy The purpose for which a building is used or intended to be used

Section 535 was read as follows:

Section 535 Pent house Any structure erected on the roof of a building for the purpose of enclosing stairways to the roof elevator machinery water tanks ventilating apparatus exhaust chambers or other building equipment machinery
Section 536 Repair The renewal or reconstruction of any part of an existing building for the purpose of its maintenance or restoration

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 22, Section 535, line 2, strike out the word "vhambers" and substitute in lieu thereof: chambers

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 536 to 600, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 536 Repair The renewal or reconstruction of any part of an existing building for the purpose of its maintenance or restoration
Section 537 Rigid connection A connection not depending on friction nor built up without additional material and of sufficient strength to hold the members without unsafe distortion while the member is tested to twice its rated carrying capacity
Section 538 Shall A mandatory word
Section 539 Sprinkler system An installation for the purpose of extinguishing fires by means of water or other acceptable extinguishing agent expelled through automatically operated spray heads
Section 540 Story (a) That portion of any building included between the upper surface of any floor and the upper surface of the floor next above
(b) A "half story" is that part of any building wholly or partly within the roof framing finished and inhabited
Section 541 Tenement Any house or building which or a portion of which is occupied as a residence by three or more families living independently of each other and doing their cooking on the premises and having a common right in the halls stairways yard cellar or water-closets thereof or some of them
Section 542 Tower fire escape A stair tower enclosed in walls of solid masonry having fire doors and fire windows and reached by means of an outside balcony or vestibule facing on a street alley or court leading to a street or alley

Section 543 Walls (a) Bearing A wall which supports any vertical load other than its own weight

(b) Curtain A non-bearing wall between columns and/or piers and which is not supported by girders or beams

(c) Exterior Any outside wall which serves as a vertical enclosure of a building including a party wall when not used in common

(d) Faced A wall in which the masonry facing and backing are so bonded as to exert common action under load

(e) Fire A wall of solid masonry or reinforced concrete which sub-divides a building to restrict the spread of fire and which starts at the foundations and extends continuously through all stories to and above the roof

(f) Fire Division A wall of solid masonry or reinforced concrete which sub-divides a building to restrict the spread of fire but is not necessarily continuous through all stories nor extended through the roof

(g) Interior A wall entirely within the space enclosed by the exterior walls of a building

(h) Non-bearing A wall which supports no load other than its own weight

(i) Parapet A masonry wall extending above the roof line

(j) Partition An interior non-bearing wall wholly supported at each story

(k) Party A wall which or portion of which encroaches upon ground of an adjoining owner and is used jointly or adapted to joint use

(l) Proscenium A fire-division wall between a stage and an auditorium

(m) Retaining A wall used to resist the lateral thrust of any material

(n) Spandrel An exterior non-bearing wall in skeleton construction built between columns or piers and wholly supported at each story

(o) Veneered A wall having a masonry facing which is not attached and bonded to the backing so as to form an integral part of the wall for purposes of load bearing and stability

Section 544 Width (a) The width of a building shall be considered as the distance between the outside faces of the exterior columns in the direction of the shortest axis

(b) In wall bearing construction the width shall be determined by the centers of the party walls or the outside of exterior walls

Section 545 Yard An open unoccupied space on the same lot with a tenement rooming-house or dwelling and which space extends in the [illegible] width or depth between opposite lot line

PART III ENGINEERING STANDARDS

CHAPTER 6 General Requirements

Section 600 Methods of design The unit stresses specified in this code shall not be exceeded The dimensions of each piece or combination of pieces of materials required in a building or structure shall be ascertained by computation according to the rules prescribed by modern standard authorities on the strength of materials applied mechanics and engineering practice

Materials Any materials to be acceptable under this code together with their test requirements if the above are not specifically given in the code shall conform to standards promulgated by the Chief which standards shall be in accordance with generally accepted standards established by authorities of national requte Such standards when promulgated by the Chief shall be public records

Unit stresses for materials which are not given in this code shall be ascertained by the means hereinafter called for

Section 601 Filing of computations Plans for all buildings of the first second and intermediate classes of construction shall be accompanied by computations which shall set forth in detail the design of all typical structural features and details all columns loadings complete wind calculations

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 25, Section 601, line 25, insert the word "and" after the word "loadings"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 602 to 701, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 602 Soil conditions This information may be derived from a record of the soil conditions existing at other operations which in the opinion of the Chief are near enough to warrant such records being used When such information is not available test borings will be made as directed by the Chief Each boring shall be carried down at least six (6) feet below the deepest foundation or footing botom

Section 603 Use of old materials Nothing in this code shall prevent the use of old materials provided they meet the requirements of this Code

Section 604 Temporary construction Every temporary support or construction used during the erection or alteration of any building shall be of sufficient strength to carry safely the load to be placed thereon in conformity with this code When the Chief shall require it plans and computations covering such construction shall be filed in the manner specified for original plans

Section 605 Injury during construction No cutting for piping or any other purpose shall be done which reduces the strength of any part of the structure below that which is required by this code

Section 606 Revision of floor loading Should tests or inspections of the materials or systems of construction entering into a building reveal that such materials or systems of construction are incapable of sustaining the loads for which they were designed but are otherwise safe for lesser loads the Chief in the event that such materials or systems of construction are not removed shall reduce the allowable live load capacity of all floors so affected

Section 607 General test requirements Tests shall be made only by a testing laboratory fully equipped for the purpose or other recognized authority acceptable to the Chief All tests shall be made under conditions similar to those under which it is proposed to use the material or system of construction

Section 608 Tests by recognized authority Materials or systems of construction may be approved by the Chief upon the presentation of certified records accompanied by affidavits as to their authenticity of tests of such materials or systems of construction when made by laboratories or recognized authorities

Section 609 Approval of new materials The approval or disapproval of new materials or new systems of construction shall be in writing Approvals shall give in detail such requirements for the use of the said new material or new system of construction as the Chief shall make

Section 610 Additional tests The Chief is authorized to call at his discretion for tests of any material or system of construction in use. The procedure in such cases shall be as provided for in Sections 607 and 608

Section 611 Failure of existing materials In the event that an approved material or system of construction shall be tested and found no longer to meet the requirements of this code notice to the effect that the material or system of construction is no longer acceptable shall be served on the interested parties The procedure shall be the same as required for new materials or new systems of construction

Section 612 Field tests Every material or system of construction shall be capable of sustaining without injury or permanent deformation a load of not less than twice the live load for which the material or system of construction has been designed plus the dead weight of the material or system of construction and provided that test requirements in other parts of this code are complied with

CHAPTER 7 Loading

Section 700 Dead loads There shall be included under dead loads the entire weight of the floor or roof surfacing fills floor construction ceilings fixed partitions walls columns footings or such other items of permanent construction not included under the heading of live loads Should the nature of the building be such that there is a possibility of the partitions' being shifted their weight shall be treated as uniformily distributed load and all parts of the structure shall be designed to carry them

Section 701 Live loads for floors The loads given in Sections 702 and 703 are to be considered as uniformly distributed in pounds per square foot In the event that the building is called upon to sustain loads greater than those specified such loads shall be estimated from actual conditions and a report submitted to the Chief for his approval

When a building is of an occupancy not hereinafter mentioned the Chief shall place it in an appropriate classification

Section 702 was read as follows:

Section 702 Human Occupancy (a) Residential Dwellings Guest Rooms of Hotels Apartments Lodgings and Tenements Dormitories Monastries Convents Orphanages Asylums Homes Reformatories Houses of Correction Jails and Prison Rooms and Wards of Hospitals and Sanatoriums 40

(b) Educational Class Rooms with fixed seats 50

(c) Assembly Offices Churches with fixed seats Reading Rooms 60

(d) Public Assembly Lodge Rooms Dance Halls Auditoriums Theatres Motion Picture Houses Amusement Park Structures Stadiums Gymnasiums Grand Stands Rooms for Athletic Activities Galleries and Museums Armories Exhibition and Convention Halls Restaurants Banquet Rooms Public Buildings Public Baths and Swimming Pools Police and Fire Stations Libraries Railway Passenger Stations Lobbies Halls Aisles Corridors Stairways and Fire Escapes or Any Room of any structure of Human Occupancy of 2500 square feet or more used for dancing 100

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 30, Section 702, line 9, strike out the entire line.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 703 was read as follows:

Section 703 Commercial and Industrial Occupancy
(a) Private Passenger Car Garages and Stables.........100
(b) General Purposes Garage 100
(Minimum concentrated load at any point 8000 pounds)
(c) (Commercial Uses) Wholesale and Retail Stores Storage of Household Goods only..................................110
(d) (Light Manufacturing) Where the work is done by hand on benches and tables or with light machines like sewing machines or ordinary looms Machine shops without overhead power cranes 120
(e) (Industrial Occupancy) Machine Shops other than above Light Printing Plants Factories with heavy machinery Warehouses for Ordinary Merchandise 150
(f) (Heavy Manufacturing) Manufacturing Presses Storage of overhead power cranes Heavy Printing Presses Storage of Heavy Materials...200
(g) Interior Courts Sidewalks Gratings and Vault Lights not accessible to a driveway
First Class Construction only...........................120

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 30, Section 703, line 12, strike out the word "Garage" and substitute in lieu thereof: Garages

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 704 to 800, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 704 Roof loads Roofs of a pitch of forty-five (45) degrees or less shall be designed for a vertical load of thirty (30) pounds per square foot in horizontal projection and roofs of a greater pitch than forty-five (45) degrees shall be designed for a horizontal load of thirty (30) pounds per square foot in vertical projection

Section 705 Safes No safe shall be placed on a stair landing or in a stair hall

Section 706 Minimum concentrated live loads Every floor beam in any beam in any building hereafter erected or altered and used for commercial or industrial occupancy shall be capable of sustaining a live load at any point of at least four thousand (4000) pounds except as required by Section 703 (b)

Section 707 Moving loads The dynamic effect of all moving loads shall be taken into consideration in the design of a building wherein such loads occur In the case of traveling cranes this shall not be less than an increase of twenty-five (25) percent above the static loads and in the case of elevators one hundred (100) percent increase in the static load on beams girders and first tier columns immediately below the place of application of the elevator loads

Section 708 Wind pressure For purposes of design the wind pressure upon the vertical plane surface of all buildings and structures except as noted below shall be taken at not less than twenty (20) pounds per square foot over the entire surface The wind pressure upon tanks signs or similarly exposed structures and their supports shall be taken at not less than thirty (30) pounds per square foot of plane surface acting in tanks or chimneys this pressure shall be assumed to act on six-tenths of the projected area Tension to resist wind may be taken at twenty-six (26) pounds per square inch in radial brick chimneys laid in cement mortar A reduction in the area of signs may be made where openings exist but this reduction must not be more than fifty (50) percent

Where it shall appear that an isolated building or structure may be exposed to the full force of the wind throughout its entire height and width the pressure upon all vertical surfaces thus exposed shall be taken at not less than twenty-five (25) pounds per square foot

Where a building is of the skeleton frame type the skeleton frame shall carry the full wind load Each bay of the skeleton frame shall be designed independently of all others unless the horizontal floor slabs or systems are rigidly attached to the skeleton frame and braced laterally to transmit the horizontal loads proportionally among all columns or unless the floor slabs and fireproofing of the steel beams and girders are of concrete in intimate contact with the steel in which case the floor system may be considered as transmitting the horizontal forces proportionally to all the columns Monolithic reinforced concrete structures may be considered as transmitting the forces proportionally among all columns

Section 709 Anchorage Every member must be designed to have a dead weight equal to at least one-half more than the tendency toward uplift

Section 710 Reduction of live load Except in buildings used or to be used for storage purposes the following reductions in assumed total floor live loads are permissible in designing trusses girders columns piers walls or foundations

Reduction of live load per increment	Per Centum
Carrying one floor	0
Carrying two floors	10
Carrying three floors	20
Carrying four floors	30
Carrying five floors	40
Carrying six floors (or more)	50

For determining the area of footings the full dead loads plus the live loads with reductions figured as permitted above shall be taken except that in buildings for human occupancy a further reduction of one-half the live load is permitted

Section 711 Eccentricity Unless the reaction of any load is concentric with the axis of the supporting member or column the member or column shall be increased in strength to take care of the effects of the resultant eccentricity

Section 712 Allowable deflections The maximum permissible deflections caused by the live load for beams and girders are as follows

1/300 unplastered 1/360 plastered

The fraction gives the ratio of the deflection to the span length

Section 713 Posting of live loads In every building of a commercial or industrial occupancy hereafter erected and in every existing commercial or industrial building where heavy materials are kept or stored or machinery introduced there shall be posted on the walls of each floro in a conspicuous place a card in a permanent frame stating the following the weight in pounds per square foot the floor will safely support the date of examination the signature of the orchitect or engineer making examination the stamp of the Bureau with the date the calculation was accepted the signature of the examining engineer of the Bureau and such other notations as the Chief may require in any particular case

It shall be the duty of the owner to see that these cards are kept in position and in good condition

If drawings are not on file in the Bureau for the building the architect or engineer shall prepare diagrammatic drawings and data and submit them with his computations as directed by the Chief

Section 714 Overloading of floors It shall be the duty of the owner and tenant of a building to see that the same loading of a floor is not exceeded

Should the strength of a floor of a building erected prior to the passage of this act be such that the live load resulting is less than one-half that required in the code for the occupancy in question the owner shall reinforce the floor or building in such manner that the required safe loading is obtained Proper reduction shall be made for old or damaged materials

Section 715 Lost drawings When it is necessary to post cards for floor loads in buildings where no plans are available and where the internal structure cannot be determined without demolition of the various parts the Chief may permit a series of tests to be made

CHAPTER 8 Excavations and Bearing Values

Section 800 Excavations sheeting bracing shoring underpinning When in the opinion of the Chief an excavation will endanger an adjoining property structure building or street such property structure building or street shall be protected by properly braced sheeting or underpinning or by shoring or by any combination of these which shall be properly maintained Construction drawings for such sheeting bracing underpinning and shoring shall be submitted to the Chief for approval

When the Chief finds that a condition is hazardous the drawings shall be so stamped and he may require that extraordinary methods be used for safe-guarding the work

Section 801 was read as follows:

Section 801 Depth of foundations The foundation loads of all permanent structures shall be carried down to satisfactory bearing material by means of walls piers caissons or piling which shall be so designed that the entire loads which they transmit will be distributed over the bearing area at a unit intensity not exceeding the allowable bearing value hereinafter prescribed in this chapter

Every footing shall be carried down to at least three feet below any adjoining surface exposed to freezing and any footings laid in freezing weather shall be protected against frost action

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk ac follows:

Strike out lines twenty, twenty-one, twenty-two and twenty-three, so that the same shall read as follows: "Every footing shall be carried down at least three feet below any adjoining surface exposed to freezing except in dwelling houses two stories in height, as to which footings shall be at least two feet below any anjoining surface exposed to freezing weather provided the said exposed surface is covered with a cement pavement, properly drained, that extends three feet beyond said footings so as to protect said footings against frost action"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 802 was read as follows:

Section 802 Satisfactory bearing material Satisfactory bearing material shall mean only rock in its natural bed natural deposits of sand gravel or clay or any combination of the foregoing materials neither containing nor overlying an appreciable amount of organic matter

In the absence of satisfactory load tests the allowable bearing values of the above materials shall be limited by the following unit pressures in tons per square foot

Confined dry soft clay	1
Confined wet fine-grained sand with mica or a little soft clay	2
Dry fine-grained sand with or without hard clay but without mica or medium clay dry or wet coarse or medium grained sand with mica or hard clay hard clay	4
Dry or wet coarse or medium-grained sand without mica or clay gravel with mica or clay	5
Coarse gravel without mica or clay	6
Boulder gravel shale and hard pan	8
Cemented conglomerate	10
Firm rock	12
Medium rock	24
Hard rock	48

The classification of any bearing material shall be approved by the Chief Upon his order the allowable bearing value on such material shall be determined by test

All cesspool wells or other open holes of similar character existing in the site of a building shall be cleaned out and filled with concrete to the satisfaction of the Chief

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 37, section 802, line 1, strike out the word "or" and substitute in lieu thereof "of"

Page 37, section 802, line 19, strike out the word "firm" and substitute in lieu thereof "soft firm"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 803 to 902, inclusive were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 803 Pier or column footings All foundations under piers or columns shall be concentrically loaded and where necessary shall hav ea slip joint connection with other masonry Where beams are placed under piers or columns to distribute the loads such beams shall be proportioned as girders carrying uniform loads within the limits of the stresses prescribed hereinafter If stones are used for pier or column footings the stones shall be at least ten inches in thickness Otherwise footings for piers or columns shall be subject to the same regulations as for walls

CHAPTER 9 Caissons

Section 900 Excavation lining When caissons are used the excavation during construction shall be protected by a shell of sufficient strength to prevent slipping of the soil and to withstand any pressure caused by adjacent structures The Chief may call for such tests as he deems necessary to ascertain the quality and extent of the bottom upon which a caisson is intended to rest

The center line of the excavation shall not deviate more than two and one-half (2½) per cent of the height from the vertical The length of no caisson shall be more than fifteen (15) times its least diameter unless properly reinforced

Section 901 Concreting The excavation shall be filled with concrete as specified in the chapter on Reinforced Concrete If the shell is withdrawn concrete must be placed at the same time and in such manner as to prevent caving in of the excavation

Section 902 Design If the shaft of the caisson passes through material equal to that specified as in Section 802 capable of withstanding a pressure of two tons or more per square foot it need not be reinforced The stresses on reinforcement and on concrete with or without reinforcement shall be as called for in the chapter on Reinforced Concrete

Section 1000 was read as follows:

CHAPTER 10 Piles

Section 1000 General All piles intended to support any structure or part thereof shall be driven to the resistance hereinafter specified by such methods as will not impair their strength and as will insure the retention of that resistance

No pile shall be driven through material which is to be subsequently excavated unless it is afterward cut off and capped below the bottom of such excavation

Any type of pile construction not provided for in this section shall meet such standard requirements as may be prescribed therefor by the Chief

No pile or group of piles shall be designed so as to be loaded eccentrically

Any detached column or pier footing supported on piles shall rest upon at least three piles unless such column or pier footing be supported laterally by proper masonry or steel construction Any continuous wall footing supported on piles shall rest upon at least two rows of piles which shall be not less than one foot between centers of the rows unless such wall footing be supported laterally by proper masonry or steel construction.

The allowable load on any pile not driven to rock shall be determined by the following formulae except that in no case shall the maximum allowable load hereinafter prescribed in this section for each particular type of pile be exceeded

For Drop Hammers .... $P = \frac{2\,W\,H}{S + 1}$

For Single Acting Steam or Air Hammers...... $P = \frac{2\,W\,H}{S + \frac{1}{10}}$

In which P equals the allowable load on the pile in pounds
W equals the weight of the striking part of the hammer in pounds
H equals the fall in feet of the striking part of the hammer
S equals the average penetration in inches under the last five blows after pile has driven to a point where successive blows produce equal penetration

When any doubt exists as to the safe sustaining power of piles not driven to rock the Chief may order such piles to be driven until the safe load indicated by the proper abovenamed formula is fifty (50) per cent greater than the load it is proposed to carry on the pile or he may order a load test to be made under his supervision

Except in the case of timber capping of wood piles when permitted all capping of piles shall be of reinforced concrete mixed in the proportions of one (1) part Portland cement to not more than six (6) parts of aggregate conforming to the provisions prescribed therefor in the section on Reinforced Concrete The stresses in such concrete capping shall not exceed those prescribed therefor in the section or Reinforced Concrete

The distance from the top of any pile to the bottom of its concrete capping shall not be less than three (3) inches for concrete piles and six (6) inches for wood piles and the distance from the edge of its capping to the outside of any pile in any horizontal direction shall not be less than three (3) inches for concrete piles and six (6) inches for wood piles The thickness of the capping above the top of any pile shall be determined by the distribution of the load that the piles must carry but shall not be less than twelve (12) inches in any case

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 41, section 1000, line 15. Strike out the word "or" and substitute in lieu thereof "on"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 1001 was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1001 Wood piles Timber for wood piles shall be cut off above the ground swell from live trees of sound and approved timber A straight line joining the center of the point with the center of the butt of any wood pile shall fall wholly within the pile

The diameter of a wood pile at its point shall be not less than five (5) inches The diameter of such a pile measured two (2) feet from its butt shall be not less than ten (10) inches when the pile is twenty (20) feet or less in length and shall be not less than twelve (12) inches when the pile is of greater length All diameter shall be measured under the bark No wood pile shall be loaded in excess of fifteen (15) tons

Wood piles shall be spaced not less than twenty-seven (27) inches between centers of piles The tops of all wood piles shall be cut off at permanent water level except under frame dwellings built over water where they may project above the water a sufficient height to raise the building above high tide Permanent water level shall be mean low tide unless special conditions exist in which case the Chief may determine such other level as in his opinion represents the permanent water level

When ranging and capping timbers are placed on wood piles for foundations they shall be of heart wood not less than six (6) inches thick They shall be properly joined together and the tops shall be laid below the permanent water level

Section 1002 was read as follows:

Section 1002 Concrete piles Concrete piles may be either precase or cast-in-place or may be concrete-filled steel tubes

The concrete in concrete piles shall be mixed in the proportions of one (1) part Portland Cement to not more than six (6) parts of aggregate conforming to the provisions prescribed therefore in the section on Reinforced Concrete

(a) Precast piles Precast concrete piles shall be properly designed and reinforced in accordance with the provisions prescribed in the section on Reinforced Concrete to permit of handling and driving them without injury The Reinforcing Steel shall be so located in the piles that it will be covered by at least one and one-half (1½) inches of concrete The diameter of lateral dimension of such piles shall be not less than eight (8) inches at the point and shall average not less than twelve (12) inches throughout the length of the pile The length of any such pile shall not exceed twenty (20) times the average diameter of the pile When driven to rock their points shall be protected by a metal shoe of approved design and their tops shall be protected during driving by cushions of approved design No precast pile shall be loaded in excess of thirty (30) tons

(b) Cast-in-place-piles Concrete piles cast-in-place shall be so made and placed as to insure the exclusion of any foreign matter and secure the full cross section contemplated by such means as have been established by standard as promulgated by the Chief

When such piles penetrate material which may distort freshly placed concrete in adjacent piles the piles shall be driven in such orde rand with such increased spacing as to insure against such distortion or additonail piles shall not be driven until the freshly placed concrete has attained its initial set

The average diameter of any cast-in-place concrete pile when driven to final resistance shall be not less than eleven (11) inches and the diameter at its point shall be not less than eight (8) inches The length of such pile shall not exceed thirty (30) times its average diameter unless the lateral support of the earth warrants a greater length No cast-in-place concrete pile shall be loaded in excess of thirty (30) tons

(c) Composite piles When it is determined that a pile must be driven partly above the partly below the permanent water level a composite pile may be used the lower part wood and the upper concrete Each section of the composite pile shall meet the requirements stated above for its class The joint between the two sections shall be suffiently strong to provide for vertical and lateral support The load on composite piles shall not exceed twenty (20) tons

(d) Concrete-filled steel tubes For piles consisting of steel tubes filled with concrete the tubes shall have a diameter of nine (9) inches or more and a thickness of not less than five-sixteenths (5/16) of an inch The ends of each tube shall be faced perpendicular to its axis Splices shall be of an approved design Each pile shall be driven to a full bearing on rock The allowable load on any such pile shall not exceed five hundred (500) pounds per square inch on the concrete and seventy-five hundred (7,500) pounds per square inch on the steel provided that in computing the effective area of the steel and outer one-sixteenth (1/16) inch of thickness shall be deducted from the thickness of the tube No interior steel reinforcement shall be used

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 42, section 1002, line 26. Strike out the first word "precase" and substitute in lieu thereof "precast."

Page 43, section 1002, line 22. Strike out the first three words "cast in place" and substitute in lieu thereof "Cast-in-place"

Page 44, section 1002, line 5. Strike out the word "finall" and substitute in lieu thereof "final"

Page 44, section 1002, line 10. Strike out the word "warrents" and substitute in lieu thereof "warrants"

Page 44, section 1002, line 14. After the word "above" strike out the word "the" and substitute in lieu thereof "and"

Page 44, section 1002, line 20. Strike out the word "Vertical" and substitute in lieu thereof "vertical"

Page 44, section 1002, line 29. Strike out the words "five hundred (500)"

Page 45, section 1002, lines 1 to 6. Strike out the entire six lines and substitute in lieu thereof "one thousand (1,000) pounds per square inch on the net concrete section"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 1100 was read as follows:

MASONRY IN GENERAL

CHAPTER XI Mortars and Mass-Concrete

Section 1100 General No mortar or mass-concrete shall be used the ingredients of which are not fresh and clean and in accordance with the provisions of this code and are not thoroughly mixed and free from lumps or unmixed portions of any of the ingredients No mortar or concrete shall be remoxed or retempered after it has reached its initial set

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 45, section 1100, line 14. Strike out the word "remoxed" and substitute in lieu thereof "remixed"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 1101 to 1203, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1101 Cements limes and aggregates Cement wherever referred to throughout this chapter or code shall be taken to mean Portland Cement or other hydraulic cement of an approved standard brand masons cement quick lime and hydrated lime shall be of approved standard brands All aggregates for mortars concrete concrete brick and block and other material shall conform to the specifications for them in the chapters of this code relating to Reinforced Concrete and Fireproofing unless otherwise herein provided

Section 1102 Mortars (a) Cement mortar Shall be made of cement and sand in the proportions of one (1) part cement and not more than three (3) parts sand by volume Hydrated lime not to exceed 15 per cent of the cement by volume may be added but shall not be considered as reducing the cement content

(b) Cement-lime mortar Shall be made of one (1) part cement one (1) part hydrated lime and not more than six (6) parts sand by volume Lime-paste when thoroughly slaked may be used in the same proportion as hydrated lime and in place thereof if the two mortars are first mixed separately and then together

(c) Masons cement motar Shall be made of one (1) part masons cement and three (3) parts sand by volume and may be used in place of cement-lime mortar

(d) Lime mortar shall be made of one (1) part thoroughly slaked lime or dry hydrated lime and not more than four (4) parts sand by volume

Section 1103 Mass concrete Mass concrete shall consist of one (1) part Portland Cement to not more than seven (7) parts fine and coarse aggregates by volume mixed in conformity with the requirements specified in the chapter on Reinforced Concrete

Section 1104 Rubble concrete Rubble concrete shall consist of a mixture of concrete as specified in Section 1103 to which is added stones which shall not be larger than one man size There shall not be less than six (6) inches of concrete between any two (2) stones or any stone and the forms Rubble concrete shall not be used for a projecting footing

CHAPTER 12 Footings and Foundation Walls

Section 1200 Depth and bearing The footings or foundation walls of all buildings excepting those that are erected on wharves or wharf piers on a water front shal extend below the level of frost action and in no case less than three (3) feet below the exposed surface of the earth and be laid on solid ground or level surface of rock in accordance with soil bearing values prescribed in Chapter 8 Footings of all buildings other than dwellings shall start at least twelve (12) inches below the levels of excavations for cellar or basement floors Where solid earth or rock is not attainable the said walls may be supported by a foundation of piles or caissons filled with concrete or such other foundation as the Bureau shall direct No footing or foundation shall be laid on any soil containing organic matter nor shall footings or foundations be laid on frozen soil and when such footings and foundations are laid in freezing weather adequate precautions shall be taken against frost action

Section 1201 Wall footings Footings for foundation walls other than is provided for in the section on Dwellings shall not be less than twelve (12) inches in vertical thickness and not less than six (6) inches wider than the horizontal thickness of the wall above with such increase in size as may be required by soil conditions in accordance with Chapter 8 to safely bear the weight to be imposed thereon Such footings or base courses shall be of stone or concrete or other solid masonry acceptable to the Bureau

Section 1202 Pier or column footings Shall be in accordance with Section 803

Section 1203 Mortar for footings and foundations Cement mortar only shall be used in footings and foundations of all buildings other than as provided in Chapter 43 on Dwellings and Buildings Similarly Light in character Provided that this Section shall not prohibit the use of cement-lime mortar when in the judgment of the Chief the nature of the construction may permit of its use

Section 1204 was read as follows:

Section 1204 Footing limitations and extensions Footings of all buildings having exterior curtain walls must be set back six and one half (6½) inches from the party line The Bureau of Highways in cities of the First class shall be privileged to allow the projection of footings of walls piers or columns three (3) feet beyond the building line Provided that on streets used or proposed to be used for subways the use of the bed of the street such footing shall be constructed within the building line And Provided further that in the event of any future public improvements necessitating the reclaiming of the bed of any street by said cities of the First class any such projections which may have been constructed shall be removed by the owner of the property affected at his expense

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 48, section 1204, line 21. Strike out the word "and"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 1205 to 1210, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1205 Foundations of minor buildings Foundation walls of dwellings garages stables and of buildings of similar light construction shall be in accordance with the chapter on "Dwellings" unless otherwise provided for

Section 1206 Exterior foundation walls Foundation walls of all other buildings shall be built of stone concrete reinforced concrete or other solid masonry acceptable to the Bureau If such walls be constructed of stone they shall be at least six (6) inches thicker than the wall next above to a depth of twelve (12) feet below said wall and shall be increased six (6) inches in thickness for every additional ten (10) feet in depth below the said twelve (12) feet If foundation walls be built of concrete or solid masonry other than stone they shall be at least four (4) inches thicker than the wall next above to a depth of twelve (12) feet below the said wall and shall be increased four (4) inches in thickness for every ten (10) feet below said twelve (12) feet All exterior foundation walls shall be sufficiently strong to resist lateral pressure

Section 1207 Foundation walls above grade In buildings built to the street grade the foundations shall not be built above the curb level unless the Bureau exempt such a building from this requirement when it appears to the Bureau that such building is located on a street which is not likely to be used for business purposes in which case the Bureau shall make necessary rules and regulations for such exceptions Foundation walls for buildings of the Fourth class shall be built up to the underside of the floor supports but not less than twelve (12) inches above grade

Section 1208 Underpinning of walls Walls used for underpinning shall be built solid of large flat stones concrete or other solid masonry acceptable to the Bureau laid up in cement mortar as the Bureau may direct Underpinning of party walls shall conform to the requirements of Section 1807

Section 1209 Footings foundation and piers not permitted hollow No hollow units or hollow construction shall be permitted for footings or foundations or piers below ground story levels of any buildings including dwellings

Section 1210 Retaining walls All walls including foundations walls which support earthwork or any kind of fill coal cinders ashes et cetera shall be designed as retaining walls

Section 1300 was read as follows:

CHAPTER 13 Wall and Pier Requirements in General

Section 1300 General All buildings hereafter erected or altered except such as are otherwise provided for shall have all outside or division walls (exclusive of party walls which shall be as required in Chapter 18) constructed of solid masonry iron or other hard non-combustible material properly bonded and solidly put together all the said walls shall be built to a line and carried up plumb and straight and the several component parts of each building shall be constructed in accordance with the various provisions of this code

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 50, section 1300, line 18. Strike out the numeral "18" and substitute in lieu thereof "eighteen"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 1301 and 1302 were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1301 Story heights governing thickness of walls The height of stories for all given thicknesses of walls must not exceed eleven (11) feet in the clear for basement eighteen (18) feet in the clear for the first story fifteen (15) feet in the clear for the second story fourteen (14) feet in the clear average height for any upper story and if any story exceeds these heights respectively the walls of such story and all the walls below the same shall be increased four (4) inches in thickness additional to the thickness thereafter required The Chief may increase the thickness of any of the walls hereinafter specified if in his judgment the nature of the construction requires it

Section 1302 Thickness of walls and piers In one-story buildings with solid division walls the division walls shall be of legal thickness for party walls and be provided with a legal battlement

Where concentrated loads occur on spans of twenty-six (26) feet or less walls shall be not less than thirteen (13) inches thick with pilasters projecting not less than four (4) inches For spans over twenty-six (26) feet four (4) inches shall be added to the projection or thickness of pilasters for each additional thirteen (13) feet or fraction thereof

Pilasters shall have a width of not less than eight (8) inches plus one tenth of the distance center to center of pilasters

No thirteen (13) inch wall shall be over twenty-two (22) feet in height between pilasters or thirty (30) feet in height between steel or concrete columns designed to take bending from wind

The maximum distance between pilasters shall be eighteen (18) feet for thirteen (13) inch walls twenty-four (24) feet for eighteen (18) inch walls and thirty-two (32) feet for twenty-two (22) inch walls Provided that thirteen (13) inch walls with four (4) inch pilasters are not over eighteen (18) feet high

All walls having thirteen (13) inch pilasters or over shall be considered as having the proper piers or buttresses for lengths of buildings over one hundred and twenty-five (125) feet

Where openings in walls exceed fifty (50 percent of the length of the wall center to center of piers in Second and Third class construction the piers or sections of walls between openings shall have a width of at least thirty (30) percent of the distance center to center of piers with a thickness of at least eighteen (18) inches for the upper story and shall be increased four (4) inches for every two stories in height Provided that piers or sections of walls may be of a lesser width if the same number of square inches are provided in the cross section of the pier or wall but in no case to be less than eighteen (18) inches in thickness The unsupported height of piers shall not exceed ten times their least dimension For spans exceeding twenty-six (26) feet in width four (4) inches shall be added for every thirteen (13) feet or fraction thereof in excess of twenty-six (26) feet except that non-bearing wall piers may be eighteen (18) inches in thickness in the two uppermost stories increasing four (4) inches in thickness for every two additional stories

These requirements shall apply to all walls irrespective of length Provided that in no case shall the masonry be stressed to a greater limit than the allowable loads prescribed in this code for the kind of material used in a wall

Section 1303 was read as follows:

Section 1303 Door and window openings Openings for doors and windows in all buildings except as provided for in the chapter on Dwellings or otherwise shall have good and sufficient arches of solid or hollow masonry or terra-cotta well built and keyed with abutments or shall have lintels of stone with bearings not less than four (4) inches or of masonry on shelf angle which need not be fireproofed On the inside of all openings six (6) feet or less in width in buildings other than First class or Intermediate construction in which the lintels shall be less than the thickness of the wall to be supported there may be a proper size timber lintel which shall rest at each end not less than four and one-half (4½) inches on the wall and shall be beveled on each end and shall have a double counter or dead arch turned over the same Openings over six (6) feet and less than eight (8) feet in width shall have the inside lintel of iron or steel All lintels eight (8) feet and over in width shall be iron or steel beams or girders All exterior window sills shall be of stone or other hard incombustible material

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendent.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 53, section 1303, line 21, after the word "iron" strike out the word "or" and insert after the word "steel" 'or reinforced concrete."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 1304 was read as follows:

Section 1304 Spanning of other openings All masonry arches spanning shall be solid through the thickness of the wall with a rise of at least one (1) inch per foot of span and properly buttressed or anchored All iron steel or reinforced concrete beams or girders used as lintels to span openings eight (8) feet or over in width and not exceeding twelve (12) feet upon which a wall rests when not supported by iron or steel jamb boxes shall have a bearing of at least eight (8) inches at each end by the thickness of the wall supported For openings over twelve (12) inches In all cases the bearing shall be sufficient to support so by plates or the filling of masonry if hollow All iron or steel or reinforced concrete beams or girders used in any building shall be throughout not less in width than the thickness of the wall to be supported

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 53, section 1304, line 27, after the word 'spanning" insert the words "other openings."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agreed to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 1305 to 1404, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1305 Chases and recesses Except as provided in chapter forty-three on Dwellings no chases or recesses shall be permitted in party walls or in fire walls or fire division walls or in nine (9) inch walls or within the required area of piers No horizontal chase shall exceed four (4) feet in length nor shall the horizontal projection of any diagonal chase exceed four (4) feet Recesses for stairways or elevators may be left in walls but in no case shall the walls at such points be less than the required thickness of walls of the fourth story above the ground floor unless reinforced by additional piers by steel or reinforced concrete girders or steel or reinforced concrete columns and girders securely anchored to the walls on each side of such recesses and in no case shall any recess be made in any wall more than one-third of its required thickness Recesses for alcoves shall be not more than eight (8) feet in width and shall be arched over or spanned with lintels and not carried up higher than eighteen (18) inches below the floor next above The aggregate area of recesses in any wall shall not exceed one-fourth the whole area of the face of the wall in any story nor shall any such recess be made within a distance of six (6) feet of any other one in the same wall

Section 1306 Carrying up and bonding or anchoring of walls In no case shall any wall or walls of any building be carried up more than two stories in advance of any other wall without the permission of the Bureau The front rear side and party walls shall either be properly bonded together or anchored to each other every six (6) feet in their height by wrought-iron tie anchors not less than one and one-half (1½) inches by three-eighths (⅜) of an inch in size When walls are not bonded together the said anchors shall be built into the side or party walls not less than sixteen (16) inches and into the front and rear walls in such manner as to secure the front and rear walls to the side or party walls

Section 1307 Protection against freezing No masonry shall be built when the temperature is below 28 degrees F on a rising temperature or 32 degrees on a falling temperature at the point where the work is in progress unless provision be made to protect against freezing No frozen materials shall be built upon

Section 1308 Use of existing walls An existing masonry wall may be used in the renewal or extension of a building or may be increased in height beyond that allowed by this code for walls of its existing thickness and materials of construction provided that such wall is structurally sound or can be made so by reasonable repairs In no case shall linings be less than eight (8) inches thick and laid in cement mortar The foundations and lateral support shall be equivalent to those elsewhere required for newly constructed walls under similar conditions All linings shall be thoroughly bonded into existing masonry No existing wall shall be increased in height or be used for renewal or extension of a building without permission of the Bureau

Section 1309 Removal of walls No existing walls in any building shall be removed so as to leave an undivided floor area in excess of that permitted in this code

SOLID MASONRY WALLS

CHAPTER 14 Stone Walls

Section 1400 Quality of materials Stones shall be hard and durable free from seams and flaws that would affect their serviceability or strength as large as practicable for the intended work and of approved quality and shape In rubble work no stone shall have less bed than face

Section 1401 Mortar Except as provided in chapter forty-three on "Dwellings" stone walls above ground story levels shall be laid in cement mortar or in cement lime mortar

Section 1402 Bond and workmanship All stone walls shall be laid to a line plumb and straight and shall be faced on both sides No stone shall be laid in a wall other than a dwelling in any other position than on its natural bed Walls twenty-four (24) inches or less in thickness shall have at least one header extending through the walls every three (3) feet in height from the bottom of the wall and every four (4) feet in length and if over twenty-four (24) inches in thickness shall have one header for every six (6) superficial feet on both sides of the wall All headers shall consist of good flat stones Each stone shall be thoroughly bedded in mortar under the entire area in such manner that it will not rock All interstices between individual stones must be thoroughly filled with mortar and if the spaces should be large pieces of stone must be driven into the mortar

Section 1403 Working stresses The maximum allowable compressive stresses in rubble stonework due to combined live and dead loads shall not exceed one hundreed and forty (140) pounds per square inch when laid in cement mortar one hundred (100) pounds per square inch in cement-lime mortar and seventy (70) pounds per square inch in lime mortar

Section 1404 Thickness The thickness of stone walls shall be the same as provided for in section 1502 except that rubble stone walls shall be four (4) inches thicker than is required for solid brick walls but in no part less than sixteen (16) inches The minimum thickness for walls or piers of ashlar masonry properly bonded shall be the same as required for solid brick walls and piers under similar conditions

Section 1500 was read as follows:

CHAPTER 15 Brick Walls

Section 1500 Quality of materials Brick sand-lime brick concrete brick and other units of similar size and shape used for bearing or non-bearing walls piers party walls fire walls and fire division walls when delivered on the site shall have a compressive strength of not less than two thousand two hundred and fifty (2250) pounds per square inch of gross cross-sectional area tested in the position as laid in the wall This figure shall represent the average of five tests with a minimum for any sample of two thousand (2000) pounds per square inch except that one only may have a compressive strength of not less than eighteen hundred (1800) pounds per square inch All brick shall be well burned well shaped and free from such cracks warpage stones pebbles or particles of lime as would affect their serviceability or strength except as provided in section 4305 All sand-lime bricks shall be of compact pasture reasonably uniform in shape and free from such cracks warpage large pebbles balls of clay or particles of lime as would affect their serviceability or strength All concrete brick shall be free from such cracks or irregularities as would affect their serviceability or strength and shall be made from cement and suitable aggregate Where cinders are used as aggregate they shall conform to the requirements stipulated in the chapter on fireproofing The Chief may require a brand or other mark of identification to be pressed into any material covered by this section

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 58, section 1500, line 2, as follows, before the word "Brick" insert the words "clay and shale."

Amend page 58, section 1500, line 3, as follows, after the word "Brick" insert as follows, "all of which units are included wherever the word brick occurs in this Code."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 1501 was read as follows:

Section 1501 Working stresses The maximum allowable compressive stresses in brick sand lime brick and concrete brick masonry due to combined live and dead loads shall not exceed the following Where these units are used the average compressive strength of which is not less than four thousand five hundred (4500) pounds per square inch when tested as defined in section 1500 three hundred (300) pounds per square inch when laid in cement mortar two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds per square inch when laid in cement-lime mortar and one hundred (100) pounds per square inch when laid in lime mortar Where these units are used the average compressive strength of which is not less than three thousand (3000) pounds per square inch two hundred and fifty (250) two hundred (200) and ninety-five (95) respectively and where these units are used the average compressive strength of which is not less than two thousand two hundred and fifty (2250) pounds per square inch two hundred (200) one hundred and seventy (170) and ninety (90) pounds respectively Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the Chief from permitting stresses on masonry not to exceed four hundred (400) pounds per square inch where the units used have an ultimate compressive strength in excess of four thousand five hundred (4500) pounds per square inch when such bricks are laid in cement mortar with all vertical joints filled and all bed joints are filled and not grooved and where the workmanship is supervised in a manner satisfactory to the Chief

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 59, section 1501, line 4, as follows, before the word "brick" insert the words "clay and shale."

Amend page 59, section 1501, line 25, strike out the word "premitting" and substitute in lieu thereof "permitting."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 1502 was read as follows:

Section 1502 Thickness of exterior and interior walls party walls and piers other than in skeleton construction The thickness of walls for business manufacturing and public buildings seventy-five (75) to one hundred and twenty-five (125) feet long by twenty-six (26) feet or less clear span shall not be less than the number of inches in the following table for story heights as stipulated in Section 1301 and as further governed by openings and other provisions set forth in Chapter 13

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 61, section 1502, line 28, strike out the word "increae" and substitute in lieu thereof "increase."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendent?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 1503 was read as follows:

Section 1503 Bond mortar and workmanship In brick walls at least every seventh course of brick shall be a heading course except where walls are faced with face brick in which case at least every seventh course shall be bonded with Flemish headers or by cutting the corners of the face brick and putting diagonal headers behind the same or iron ties

All walls of brick shall be thoroughly bonded and solidly put together and shall be built to a line plumb level and straight all bricks to be laid and bedded with well-filled joints Every course when laid shall have the joints well flushed up all bed joints not covered are to be struck The brick walls below the curb level of all buildings other than as provided for in Chapter forty-three on Dwellings shall be laid in cement mortar Piers built for the support of any column post or wall shall be laid in cement mortar Provided that this section shall not be construed to prohibit the use of cement and lime mortar when in the judgment of the Chief the nature of the construction may permit its use

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 63, section 1503, line 14, strike out the words "cement and lime" and substitute in lieu thereof "cement-lime."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 1600 to 1700, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

CHAPTER 16 Plain Concrete Walls

Section 1600 Working stresses The maximum allowable stresses in masonry of plain concrete of the materials and proportions specified in Section 1103 for a 2000 pound concrete due to combined dead and live loads shall not exceed four hundred (400) pounds per square inch in compression thirty-five (35) pounds per square inch in tension or diagonal tension or ninety (90) pounds per square inch in punching shear When plain concrete of greater strength is used the foregoing stresses may be increased to twenty (20) percent of the ultimate compressive strength for concrete in compression two (2) percent in tension or diagonal tension and four and one-half (4½) per cent in punching shear

Section 1601 Thickness Except as otherwise provided in Chapter 43 on Dwellings the minimum thickness of plain concrete bearing walls shall be not less than eighty (80) percent of the thickness of solid brick walls as regulated by Section 1502 and in no case less than one-eighteenth of the clear story height for the top story and one-twentieth of the clear story height for lower stories Hollow monolithic walls of plain concrete shall have the same net cross section area of material irrespective of the space within the wall as required for solid walls The inner and outer parts of such walls shall be securely braced and tied together with noncorrodible ties or other means to bring them into common action Where floor and roof systems are carried by such walls provision shall be made for the distribution of these loads to the full cross section of the wall All plain concrete walls shall otherwise be in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 13 on Wall and Pier Requirements in General

CHAPTER 17 Solid Concrete Block Walls

Section 1700 Quality of materials When delivered on the site the average ultimate compressive strength of solid concrete block used for bearing walls except as hereinafter excepted shall be not less than two thousand (2000) pounds per square inch of gross cross sectional area This figure shall represent the average of five tests when tested in the position as laid in the walls with a minimum for any individual sample of sixteen hundred (1600) pounds per square inch All solid concrete block shall be sound of compact structure reasonably uniform in shape free from such cracks warpage or foreign substance as would affect their serviceability or strength and shall be made from Portland cement and suitable aggregate Where cinders are used they shall conform to the requirements in Section 2702

Section 1701 was read as follows:

Section 1701 Working stresses and thickness The maximum allowable compressive stresses in masonry of solid concrete block shall be not more than two hundred (200) pounds per square inch when laid in cement mortar and one hundred and seventy (170) pounds per square inch when laid in cement-lime mortar and ninety (90) pounds per square inch when lime mortar is used wall thicknesses shall be the same as called for in Section 1502 for solid brick walls

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 65, section 1701, line 19, strike out the word "wall" and substitute in lieu thereof "Wall."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 1702 was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1702 Bond mortar and workmanship Solid concrete blocks shall be bonded at each course by lapping each block one-half over the unit below Mortar shall be carefully placed to insure a full bed and contact and all vertical joints shall be fully mortared and all walls shall be plumb level and straight

Section 1703 was read as follows:

Section 1703 Marking All concrete block complying with the provisions of this Chapter shall be clearly marked by the manufacturer with a means of identification All unmarked solid concrete block shall be rated in accordance with Section 1900

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 66, section 1703, line 7, strike out the word "indentification" and substitute in lieu thereof "identification."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 1800 to 1809, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

CHAPTER 18 Party Walls Fire Walls and Fire Division Walls

Section 1800 Party walls All new party walls of buildings hereafter erected shall be built solidly from the bottom up and extended as a parapet or battlement at least three (3) feet above or beyond the roof covering except in dwellings and buildings of similar light construction when they shall extend at least ten (10) inches above or beyond the roof covering Such walls above roofs shall be at least as thick as the wall of the story beneath except that they need not in any case be more than thirteen (13) inches thick provided that the height does not exceed four times the thickness without being latterally supported Such walls shall be of solid masonry in cement mortar and shall be coped with salt glazed tile stone metal or other hard incombustible material Where the roof is mansard unless the same is constructed of fireproof material throughout the lower slope of said wall shall extend at least six (6) inches distant and parallel with the roof covering and be corbeled to the outer edge of all projections and coped with incombustible material Provided that with the approval and under the supervision of the Bureau openings may be made in party walls of contiguous buildings All parapets or battlements of exterior walls shall be governed by the same structural requirements as for party walls

Section 1801 Construction and thickness of party walls Except as may be otherwise provided in Chapter 43 on Dwellings all party walls shall be built of solid masonry which shall meet the requirements of the Sections relating to such materials and of the thickness required in Chapters 14 and 15

Section 1802 Wall encroachments and party lines Any lot of the width of sixteen (16) feet or less shall not be encumbered with more than nine (9) inches of any stone foundation basement or cellar wall or more than four and one-half (4½) inches of the wall above any lot of greater width than sixteen (16) feet shall not be encumbered with more than ten (10) inches for the stone wall nor more than six and one-half (6½) inches for the wall above nor in any case shall any lot be encumbered with more than one-half the thickness of the party wall Footings of all buildings of the skeleton frame type having exterior curtain walls shall be kept back six and one-half (6½) inches from the party line

Section 1803 Insertions in party walls Wooden joists rafters or other timbers in the party walls of any buildings hereafter erected shall be separated from the joists or timbers entering into the opposite side of the wall by at least four (4) inches of solid masonry except that in dwellings not over three stories in height the separation may be two (2) inches of solid incombustible material Other than such separated structural timbers no studs stringers or other woodwork shall be inserted in a party wall except light nailing strips or plugs Battlement walls of dwellings may have roofing paper or other flashing material entered two (2) inches on either side

Section 1804 Chases and Recesses No recesses chases or other depressions or cuttings of any kind shall be permitted in any party wall that would decrease its required thickness except as provided for in Chapter forty-three on Dwellings

Section 1805 Examination of existing party walls Inspectors of buildings shall upon the application of any owner or owners of any buildings or their authorized agents or upon the application of any person or persons about to erect any new building or buildings examine any or all existing party or division walls and if they are deemed by the inspector to be defective out of repair or insufficient and unfit for the purpose of the old building existing upon the adjoining premises or of the new buildings about to be erected such party or division wall or walls shall be repaired or made good or taken down by the parties building as the inspector's decision may be In every case where such wall or walls are defective out of repair or insufficient for the purpose of the buildings there existing upon the adjoining premises and using the same the cost or expense of such repair or removal together with the expense of the new wall or walls to be erected in lieu thereof shall be borne and paid by the owner of said buildings upon the adjoining premises and the party erecting the new buildings in proportion to the amount of such wall or walls which is or shall be respectively used by their said buildings and in every case where such wall or walls are defective out of repair or insufficient only for the purpose of the new buildings the cost and expense of such repair or removal together with the expense of the new wall or walls to be erected in lieu thereof shall then be borne and paid exclusively by the parties erecting the new buildings and they shall also in such case make good all damages occasioned thereby to the adjoining premises

Section 1806 Use of existing party walls Walls heretofore built for or used as party walls whose thickness at the time of their erection was in accordance with the requirements of the then existing laws but which are not in accordance with the requirements of this code may be used if in good condition for the ordinary use of party walls Provided the height of the same be not increased In case it is desired to increase the height of existing party or independent walls which walls are less in thickness than required under this code the same may be done with a lining of brickwork to form a combined thickness with the old walls of not less than four (4) inches more than the thickness required for a new wall corresponding with the total height of the wall when so increased in height The said lining shall be supported on proper foundations and carried up to such height as the Bureau may require No lining shall be less than nine (9) inches in thickness and all lining shall be laid up in cement mortar and thoroughly anchored to the old brick walls with suitable wrought-iron anchors placed two (2) feet apart and properly fastened or driven into the old walls in rows alternating vertically and horizontally with each other the old walls being first cleaned of plaster and other coatings where any lining is to be built against the same In all cases where there is such increase of walls a new foundation shall be built in such manner as to carry jointly both the new and old walls and the soil under such foundation shall not be loaded beyond the limits specified in chapter eight of this code This section shall not be construed to prohibit the raising of the party walls in dwellings an additional story if upon inspection the walls are found good and the load on the solid masonry is within the maximum specified in the chapter on Dwellings

Section 1807 Underpinning of existing party walls Whenever the owner or owners of property wish to excavate to a depth below the bottom of any existing party or other walls wholly or partly upon adjoining land and standing upon or near the boundary line of said lot upon which the excavation is made the owner or owners of the ground to be excavated shall protect and underpin such existing party or other walls and the buildings of which they form a part which may be located wholly or partly upon adjoining land or in proximity to such excavation If the owner or owners of ground upon which an excavation is made refuse to underpin or protect any party or other walls or buildings wholly or partly upon adjoining land or in proximity to such excavation after having had notice of twenty-four hours from the Bureau so to do any inspector of the Bureau may enter upon the premises and employ such labor and take such steps as in his judgment may be necessary to make the same safe and secure or to prevent the same from becoming unsafe or dangerous at the expense of the person or persons owning the ground on which the excavation is made and any person or persons doing said work or any part thereof under and by the direction of said inspector may bring and maintain an action against the owner or owners or any one of them of the ground on which an excavation is made for any work done or materials furnished in and about the said or any adjoining premises in the same manner as if he had been employed to do the work by the owner or owners of the premises excavated

Section 1808 Fire walls Fire walls when not built upon party lines or within six and one-half (6½) inches of same may in addition to the materials prescribed in this chapter for Party Walls be constructed also of reinforced concrete or of plain concrete when conforming otherwise to the requirements of this chapter and to the chapters relating to walls of the materials of which constructed

Section 1809 Fire division walls Fire division walls shall be constructed the same as Fire Walls In buildings for storage and heavy manufacturing purposes such fire division walls shall be not less than thirteen (13) inches thick

Section 1810 was read as follows:

Section 1810 Openings in fire walls fire division walls and enclosures Openings may be made in fire walls and fire division walls of the size number and character as determined by the Chief if protected by fire doors as provided herein Each opening shall be provided with two sets of approved fire doors separated by the thickness of the wall or division said doors to be constructed and hung in accordance with rules promulgated by the Chief Openings in enclosure walls of fire resistive construction other than herein provided for shall have metal frames or studs securely fastened to floor and ceiling structural members and such metal frames or studs shall be approved by the Chief No wood for framing or fastening shall be used for such openings Provided that this section shall not apply to private dwellings nor to one-story buildings used only for working in non-combustible materials

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 73, section 1810, line 12, strike out the word "said" and substitute in lieu thereof "These."

Amend page 73, section 1810, line 13, strike out the word "to" and substitute in lieu thereof "shall."

Amend page 73, section 1810, line 16, strike out the word "structural" and substitute in lieu thereof "Structural."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

CHAPTER 19 Hollow Masonry Walls

Section 1900 Quality of materials Hollow-burned clay tile shall have a compressive strength of not less than one thousand (1000) pounds per square inch of gross cross sectional area when tested with the cells vertical and seven hundred (700) pounds per square inch of gross cross sectional area when tested with the cells horizontal. This figure shall represent the average of five tests with a minimum for any individual sample of twenty percent from the stated averages Tiles shall have outer shell or wall not less than seven-eighths inches thick in its least dimensions All interior webs shall be not less than three-fourths inches in thickness. Non-bearing walls of hollow tile in spandrel walls may have five-eighths of any inch thickness of outer shell and webs provided the unsupported length of the shell and web is not over six (6) inches tiles shall be free from such cracks warpage pebbles or particles or lime as would affect their serviceability or strength

Hollow concrete block hollow concrete tile and solid unmarked concrete block When delivered on the site the average ultimate compressive strength of hollow concrete block hollow concrete tile or solid unmarked concrete block shall be not less than one thousand (1000) pounds per square inch of gross cross sectional area for the average of five specimens tested with a minimum of not less than eight hundred (800) pounds per square inch for any one specimen All hollow concrete block and hollow concrete tile shall have at least fifty (50) per cent solid material Where exposed to the weather they shall have walls of sufficient thickness so that the exposed surface including any stucco or other facing shall be at least two (2) inches in thickness Blocks and tiles shall be sound of compact structure reasonably uniform in shape free from such cracks warpage or foreign substances as would affect their serviceability or strength and shall be made from cement and suitable aggregate Where cinders are used the same shall conform to the requirements for Cinders stipulated in Section 2702

Brick Brick and other units of similar size and shape used for hollow walls shall conform to the requirements of Section 1500

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 74, section 1900, lines 11 and 12, restore the following "Tiles shall be constructed with at least fifty (50) percent solid material and."

Amend page 74, section 1900, line 12, strike out the word "tiles."

Amend page 74, section 1900, line 13, strike out the word "or" after the word "particles" and substitute in lieu thereof "of."

Amend page 75, section 1900, line 11, insert after the word "shape" the words "made of clay shale or other material and"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 1901 was read as follows:

Section 1901 Working stresses For walls of burned clay tile and hollow walls of brick sand-lime brick or concrete brick hollow concrete block and hollow concrete tile and solid unmarked concrete block masonry the allowable compressive stresses due to dead and live load shall not exceed eighty (80) pounds per square inch of gross cross sectional area when laid in cement mortar and seventy (70) pounds per square inch of gross sectional area when laid in cement-lime or natural cement mortar

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 75, section 1901, line 15, as follows, before the word "brick" insert the words "clay and shale."

Amend page 75, section 1901, line 22, strike out the word "natural" and substitute in lieu thereof "masons."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 1902 to 2103, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1902. Thickness and Height other than in Party Walls and in Skeleton Construction Walls of hollow burned clay tile hollow concrete block or hollow concrete tile solid unmarked concrete block or hollow walls of brick in dwellings and thrid class buildings for human occupancy shall be constructed as called for in Section 1503 and shall not exceed four stories in height The thickness shall be governed by the upper four stories of wall thickness set forth in Section 1502 and in Chapter 13 One story buildings not over five thousand (5000) square feet in area for commercial occupancy other than highly hazardous may be constructed with the walls not less than nine (9) inches thick

Section 1903 Bond mortar and workmanship When two or more hollow units are used to make up the thickness of walls the inner and outer courses shall be bonded at vertical intervals not exceeding three courses by lapping at least one cell completely over a cell of the unit below Suitable provision shall be made at each line of floor joists or beams in hollow walls or walls of hollow units to shut off the spaces above from those below and to insure good bearing for beams and uniform distribution of loads Where walls of hollow building units are decreased in thickness the top course of the thicker wall shall be made solid or other adequate means for supporting the full web section of the units above shall be provided All hollow units shall be placed with the cells in alignment and the mortar on all cells of hollow units set vertically shall be carefully placed to insure a full bed and contact All vertical joints shall be at least fully mortared at the inside and outside faces and all walls shall be plumb level and straight No lime mortar shall be used for walls of hollow unit construction or hollow walls of brick except as otherwise provided in Chapter 43 on Dwellings

Section 1904 Piers Hollow burned clay tile hollow concrete block hollow concrete tile or hollow walls of brick shall not be used for isolated piers unless solidly filled with concrete The unsupported height of such piers shall not exceed ten times their least horizontal dimension

Section 1905 Marking All hollow concrete block shall be marked in accordance with the provisions of Section 1703 for solid concrete block

CHAPTER 20 Veneered Walls

Section 2000 Quality and kind of materials Materials used in the backing and veneering of veneered walls shall conform in all respects to the requirements prescribed for such materials in the chapters on Masonry in this code Stone or architectural terra-cotta ashlar or other approved masonry material used for structural veneering shall be not less than three (3) inches thick and for applied veneering not less than seven-eighths (⅞) inches

Section 2001 Working stresses The maximum allowable compressive stresses on the backing of veneered walls due to combined live and dead loads shall not exceed those elsewhere prescribed for masonry of the type which forms such backing In no case shall the veneering be considered a part of the wall in computing the strength of bearing walls nor shall it be considered a part of the required thickness of the wall

Section 2002 Attachment of veneering When walls are veneered with brick terra-cotta stone or concrete trim the veneering shall be tied into the backing either by a header for every three hundred (300) square inches of wall surface or by substantial non-corrodible metal anchors or clamps spaced not farther apart than sixteen (16) inches vertically and two (2) feet horizontally

Section 2003 Height and thickness Except in skeleton construction veneered walls shall not exceed forty (40) feet in height above foundations and the thickness of such walls exclusive of the veneer shall be regulated by the requirements for the uppermost stories in Section 1502

CHAPTER 21 Faced Walls

Section 2100 Quality and kind of materials Materials used in the backing and facing of faced walls shall conform in all respects to the requirements prescribed for such materials in the chapters on Masonry in this code

Section 2101 Working stresses The maximum allowable compressive stresses on faced walls due to combined live and dead loads shall not exceed those elsewhere prescribed for masonry of the type which forms the backing Where bonded to the backing as provided hereinafter the full cross section of the facing may be considered in computing bearing strength

Section 2102 Height and thickness Faced walls may be of the same height but shall be not less in thickness than is required for masonry walls of the type which forms the backing Where bonded to the backing as provided herein the facing may be considered a part of the wall thickness

Section 2103 Bond Brick facing shall be bonded to walls of brick or of hollow burned clay tile or of solid or hollow concrete block or hollow concrete tile with at least one header course in every seven courses or there shall be at least one full length header in every seventy-two (72) square inches of wall surface Stone ashlar facing shall have at least 20 per cent of the superficial area not less than three and three-quarter (3¾) inches thicker than the remainder of the facing to form bond stones which shall be uniformly distributed throughout the wall When some stones in every alternate course are at least seven and one-half (7½) inches thick bonded into the backing at least three and three-quarter (3¾) inches and at least 20 per cent of the superficial area of the wall is constituted of such bond stone uniformly distributed the ashlar facing may be counted as part of the wall thickness. Every stone not a bond stone and every projecting stone not a bond stone shall be securely anchored to the backing with substantial non-corrodible metal anchors

Section 2200 was read as follows:

CHAPTER 22 Spandrel Walls Curtain Walls and Similar Non-Load-Bearing Walls

Section 2200 Such walls shall be not less than nominal nine (9) inch walls in thickness and shall be constructed of the classes of materials heretofore designated as masonry Such materials other than brick sand lime brick and concrete brick shall have an average ultimate compressive strength of not less than seventy-five (75) per cent of that specified in Chapters 14 16 and 19 Thickness of web area etc may be reduced proportionately

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 79, section 2200, line 29, strike out the word "and" insert after the word "brick" the words "and other units made of clay or shale of similar size and shape."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 2300 to 2502, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

CHAPTER 23 Interior Partitions

Section 2300 Bearing partitions All interior bearing walls except party walls fire walls and fire division walls shall be considered as bearing partitions and shall be constructed of materials meeting the standards required by the various classifications in this code Where not utilized as party fire or fire division walls partitions exclusive of plaster shall be not less than one-eighteenth of the height between floors or floor beams and shall otherwise meet the provisions of Section 1502 and Chapter 13 on Wall Requirements in General

Section 2301 Non-bearing partitions Such partitions when of masonry shall be as follows Non-bearing partitions of solid or hollow masonry materials or of gypsum block or other similar materials shall be built solidly against floor and ceiling construction below and above and for all classes of construction shall not exceed the following unsupported heights

Section 2302 Plaster Partitions Solid plaster partitions reinforced with steel may be used in any class of construction and shall be not less than 2" thick for heights not exceeding twelve (12) feet nor less than 3" thick for heights not exceeding twenty (20) feet Hollow plaster partitions reinforced with steel shall not exceed twenty (20) feet for their unsupported height

CHAPTER 24 Timber and Woodwork

Section 2400 Quality of Lumber and Timber All lumber and timber shall be equivalent to the commercial association grades conforming to the basic grading provisions prescribed by American Lumber Standards in conformity with Section 600

Section 2401 Sizes of timber When sizes are called for in this chapter or elsewhere in this code they shall be considered as the nominal or commercial sizes of rough lumber but for calculation purposes to determine the required size of lumber and timber members the net cross-sectional area or actual size shall be used and not the nominal size Where nominal sizes are given the actual dressed dimensions conforming to American Lumber Standards shall be accepted In no case shall the corresponding rough sizes be less than permits surfacing to such dressed dimensions

Section 2402 Allowable stresses in timber The Following stresses in pounds per square inch shall not exceed

	Bending		Compression		Elasticity
Species	Extreme [Fibre] Fiber	Horizontal Shear	Perpendicular to Grain	Parallel to Grain	[Mondulous] Mondulus
Southern Long Leaf Yellow Pine	1600	110	345	1175	1600000
Short Leaf Pine........	1200	88	325	880	1600000
Douglas Fir Structural Grade	1600	90	345	1175	1600000
Douglas Fir	1200	72	325	880	1600000
Red and White Oak ..	1400	125	500	1000	1500000
West Coast Hemlock...	1300	75	300	900	1400000
Spruce	1100	85	250	800	1200000
Eastern Hemlock	1100	70	300	700	1100000

Douglas Fir and West Coast Hemlock shall be identified by a registered species mark or grade mark or other authentication acceptable to the Chief The Compression in columns and posts equals C minus 20 L/D wherein C is the compression parallel to grain in the above table L is the length in inches and D is the least dimension of the cross section in inches The ratio L/D shall not exceed 40

The permissible stresses other than the minimum on each species specified above shall be determined by tests as required in Chapter Six

Section 2403 Beams and girders The ends of all wooden floor or roof timbers in second class buildings shall enter the wall to a depth of at least four inches and the end of all such beams shall be furnished with plates providing anchorage and shall be so shaped or arranged that in case of fire they may fall without injury to the wall

Roof rafters and floor joist in third class construction shall be properly braced with bridging not less than eight feet apart

All wood beams shall be trimmed away from flues and chimneys Header and trimmer beams shall not be less than four (4) inches from the outside face of the chimney Any header beam supporting a trimmer arch in front of a fireplace shall be not less than sixteen (16) inches from the face of the chimney breast

A wooden beam in a party or fire wall shall be separated from any other beam in the wall by at least four (4) inches of solid masonry except as required in Chapter 43 "Dwellings"

Section 2404 Bolting All bolts in wood construction shall be provided with washers of such porportions that the compression on the wood at the face of the washer will not exceed the working stresses prescribed in this chapter

Section 2405 Stud partitions Stud bearing partitions which rest directly over each other and are not parallel with wood floor beams shall run down between the wood floor beams and rest on the top plate of the partition below and shall have the studding filled in solid between the uprights to the depth of the floor beams with suitable incombustible materials Stud partitions shall not be used for bearing purposes except in dwellings and buildings for human occupancy with a floor load not greater than forty (40) pounds per square foot

CHAPTER 25 Iron and Steel

Section 2500 Skeleton frame The skeleton frame of all structures shall be considered as the columns and all girders beams trusses or spandrels and wind bracing having rigid connections to the columns the members of floor or roof panels which have no connection to the columns shall be considered secondary members

The skeleton frame and secondary members shall be designed and constructed to carry all dead live and other loads to which they may be subjected both during erection and after completion of the structure All members shall be such that the stresses which they may carry can be satisfactorily determined by the analytical methods of engineering practice

The skeleton frame shall provide all the necessary rigidity for the structure except that in the case of building wherein the secondary systems are rigidly attached to the skeleton frame and braced laterally the secondary system may be considered as providing stiffening to aid in transferring the horizontal forces to the foundations

Section 2501 Design The requirements of Section 600 shall govern the designing detailing fabrication and erection of all structural steel

All girders and beams shall be considered as not continuous unless rigid connections to the webs and top and bottom flanges are sufficient to develop the required stresses from beam to beam so that true continuity results

The design must take into full account all dead loads live loads wind or other horizontal forces eccentricity and the effect of any moving loads Allowance shall be made for any undue loading during erection including wind

The stresses produced by the loading and its distribution shall not exceed those hereinafter stated

Section 2502 Material Structural or carbon steel for buildings made by the open hearth or Bessemer process shall conform to standards promulgated by the Chief in order that the stresses specified in section 2504 may be employed for design the ultimate tensile strength shall be between 55,000 and 65,000 pounds per square inch and the minimum elongation of the specimen tested shall not be less than 1,400,000 divided by the ultimate tensile strength

Section 2503 was read as follows:

Section 2503 Minimum thickness No steel used in the skeleton frame shall be less than thirty one-hundredths (30/100) inches thick when used for exterior construction nor less than "twenty-three one-hundredths (23/100) inches" for interior construction

These provisions do not apply to rolled steel secondary members of floor and roof panels linings filler or light structures such as stairways skylights marquises fire-escapes light one-story buildings or light miscellaneous steel work

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 86, section 2503, line 26. Restore the word "rolled." Insert after the word "steel" the words "beams used as"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 2504 was read as follows:

Section 2504 Allowable stresses All parts of the structure shall be so proportioned that the sum of the maximum static stresses in pounds per square inch shall not exceed the following

(a) Tension rolled steel on net section 18,000

(b) Compression rolled steel on short lengths or where lateral deflection is prevented 18,000

Compression in columns

$$= \frac{18000}{1 + \dfrac{L^2}{18000\ r^2}}$$

With a maximum of 15,000

In which L is the unsupported length of the column and r is the corresponding least radius of gyration of the section both in inches

When a structural steel column is encased in stone concrete it may be designed in conformity with Section 2622

For main compression members the ratio L/r shall not exceed 120 and for bracing and other secondary members 200

(c) Bending On extreme fibres of rolled shapes and built up sections net sections if lateral deflection is prevented 18,000

Modulus of Elasticity 30,000,000

When the unsupported length L exceeds fifteen times b the width of the compression flange stress in pounds per square inch in the latter shall not exceed

$$= \frac{20000}{1 + \dfrac{L^2}{2000\ b^2}}$$

The laterally unsupported length of beams and girders shall not exceed forty times b the width of the compression on flange

On extreme fibres of pins when the forces are assumed as acting at the centre of gravity of the pieces 27,000

(d) Shearing On pins 13,500

On turned bolts in reamed holes with a clearance of not more than 1 50″ 13,500

On power-driven rivets 13,500

On hand-driven rivets 10,000

On unfinished bolts 10,000

On the gross area of the webs of beams and girders where H the height between flanges in inches is not more than 60 times t the thickness of the web in inches 12,000

On the gross area of the webs of beam and girders if the web is not stiffened where H the height between flanges in inches is more than 60 times t the thickness of the web the maximum shear per inch S/A shall not exceed

$$= \frac{18000}{1 + \dfrac{H^2}{7200\ t^2}}$$

in which S is the total shear and A is gross area of web in square inches

	Double Shear	Single Shear
(e) Bearing On pins	30,000	24,000
On power-driven rivets	30,000	24,000
On turned bolts in reamed holes	30,000	24,000
On hand-driven rivets	20,000	16,000
On unfinished bolts	20,000	16,000

On expansion rollers per lineal inch 600 times the diameter of the roller in inches

(f) Combined stresses For combined stresses due to wind with other loads the permissible working stress may be increased by one-third provided the resulting section is not less than that required by the dead and live loads alone

(g) Members carrying wind only For members carrying wind stresses only the permissible working stresses may be increased by one-third

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 88, Section 2504, Line 11, strike out the word "on".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 2505 to 2507, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2505 Combined stresses (a) Members subject to both direct and bending stresses shall be so proportioned that the greatest combined stresses shall not exceed the allowed limits

(b) All members and their connections which are subject to stresses in both tension and compression due to the action of live loads shall be designed to sustain the stress giving the largest section with fifty (50) per cent of the smaller stress added to it If the reversal of stress is due to the action of wind the member shall be designed for the stress giving the largest section and the connections proportioned for the largest stress

(c) Full provision shall be made for stresses caused by eccentric loads

Section 2506 Workmanship All workmanship shall be equal to the best practice in modern structural shops The use of a burning torch is permissible if the burned metal is not carrying stresses during the burning Stresses shall not be transmitted into the metal through a burned surface

Section 2507 Painting (a) Parts not in contact but inaccessible after assembling shall be properly protected by paint

(b) All steel work shall be thoroughly cleaned and except where encased in stone or slag concrete in intimate contact shall be given one coat of acceptable metal protection well worked into the joints and open spaces before leaving the shop and one coat in the field of a paint acceptable to the Chief

(c) Machine finished surfaces shall be protected against corrosion

Section 2508 was read as follows:

Section 2508 Erection (a) The frame of all steel skeleton buildings shall be carried up true and plumb and temporary bracing shall be introduced wherever necessary to take care of all loads to which the structure may be subjected including erection equipment and the operation of same Such bracing shall be left in place as long as may be required for safety

(b) As erection work progresses the work shall be securely bolted up to take care of all dead loads wind and erection stresses

(c) Wherever piles of material erection equipment or other loads are carried during the erection proper provision shall be made to take care of stresses resulting from the same

(d) No riveting shall be done until the structure has been properly aligned

(e) Rivets driven in the field shall be heated and driven with the same care of as those driven in the shop

(f) The skeleton frame must be riveted but secondary members twelve (12) inches or less in depth may be bolted except as provided for in Section 3202

(g) The Chief may approved the use of turned or machined bolts in reamed holes in lieu of rivets provided that he is satisfied that riveting is either impractical or inadvisable

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 91, Section 2508, Line 18, strike out the word "of".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 2509 was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2509 Welded connections Nothing in this code shall prevent the Chief from establishing rules and regulations under which welding may be permitted which rules and regulations shall conform to generally accepted practice

Section 2510 was read as follows:

Section 2510 Cast iron Compresssive stresses in hollow cast iron columns shall not exceed values determined by the formula

$$P=9000-40\ L/r$$

in which P equals compression in pounds per square inch

L equals length of column in inches

r equals minimum radius of gyration of the column in inches

(b) The maximum allowable ratio L/r shall not exceed 70 except that when allowable working stresses computed by the above formula are reduced one-third the ratio of L to r may be increased but shall not exceed 120

(c) Case iron columns shall not be used in any case where the load is so eccentric as to cause tension in the cast iron nor shall they be used for parts of the structural frame of buildings which are required to resist stress due to wind Tensile stresses in the extreme fibre of cast iron lintels or elsewhere except in columns shall not exceed 3000 pounds per square inch

(d) All columns resting on or supporting other columns shall have their ends machine faced to a plane surface perpendicular to the axis

(e) Cast iron shall not be used structurally except for columns column bases and post caps It shall not be used in First class construction

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 92, section 2510, line 21, strike out the word "Case" and insert in lieu thereof "cast".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 2511 to 2604, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2511 Pipe and concrete columns Except in First and Intermediate class construction circular hollow steel or wrought iron columns filled with concrete may carry a load equal to the capacity of the metal casing plus the capacity of the concrete filling The average unit stress in the casing shall be that specified elsewhere in this section for columns and that in the concrete filling shall be in the same ratio to the unit stress in the casing as the modulus of elasticity of the concrete bears to that of the casing

Section 2512 Special steels Steels containing ingredients other than carbon or manufactued by special processes may be used for structural purposes in conformity with regulations promulgated by the Chief which regulations shall conform to generally accepted practice

CHAPTER 26 Reinforced Concrete

Section 2600 Definition The term Reinforced Concrete in these regulations shall mean an approved concrete mixture in which steel is embedded in such a manner as to resist the tensile stresses and to add rigidity and strength to concrete in compression

Section 2601 Application Reinforced concrete will be approved for all types of building construction provided the design conforms with good engineering practice and the working stresses do not exceed those herein specified

Section 2602 Cement All cement used in reinforced concrete work shall be Portland or other hydraulic cement meeting the standards promulgated by the Chief

Section 2603 Fine aggregate Fine aggregate shall be clean and well graded sand crushed stone or gravel screenings air cooled blast furnace slag or other generally accepted materials which when used for concrete mixes will produce a concrete of the required strength and fire resistance when tested in conformity with Chapter Six (6) The largest particles shall pass when dry a screen having holes not larger than one-quarter inch in diameter Not more than six (6) percent shall pass a screen of 100 meshes per lineal inch

Section 2604 Coarse aggregate Coarse aggregate shall consist of clean well-graded crushed stone gravel air cooled blast furnace slag or other generally accepted materials which when used for concrete mixes will produce a concrete of the required strength and fire resistance when tested in conformity with Chapter Six (6) The largest particles shall pass when dry through a one and one-quarter inch diameter ring and all particles must be retained on a screen having holes one-quarter inch in diameter Sizes passing a 2¼ inch ring may be used in foundations walls 12 inches or more in thickness and slabs over 6 inches thick

The 2605th section was read as follows:

Section 2605 Reinforcement Steel used in reinforced concrete shall meet the standard requirements for plain or deformed bars as promulgated by the Chief Nothing in this Code shall prevent the Chief from establishing standards by regulation for the use of rerolled bars

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 95, section 2605, line 3. Insert after the word "Chief" the words "and shall be of new billet or standard rail steel grade. All requirements for quality shall conform to those nationally recognized as standard practice."

Page 95, section 2605, lines 6, 7 and 8. Strike out entire three lines.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 2606 to 2608, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2606 Defects in reinforcement Steel for reinforcement shall be free from excessive rust scale grease paint or any coating which would tend to reduce or destroy the bond between the steel and the concrete Bars shall also be free from injuries seams slivers flaws and other mill defects The weight of any lot of bars shall not vary more than five per cent from the standard weight of the lot as given by manufacturers' handbooks

Section 2607 Design of concrete Concrete shall consist of a mixture of a plastic or viscuous consistency in the proportions hereinafter specified for the various classes of stresses

Section 2608 Inspection All structural concrete work shall be inspected and tested by an inspector possessing the requisite technical knowledge to proportion the mixing and to make the tests set forth elsewhere in the code Written reports of the results of such inspections and tests shall be filed with the Bureau Field tests shall be made on all reinforced concrete work in conformity with requirements promulgated by the Chief

Section 2609 was read as follows:

Section 2609 Mixing of concrete The measuring and mixing of the cement the fine aggregate the coarse aggregate and the water shall be done by mechanical means in conformity with standard requirements promulgated by the Chief

Ready mixed concrete delivered from central mixing plants may be used in such places for such character of work as the Chief may approve after demonstrations conducted in cooperation with the Chief have shown that the strength of the concrete so delivered meets with the requirements of this Code

The concrete shall be proportioned by the inspector to give the necessary workability without exceeding the following ratios by volume of water to cement the ratio of cement to the sum of separated volumes of dry and rodded fine and coarse aggregates shall be as indicated in the following table The strengths indicated below represent the minimum strength in compression which must show in the tests at the end of twenty-eight days as specified hereinafter

Approximate Volume of Portland cement to sum of separate volumes of dry and rodded fine and coarse aggregate	Water-cement ratio United States gallons per ninety-four pounds sack of cement	Assumed ultimate strength at twenty-eight days
1—8—½	8—¼	1500
1—3—½	7—½	2000
1—5—½	6—¾	2500
1—5	6	3000

Water or moisture contained in the aggregate and ascertained by daily tests must be included in determining the ratio of water to cement

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 96, section 2609, line 9. Strike out the words "such character of work as the Chief may approve."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 2610 was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2610 Thickness of concrete fireproofing Where structural steel is used as column cores the thickness of concrete fire proofing shall be not less than four (4) inches

Around reinforcing bars in columns	2 inches
At bottom of girders	2 "
At sides of girders	1½ "
At bottom and sides of beams	1½ "
At bottom of joists	1 "
At sides of joists	1 "
Of slabs	1 "

The fireproofing of other structural steel shall conform to the requirements of Section 2701

Section 2611 was read as follows:

Section 2611 Modulus of elasticity of concrete The following shall be taken as the ratio of the modulus of elasticity of the reinforcing steel to that of the concrete of the grades indicated

1 Ultimate stresses up to and inc 2000 lbs ratio......15
2 " " over 2000 lbs and up to and including 2500 lbs ratio 12
3 Ultimate stresses over 2500 lbs ratio 10

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 98, section 2611, line 1. Strike out the word "inc" and substitute in lieu thereof "including."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 2612 was read as follows:

Section 2612 Working stresses in concrete The following indicates the percentage of the ultimate strength which may be used for design

Direct compression	25%
Columns
1 With spirals as defined below
2 Longitudinal reinforcement and lateral ties on gross area of concrete	25%
Piers and pedestals	25%
Compression in extreme fiber
1 Extreme fiber stress in compression	40%
2 Extreme fiber stress in compression adjacent to supports of continuous beams	45%
Tension in concrete members	None
Shear
1 Beams without web reinforcement	2%
2 Beams with web reinforcement and longitudinal bars having special anchorage	9%
Bond
1 Deformed bars	5%
2 Plain bars	4%

Bearing on a reinforced concrete surface having a greater area than that of the loaded portion may be increased proportionally until 37½% of the ultimate strength of the concrete may be used when the said surface is three or more times the area of the loaded portion

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment wil be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Sections 2613 to 2618, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2613 Working stresses in reinforcing steel These shall be 18,000 per square inch in tension and steel in compression shall be figured at a stress equivalent to the compressive stress of the concrete times the ratio given in Section 2611

Section 2614 Assumptions for design The design of reinforced concrete structures shall be in conformity with Section 600 Slag concrete shall be considered in all respects as equal to stone concrete

Section 2615 Self-centering Self-centering shall not be considered as furnishing section to take tension in slabs of reinforced concrete

Section 2616 Thickness of slabs The minimum thickness of floor slabs shall be two and one-half (2½) inches and roof slabs two (2) inches Up to a span of 2 feet 6 inches

This need not apply in one-way or two-way composite floors containing filler blocks so designed as to permit of mechanical bond between the blocks and the concrete

Section 2617 Floor Finish The cement finish of a concrete floor shall not be considered in calculating the strength of floor members unless it is an integral part of the slab laid at the same time that the slab is poured

Section 2618 Composite floors Composite floors consisting of a combination of reinforced concrete and fillers are permitted provided that their design is based on rational theory in conformity with this code or on formulas developed from tests made in conformity with this code and that such design has been substantiated by tests as heretofore described and provided that all materials entering into the construction are fireproof

No filler block shall be considered as adding to the strength of the girders or beams supporting the floor systems nor shall they be considered as adding to the strength of the floor systems unless such fillers are so designed as to permit of mechanical bond between the blocks and the concrete between them The unit stresses in this code and in the fillers shall be proportioned in conformity with this code but no filler shall be considered as acting in this respect that has a compressive strength of less than sixty per cent of the concrete the effective width of a joist shall not be taken at more than the actual width of the concrete plus half the thickness of the adjacent shells

Section 2619 was read as follows:

Section 2619 Length of columns The length of columns shall be taken as the maximum supported length

The unsupported length of column shall not exceed fifteen times the least side or diameter and in no case shall the least side or diameter be less than twelve (12) inches The length shall include any corbel or knee brace attached to the columns

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 100, section 2619, line 22. Strike out the word "supported" and substitute in lieu thereof: "unsupported."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 2620 and 2621 were seperately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 1620 Columns with spirals The axial load on columns reinforced with longitudinal bars and closely spaced spirals enclosing a circular core shall be not greater than that determined by the following formula

$$W = Ac\ (1 + (n-1)\ p)\ \ (300 + (0.10 + 4p)\ \ f'c$$

wherein P=Percentage of longitudinal reinforcement
$f'c$=28 day test strength
Ac=Area of concrete within the spiral

The longitudinal reinforcement shall consist of at least six bars of minimum diameter of one-half inch and the total effective cross-sectional area shall be not less than one per cent more than six per cent of that of the core

The spiral reinforcement shall be not less than one-fourth the volume of the longitudinal reinforcement It shall consist of evenly spaced continuous spirals held firmly in place and true to line by at least three vertical spacer bars The spacing of the spirals shall be not greater than one-sixth of the diameter of the core and in no case more than three inches

Section 2621 Columns without spirals Axial compression in reinforced concrete columns without hoops bands or spirals containing not less than one-half of one per cent nor more than three per cent of vertical reinforcement secured against lateral displacement by steel ties placed not farther apart than fifteen diameters of the vertical rods nor more than twelve inches shall not exceed the stresses given in Section two thousand six hundred twelve and two thousand six hundred thirteen Steel ties shall not be less than one-quarter inch in diameter or least dimension At least four vertical bars shall be used in every reinforced column and no bar shall have an area of less than one-half square inch

Section 2622 was read as follows:

Section 2622 Structural steel and concrete columns Axial compression in structural steel columns thoroughly encased in concrete having a minimum thickness of four inches and reinforced with not less than one per cent of steel (that is a volume of concrete within hoops) equally divided between vertical reinforcement and hoops or spirals spaced not more than twelve inches apart may be taken at 18,000 pounds per square inch on the net section of the structural steel no allowance being made for the concrete casing The hoops or spirals shall be placed not nearer than one inch from the structural steel or nearer than one and one-half inches from the outer surface of the concrete The ratio of length to least radius of gyration of the structural steel section shall not exceed one hundred twenty When these columns are reinforced in conformity with section 600 they may be designed as herein provided

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 102, section 2622, line 18. Strike out the word "section" and substitute in lieu thereof: "Section." Strike out the word "herein" and substitute in lieu thereof: "therein."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 2623 and 2624 were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2623 Bearing on footings When a base plate or other bearing is of less area than the surface on which it bears the unit stresses may be increased until they are thirty-seven and one-half per cent of the ultimate 28 day strength of the concrete when the plate is not more than one-third the area of the supporting surface

Section 2624 Construction The construction of forms the placing wiring splicing and protection of reinforcement the deposition of concrete the joints protection against drying and freezing shall be done in a workmanlike manner according to the requirements as promulgated by the Chief

No pipes for steam or water shall be placed within any reinforced concrete slab beam girder column or fireproofing

Section 2625 was read as follows:

Section 2625 Removal of forms All reinforced concrete shall be carefully inspected to insure its soundness and reliability before the main supports are removed but in no case shall the forms be removed for the usual 2000 pound concrete be removed in less time than given in the following schedule

Bottom of slabs spans of 6 feet......	4 days plus one day extra for each additional foot of span
Bottom of beams and girders of ordinary length	14 days
Beams of span of twenty feet	21 days
Sides of Lintels girders and beams	3 days
Columns	3 days
Thin walls	3 days

Due consideration shall be given to weather conditions loads on floors above and building materials stored thereon which may require all or some of the supports to remain for a longer period of time

When richer mixes or high early strength cements are used the forms may be removed when the concrete has attained a strength equal to the strength of the usual 2000 pound concrete according to the above schedule

Girders of twenty-five feet span or over shall be considered as special cases and shall be subject to the approval of the Chief before removal of the supports

The chief may permit a system of reshores to be used

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 103, section 2625, line 10. Strike out the words "be removed."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 2626 and 2627 were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2626 Exceptions When the mechanical means for the proportioning of the aggregates and the water are not employed in the mixing of the concrete the following shall govern

The amount of water used including the moisture content of the aggregate shall not be more than seven and one-fourth gallons per bag of cement weighing ninety-four pounds In the absence of accurate information the following assumptions may be made

Moisture content of Fire Aggregate one-half gallon per cubic foot

Moisture content of Coarse Aggregate one-eighth gallon per cubic foot

Such concrete shall develop a crushing strength of at least two thousand pounds per square inch at twenty-eight days Test specimens shall be made in the field from the concrete as it is placed in the forms care being taken to obtain a sample representative of the entire batch Written reports of the results of such field tests shall be filed by the inspector with the Bureau in conformity with Section twenty-six hundred eight within forty-eight hours after the completion of tests

Concrete mixed in the proportion of one part of cement to six part of aggregate shall develop a crushing strength of not less than two thousand pounds per square inch in twenty-eight days and the following working stresses shall be used

	Lbs. per sq. in.
Extreme fibre stress on concrete in compression	650
Concrete in direct compression	500
Shearing stress in concrete when diagonal tension is not resisted by steel	40
Shearing stress in concrete when web reinforcement is proportioned to resist two-thirds of the external shear	120
Bond stress between concrete and plain reinforcing bears	80
Bond stress between concrete and deformed bars....	100
Tensile stress in steel reinforcement	18,000

Working stress in columns may be taken at five hundred pounds per square inch on the gross area of the column plus seventy-five hundred pounds per square inch on the longitudinal reinforcement No column shall be longer than fifteen times its least dimension The steel shall not be less than one-half of one per cent nor more than three per cent of the gross area and it shall be sufficiently tied horizontally

When the horizontal ties are continuous circular bands having a volume not less than one per cent of the enclosed concrete spaced not over three inches on centers and the longtiudinal bars not less than one per cent nor more than four per cent the stress on the enclosed concrete may be taken at seven hundred fifty pounds per square inch and on the longitudinal steel at fifteen times this amount

Concrete mixed in the proportion of one part of cement to four and one-half parts of aggregate shall develop a crushing strength of not less than twenty-five hundred pounds per square inch at twenty-eight days and the working stress of such concrete may be increased twenty-five per cent over that permitted above

Concrete mixed in the proportion of one part of cement to three parts of aggregate shall develop a crushing strength of not less than three thousand pounds per square inch at twenty-eight days and the working stress of such concrete may be increased fifty per cent over that permitted above

In continuous beams the extreme fibre stress in concrete in compression may be increased fifteen per cent adjacent to the supports

The last paragraph of Section twenty-six hundred twelve may apply in this section

Section 2627 Tests of floor construction Whenever the Chief has doubt as to the quality of materials or workmanship in any building he may require the owner or contractor at his own expense to make such tests as will establish the safety of the construction before occupancy takes place Tests shall be made as called for in Section six hundred twelve

If the portion tested should fail to meet the requirements of this test the Chief may still approve the structure for use and if necessary additional tests may be made on different portions to determine the critical load The detail records of this test and the results of the tests upon the samples of concrete used in the construction shall be taken into consideration by the Chief in determining the working load to be permitted However no substandard construction shall be accepted by the Chief if in his judgment the structure is unsafe for the purpose intended

Section 2700 was read as follows:

CHAPTER 27 Fireproofing

Section 2700 Fireproofing A protection for steel of the thickness required in this code of plain or reinforced concrete cinder concrete solid or hollow masonry or other fireproofing material conforming with the requirements of this code.

Fire protection A protection of the materials acceptable for fireproofing but of thickness not less than one-half those required for fireproofing Cement or gypsum plaster properly held may be considered as fire protection providing that the construction so protected will pass the standard one hour fire test

Fireproofing material A material of the thickness specified in this code for fireproofing providing it is capable of passing the standard four-hour fire test in conformity with requirements as promulgated by the Chief

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 107, section 2700, line 12. Insert after the words "cinder concrete" the word "gypsum."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 2701 was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2701 Minimum thickness of fireproofing The minimum thickness of fireproofing material shall not be less than the following

For structural and reinforcing steel in reinforced concrete construction as required in the chapter on Reinforced Concrete

For the outside faces of exterior steel columns and the webs of girders eight (8) inches of solid or hollow masonry four (4) inches of solid masonry plus two (2) inches of stone or slag concrete or four (4) inches of stone or slag concrete

For interior steel columns and interior facing of exterior steel columns three inches

For trusses beams and girders two inches on flat surfaces one and one-half inches on edges of flanges one inch for lugs or brackets on minor details

For the tops of all steel in floors and roofs one inch if one additional inch of fire proof material is provided in the floor finish

For the protection of structural steel in foundations adjacent to the earth not less than four inches

Steel supporting a roof only and not fireproofed or fire protected on the inside may be used in buildings of all classes except for buildings of the Highly Dangerous and Hazardous Commercial Occupancy provided that such is at least fourteen (14) feet above the finished surface of the top floor

The fireproofing of steel supporting masonry shall completely envelop each member and be in intimate contact with all parts of the member and the fireproofing of any member supporting another member or members of the skeleton frame shall be at least equal to that of the member or members supported

Section 2702 was read as follows:

Cinders Cinders shall be only from high-pressure boilers and composed of hard well burned vitreous clinker reasonably free from sulphides fine ashes and foreign matter

Cinder concrete shall be mixed in the proportions of one part Portland cement two parts fine aggregate and five parts of crushed cinders It shall develop a unit stress in crushing of not less than eight hundred (800) pounds per square inch in 28 days

Gypsum Gypsum used for fireproofing of structural steel and in the construction of roofs and ceilings of all occupancies and of floors in buildings of human occupancies shall be of calcined natural gypsum or equal

Gypsum construction when designed similarly to reinforced concrete in which the gypsum acts structurally with the reinforcement in the resistance to and distribution of stresses shall develop when the resulting slab has been dried to constant weight an ultimate compressive strength of not less than twelve hundred (1200) pounds per square inch

Gypsum construction when designed in the form of suspension systems may contain intimately mixed not more than 15 per cent by weight of wood chips excelsior or vegetable fibre and shall develop when the resulting slab has been dried to constant weight an ultimate compressive strength of not less than five hundred (500) pounds per square inch

All reinforcement for all Gypsum construction shall be galvanized

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 109, section 2702, line 20. Strike out the word "Cypsum" and substitute in lieu thereof "Gypsum."

Page 109, section 2702, lines 27, 28 and 29. Strike out the entire three lines.

Page 110, section 2702, line 3. At the beginning of the line insert the words "Gypsum when used neat."

Page 110, section 2702, lines 10 and 11. Strike out the words "construction when designed in the form of suspension systems may contain" and substitute in lieu thereof "containing."

Page 110, section 2702, line 28. Insert after the word "reinforcement" the words "less than one-quarter inch in diameter."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 2703 was read as follows:

Section 2703 Thickness of span of slabs The maximum span between the flanges of steel beams supporting all but stone or slag concrete shall be eight feet

The following shall be the maximum distances between the flanges of steel beams as determined by slab thickness

	Roofs	Floors
2 inches thick	2′-0″	None
2½ inches thick	2′-6″	2′-6″
3½ inches thick	7′-0″
4 inches thick	8′-0″	7′-0″
4½ inches thick	None	8′-0″

Nothing in this section shall prevent the use of ribbed concrete floor slabs or composite slabs nor slabs on ribbed or reinforced fabric with a suspended fireproofing for building of the First class or a suspended fire protection for buildings of the Intermediate class approved self centering may be considered as furnishing section to take tension in spans up to 2 feet 6 inches

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 111, section 2703, between lines 9 and 10. Insert the line "3 inches thick ....5′ 0″—None"

Page 111, section 2703, line 17. Strike out the word "approved" and substitute in lieu thereof: "Approved."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 2704 and 2705 were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2704 Masonry floor arches Brick arches When brick is used as floor filling it shall consist of segmental arches having a thickness of not less than four inches Such arches shall be built of good hard common or hollow brick laid to a line and solidly bonded Each longitudinal line of brick shall break joints with the adjoining lines The arches shall spring from suitable skewbacks and shall be properly keyed The rise shall not be less than one inch for each foot of span

Clay tile arches When clay tile is used as floor filling it shall consist of hollow blocks either hard burned or semi-porous of uniform density and hardness The thickness of shells and webs of each block shall be not less than five-eighths of an inch Interior vertical and horizontal webs of arch blocks shall not be spaced more than four inches apart The skewbacks shall be of such form and section as to accurately fit the beams and properly receive the thrust of the arches The arch blocks shall be laid in cement mortar and be properly keyed

Segmental arches These blocks shall be not less than six inches in depth with at least two cellular spaces in such depth The rise shall be not less than one inch for each foot of span

Flat arches The depth of these blocks unless reinforced with steel shall be not less than one inch for each foot of span between the steel beams exclusive of the portion of the block projecting below the underside of the beams

Strength of clay tile arches Clay Tile filling shall be so designed that it will safely sustain the superimposed loads by increasing so far as may be necessary the depth and the thickness of shell and webs of the blocks For such filling reinforced by wire fabric steel rods or other steel shapes thoroughly embedded cement mortar and bonded to the tile the strength of the construction may be determined by accepted engineering formulae For the purpose of this section the working stresses in pounds per square inch shall be taken at 500 for the tile in compression 18,000 for steel in tension and 100 for bond between steel and mortar and between the tile and mortar

The stiffness of the flanges of the steel beams shall not be depended on to resist the arch action of the filling unless steel tie rods are placed to reinforce the beams

Segmental arches shall be leveled up with cinder concrete or other acceptable filling

Section 2705 Cinder concrete Cinder concrete may be used structurally as fireproofing for floors and roofs between steel beams and for interior non-bearing walls or partitions

When reinforcement is required it shall consist of steel rods or other suitable shapes or steel fabric The tensional reinforcement in any case shall be not less than twelve hundredths per centum in the case of cold drawn steel fabric nor less than twenty-five hundredths per centum in the case of other forms the percentage being based on the sectional area of slab above the center of the reinforcement The center of the reinforcement shall be at least one inch above the bottom of the slab but in no case shall any part of the reinforcement come within five-eighths of an inch from the bottom of the slab

Segmental Forms When the concrete floor filling is used in the form of segmental arches the thickness shall be at least four inches at the crown Such arches shall have a rise of not less than one inch for each foot of span

Flat Construction When the concrete floor filling is in the form of slabs the thickness shall be not less than the thickness called for in Section 2703

Flat concrete arches When a floor or roof slab of stone or cinder concrete is cast monolithic with the fireproofing of the supporting steel beams and the reinforcement consists of cold drawn steel bars or fabric of a ratio of not more than .0035 the area of the reinforcement may be determined by assuming the effective depth of 7/8 for stone concrete and 3/4 for cinder concrete of the depth from the top of the slab to the center of gravity of the steel at the center of the slab and a bending moment coefficient of 1/8 for non-continuous slabs of 1/12 when the steel is hooked over the top flanges of the supporting beams and of 1/20 when continuous over the top flange of the supporting beams The unit stress in the steel as described above may be assumed of 20,000 pounds per square inch When the steel bars or other tension reinforcement are as described in Section 2705 the unit stresses therein described shall be used The area of steel in any case parallel to the steel beams shall be not less than 10 per cent of that across the beams The slab must conform in all other respects to the design requirements of other parts of the code

In determining the safe carrying capacities of concrete floor filling segmental in form the compressive stress in pounds per square inch in the concrete shall not exceed 300 for cinder concrete or 500 for stone concrete

Nothing in this chapter shall prevent the determination of the safe carrying capacity of any form of concrete floor filling as fireproofing under the provisions of this chapter by the usual methods of calculation provided the stresses used in pounds per square inch shall not exceed 300 for cinder concrete in compression 18,000 for steel in tension and 50 for bond between cinder concrete and steel with a ratio of the moduli of steel to cinder concrete equal to 30 or in the case of stone concrete the values fixed by chapter on Reinforced concrete

When all steel members of a skeleton frame are encased in concrete as defined by the requirements of the chapter on Reinforced concrete allowances may be made for the additional strength resulting in conformity with the principles defined in this code and provided further that the reinforcement is such as to insure united action between the two materials

Section 2706 was read as follows:

Section 2706 Pre-cast gypsum Precast reinforced slabs or tile of gypsum having a wood floor or cement finish on top shall conform with the general requirements for gypsum specified in Section 2702

The steel reinforcement provided to take the tensile stresses shall be anchored within the gypsum by looping or shall be embedded within the gypsum in such manner and position that it will resist all tensile stresses and will assist in the resistance to sheer so that the stresses in the combination can be ascertained verified by computation and verified tests Continuity shall not be allowed in the design of these slabs unless the connections of the steel reinforcement are rigid as defined in Section 537

The steel reinforcement shall be shown either by indentation at the proper points exposure of the steel at the ends or by stamping the slab or tile with the words "this side up"

Precast reinforced gypsum units shall be so proportioned that the maximum stresses in pounds per square inch shall not exceed the following

Tensile stress in steel	18,000
Compression in extreme fibre of gypsum	250
Shear in gypsum	20
Bearing of gypsum or looped reinforcement anchor plates or cross welded wires	225
Modulus of Elasticity of gypsum	1,000,000

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 116, section 2706, line 7. Strike out the word "sheer" and substitute in lieu thereof "shear."

Page 116, section 2706, line 9. Strike out the word "verify" after the word "ascertained." At the end of the line insert the word "by."

Page 116, section 2706, between lines 21 and 22. Insert the line "Compression in extreme fibre of gypsum composition ....110."

Page 116, section 2706, between lines 25 and 26. Insert the line "Similar bearing for gypsum composition........100."

Page 116, section 2706, between lines 26 and 27. Insert the line "Modulus of Elasticity of gypsum composition....200,000."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 2707 was read as follows:

Section 2707 Gypsum susupension systems Gypsum suspension systems poured-in-place shall conform with the general requirements for gypsum specified in Section 2702 and shall be designed to safely carry the total loads in such manner that the stress in the suspension wires or cables shall be determined by standard formula

In this type of construction the gypsum must not be calculated to resist any of the direct stresses

The cables consisting of at least two (2) strands shall be of cold drawn steel of at least 80,000 pounds per square inch ultimate strength and in which the allowable working stress shall not exceed 20,000 pounds per square inch Cables shall be held uniformly to the required deflection and must be kept firmly tied to the form work until the gypsum has become set All cables shall be completely encased in the gypsum composition and the ends shall be securely anchored to the supporting construction independently of the gypsum or to anchorage supports which shall be properly braced to resist the tension without distortion of the structural steel

Nothing in this Code shall be construed to prohibit the issue of a permit for the construction of suspension systems of precast gypsum which conform in design construction and test to the requirements of this Code

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 117, section 2707, line 19, as follows: Restore the word "initial."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 2708 and 2709 were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2708 Gypsum fireproofing Fireproofing two inches thick of reinforced calcined gypsum (containing no sand and not more than fifteen per cent of wood chips excelsior or vegetable fibre may be used under the flanges of beams in fireproof buildings provided that there is not less than one inch of gypsum under the reinforcement It shall be supported structurally from the floor in such manner that the hangars shall be protected from below by not less than one inch of gypsum

Section 2709 Filling of Grillages Grillages shall be filled solid between the beams with stone concrete Where wood sleepers are used the spaces between shall be filled solid or fire stops provided not less than twelve inches nor more than ten feet apart of cinder concrete fill

Section 2710 was read as follows:

Section 2710 Miscellaneous floor and roof systems Nothing in this code shall prevent the Chief from approving for use as secondary systems in floors and roofs metal joists manufactured from previously rolled steel

Joists made of strip steel bent and/or welded to form a beam section shall be designed in conformity with standard design methods for plate girders

Joists made from rolled steel sections expanded to form a truss and joists made of bars rolled sections or a combination welded to form a truss shall be a true truss and designed in conformity with standard design methods for trusses

Bridging shall be placed at the time the joists are installed Such bridging shall be of sufficient strength to provide lateral support The minimum concentrated load required under Section 706 shall apply to all occupancies and each joist shall be designed to sustain the same except that each joist may be designed for half this amount provided the bridging is designed to transmit the remainder to the joist or joists adjacent

Joists shall be held at their bearings by some means other than the load they are intended to carry

Rolled steel beams permitted in other parts of this code shall conform to the above requirements

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 119, section 2710, between lines 10 and 11. Insert the following paragraph: "These joists shall not be used in any building wherein the height is more than two and one-half times the width. This provision shall not apply to rolled steel sections nor to assembled joists wherein the connections between the separate parts are all of the rigid type as prescribed in Section 537."

Page 119, section 2710, lines 17 and 18. Strike out the word "all occupancies" and substitute in lieu thereof "commercial occupanies and offices."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 2711 to 2800, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2711 Nothing in this code shall be construed to prohibit the use of pre-cast or porous slabs made of Portland or other hydraulic cement of thickness less than called for elsewhere in this code provided that the stresses conform to those required in this chapter on Reinforced concrete and that the slabs are in conformity with requirements promulgated by the Chief

Section 2712 No pipe for steam or water shall be placed within the fireproofing of any structural member or floor system

CHAPTER 28 Chimneys Flues Fireplaces and Incinerators

Section 2800 The provisions herein shall apply to all ordinary chimneys flues and vents within a building or which form a part of a building and not to chimneys flues stacks or vents for high pressure boilers furnaces used in the manufacturing ranges in restaurants hotels etc or for other heating or cooking appliances where high temperatures occur all of which shall be designed constructed and maintained in accordance with best engineering and fire prevention practice acceptable to the Chief and the Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Fire

Section 2801 was read as follows:

Section 2801 Chimney construction The walls of all chimneys shall be built of solid masonry or of radial brick but this shall not preclude the use of a metal smokestack when located inside of a shaft properly enclosed with noncombustible materials having an air space between the walls and stack on all sides Flues in party walls shall not extend closer than four inches from the center of the walls The walls of all unlined chimneys shall be built of good sound hard-burned brick The walls of line chimneys shall be not less than four (4) inches thick All concrete chimneys cast in place shall be suitably reinforced vertically and horizontally The walls of lined concrete chimneys shall be not less than four (4) inches thick and of lined solid concrete block chimneys not less than eight (8) inches thick Chimney walls of rubble stone shall be at least ten (10) inches thick properly bonded and shall have flue linings

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 120, section 2801, line 27, as follows: After the words "hard-burned brick" insert "or other suitable hard brick."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 2802 was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2802 Flue linings All flue linings shall be of fire clay or other suitable refractory clays either natural or compounded adapted to withstand reasonably high temperatures and flue gases Flue linings shall be of standard commercial thickness but not less than five-eighth inch They shall be carefully bedded one upon another in mortar and with all joints left smooth on the inside Linings shall start from a point not less than egiht (8) inches below the center line of smokepipe intakes or in the case of fireplaces from the apex of the smoke chamber and shall be continuous to the required height of the chimney The masonry walls around flues shall not be built hollow and the lining dropped inside but shall be laid up together with the lining with mortar around each successive length of lining as it is set All joints and spaces between the masonry and lining shall be thoroughly slushed full as each course of masonry is laid No flue lining already set in place shall be cut away or broken to receive a smokepipe intake

Section 2803 was read as follows:

Section 2803 Chimneys without lining Lining may be omitted in brick chimneys provided the walls of the chimneys be not less than eight (8) inches thick and the inner course be of hard-burned brick and that all joints on the flue side be struck smooth No mortar lining or parging shall be permitted Linings may likewise be omitted in reinforced concrete chimneys provided the walls of such chimneys be not less than six (6) inches thick

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 121, section 2803, line 28, as follows: After the words "hard-burned brick" insert "or other suitable hard brick."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 2804 to 2807, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2804 Mortar for chimneys All mortar used in the construction of independent chimneys except as otherwise provided herein shall be cement or cement-lime mortar When a masonry wall of a building forms part of a chimney with flue linings the mortar for chimney walls may be the same as that employed in the building wall Mortar used between the joints of flue linings and in the portions of a chimney above a roof or otherwise wholly exposed to the weather shall be cement mortar

Section 2805 Foundations of chimneys Chimneys or breasts shall be built upon solid masonry foundations properly proportioned or may start from floors or walls in buildings of the First class The footing for an exterior chimney shall start below the frost line but not less than three (3) feet below the finished grade Chimneys shall not rest upon or be carried by wooden floor beams or brackets nor be hung or supported by metal stirrups from wood or metal construction

Section 2806 Corbeling of chimneys The total offset overhang or corbel of an independent chimney in other than First class construction shall not exceed three-eighths the width of the chimney in the direction of the offset Corbeled chimneys shall not be supported by hollow walls or walls of hollow units and corbeling shall not project more than one inch per course and not more than twelve (12) inches in any case

Section 2807 Chimneys through and above roofs No increase of chimney wall thickness nor any projecting masonry or setback shall be permitted within a distance of six (6) inches above or below rafters or roof joists Chimneys shall be built at least three (3) feet above flat roofs and not less than two (2) feet above the ridge of gable and hip roofs or the high point of mansards

Section 2808 was read as follows:

Section 2808 Fireplaces Fireplace walls shall be not less than eight (8) inches thick and if built of stone or hollow units not less than twelve (12) inches thick The faces of all such minimum thickness walls exposed to fire shall be lined with firebrick hard-burned brick soapstone cast iron or other suitable fire resistive material When lined with four (4) inches of firebrick or hard-burned brick such lining may be included in the required minimum thickness All fireplaces and all machimney breasts with openings shall have trimmer arches or other approved fire-resistive construction supporting hearths The arches and hearths shall be not less than twelve (12) inches wide measured from the face of the chimney breast and not less than twelve (12) inches wider than the opening on either side The arches shall be of brick stone or hollow tile not less than four (4) inches thick A flat slab or slate or similar stone or a reinforced concrete slab may be used to carry the hearth instead of an arch if it be properly supported and a suitable fill be provided between it and the hearth Hearths shall be of brick stone tile or other incombustible material Wood centering under a trimmer arch shall be removed after the masonry has thoroughly set No heater burning solid liquid or gaseous fuel shall be placed in a fireplace which does not conform to the foregoing requirements

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 123, section 2808, line 17. Strike out the word "machinery" and substitute in lieu thereof "chimney."

Amend page 123, section 2808, line 13, as follows: After the words "hard-burned brick" insert "or other suitable hard brick."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 2809 was read as follows:

Section 2809 Flues Flues shall be built as nearly vertical as possible but in no case at an angle greater than forty-five (45) degrees from the vertical other than in First class construction Where flues change direction the abutting linings at the angle joint shall be but to fit closely Not more than two lined flues shall be permitted in the same flue space and the joints of any such adjoining flue linings shall be staggered at least seven (7) inches When there are more than two flues in a chimney at least each third flue shall be separated from the others by a smoke-tight withe or division wall of masonry or concrete not less than four (4) inches thick and bonded into the chimney walls Each flue intended for a heating furnace or boiler connection or for a fireplace shall be separated from other flues by such a withe When any single flue has an effective area exceeding two hundred (200) square inches the walls shall be not less than eight (8) inches thick and shall have flue lining as previously specified but when flues become so large as to render it impracticable to obtain fire clay lining such flues shall be lined with fire brick for a distance of at least twenty-five (25) feet from the point of intake The effective area of any flue shall be considered as the full area if a round flue and as the largest circle or oval which could be inscribed in a square or oblong flue Ordinary and low pressure heating devices burning solid fuels shall have a minimum effective flue area not less than the following

Small special stoves and heaters	28 square inches
Stoves ranges and room heaters	40 square inches
Fireplaces (at least 1/12 the fireplace opening)	50 square inches
Warm air furnaces steam and hot water boilers in buildings over two stories in height	70 square inches

The construction and size of flues to be used for oil and gas fired furnaces boilers and automatic water heaters shall be the same as required for corresponding appliances burning solid fuel except that in the case of a vent for a domestic water heater the same may be connected into a similar flue from a heating apparatus when in accordance with rules promulgated by the Chief Vent flues for non-automatic water heaters stoves ranges and other domestic gas appliances having relatively small gas consumption (excepting gas plates and portable gas heating appliances) shall have a flue area of not less than ten (10) square inches Such flues unless enclosed in solid masonry walls shall be of incombustible material not less than three-fourths of an inch thick with air tight joints and shall vent to the outside air

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was raed by the Clerk as follows:

Page 124, section 2809, line 9. Strike out the word "but" and substitute in lieu thereof "built."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 2810 was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2810 Thimbles and intakes A thimble or flueing of fire clay metal or masonry shall be suitable installed on the side of any chimney where smokepipe enters or is intended to enter a flue The top of such intakes shall be set not less than eighteen (18) inches below any ceiling of sheet metal wood lath and plaster or exposed wooden beams No thimble shall enter a chimney within six (6) inches of any wood-work When a smokepipe enters a chimney breast through a studded-off combustible partition the thimble of such smokepipe shall be kept six (6) inches clear of all woodwork and if plastered shall be surrounded by metal lath

Section 2811 was read as follows:

Section 2811 Incinerators A flue serving a non-fuel fired incinerator combustion chamber having grate-area of nine (9) square feet or less shall have enclosing walls of hard-burned brick four (4) inches thick and shall be lined with standard fire-clay lining or shall be constructed to conform to the following requirements A flue serving a no-fuel fired incinerator combustion chamber having a grate-area exceeding nine (9) square feet shall be enclosed by hard-burned brick four (4) inches thick with a lining of four (4) inches of fire brick for a distance of not less than thirty (30) feet above the roof of the combustion chamber beyond this point flue enclosing walls shall consist of hard-burned brick not less than eight (8) inches thick Flues or stacks for fuel fired incinerators shall be lined with four (4) inches of fire brick for a distance of forty (40) feet above incinerator breeching Flues or stacks of rubbish and waste material incinerators shall be enclosed by eight (8) inches of hard-burned brick and a lining of four (4) inches of fire brick laid in fire clay Such fire brick linings shall extend to the top of the flue or stack An incinerator of this type or of the fuel fired type may connect to a boiler or similar stack if the area of the stack is at least four times the area of the incinerator breeching All flues or stacks shall terminate in a substantially constructed spark arrester When an incinerator flue is used as a garbage depositing chute it shall have approved doors in each opening and access to such flue shall not be within the building The vestibules of firetowers may be adapted to this purpose When such chutes occur in First class buildings the access doors may be within the building The area and heights of incinerator flues and the construction of enclosing walls of combustion chambers which must be of masonry shall be in accordance with rules promulgated by the Chief

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 126, section 2811, line 11, as follows: After the words "hard-burned brick" insert "or other suitable hard brick."

Amend page 126, section 2811, line 16, as follows: After the words "hard-burned brick" insert "or other suitable hard brick."

Amend page 126, section 2811, line 20, as follows: After the words "hard-burned brick" insert "or other suitable hard brick."

Amend page 126, section 2811, line 25, as follows: After the words "hard-burned brick" insert "or other suitable hard brick."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 2812 to 3000, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 2812 Testing and tightness of flues If after completion there be any doubt as to the tightness or safety of any flues to which large ranges heating furnaces boilers automatic gas water heaters fireplaces or incinerators are to be connected they shall be subjected to a smoke test but the test shall not be made until the mortar has thoroughly seasoned The test shall be made by the masonry contractor in the presence of the building inspector or other person designated by the Chief and any flue proved to be leaky shall be abated as a nuisance and rebuilt tight All chimneys in any building already erected which shall be dangerous in any manner whatever shall be repaired and made safe or taken down

Section 2812 Woodwork around chimneys and fireplaces All such woodwork shall be placed in conformity with the requirements governing same in Chapter 24 of this code

CHAPTER 29—Heating and Cooking Apparatus Pipes and Appliances

Section 2900 No boiler to be used for steam or motive power no furnace and no hotel or restaurant type of range oven or similar apparatus where high temperatures occur shall be placed on any floor above the cellar unless the same is set on non-combustible beams and arches or an incombustible platform extending not less than fifteen (15) inches beyond the base in all directions and in no case without a permit from the Bureau No permanent or stationary heating apparatus of any kind whatever shall be introduced in any building now erected without a permit from the Bureau

Section 2901 Location of heating apparatus All boilers furnaces or other similar heating apparatus shall be so located as to provide a distance of not less than three (3) feet from any unprotected woodwork or wood lath and plaster Where combustible ceilings walls or partitions occur closer than three feet to such heating apparatus such ceilings walls or partitions shal be properly protected with incombustible material to an extent not less than twelve (12) inches beyond the outline of such apparatus Where the distance is less than one foot all such heating apparatus shall be shielded as herein provided for stoves and ranges using solid fuel The tops of all boilers or furnaces set in brick shall be covered with brick slate or metal supported by metal bars and so constructed as to be perfectly tight said covering to be in addition to and at least six (6) inches from the ordinary covering to the hot air chamber

Section 2902 Location of stoves and ranges (Solid fuel) Stoves an dranges using solid fuel and having an enclosed base shall be set upon solid masonry foundations or hollow or porous masonry arches or hearths not less than fur (4) inches thick and extending not less than six (6 inches beyond the base on all sides and twelve (12) inches on the front If such hearths are built upon wooden floors the latter shall first be covered with sheet metal or ⅛-inch asbestos board Such stoves and ranges supported by rigid legs and which have at least a four inch clearance under ash pans may be set upon wood floors when such floors are protected by heavy sheet metal extending not less than twelve (12) inches beyond the front and not less than six (6) inches beyond the sides and back of the same Where any such stoves or ranges are set less than eighteen (18) inches from any wood lath and plaster or less than twelve (12) inches from any incombustible lath and plaster the studdng shall be cut away and framed to a height of not less than three (3 feet above the top and one foot from the side of the stove or range and the space from floor to header filled in with brick an dother incombustible material laid in cement mortar or the same shall be protected in such manner as may be set forth in regulations promulgated by the Chief

Section 2903 Furnaces stoves and ranges (Liquid fuels) All heating and cooking apparatus using liquid fuel shall be located as provided for apparatus using solid fuel and together with its piping and fuel storage shall be otherwise installed and maintained in accordance with regulations promulgated by the Chief and the Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Fire

Section 2904 Smokepipes All smokepipes shall enter chimneys on a vertical face connecting to the flue through a thimble or intake in the chimney wall as elsewhere provided Smokepipes shall be located not less than eighteen (18) inches from any unprotected woodwork or any wood lath and plaster unless protected as hereinafter provided when the minimum clearance shall be six (6) inches Such protection shall consist of a sheet metal shield or its equivalent set out at least one inch from the surface to be protected extending the full length of the stovepipe and not less than twelve (12) inches beyond its edges Smokepipes shall not pass through any floor nor through a combustible roof A smokepipe shall not pass through a combustible partition or wall construction unless a section of the construction is removed and the smokepipe is insulated from the construction by a galvanized iron double-walled ventilated thimble having a diameter of not less than twelve (12) inches larger than the pipe or by not less than four inches of incombustible construction Smokepipes shall not be permitted in closets nor in concealed air spaces and shall not be permitted to connect with the chimney in an attic All smokepipes shall be firmly connected at the inlet and outlet and shall be securely anchored in position throughout

Section 2905 Warm-air pipes and registers Horizontal warm-air furnace pipes shall be placed not less than six (6) inches below wooden floor joists or wood lath and plaster ceilings if the floor joists or ceiling are protected by metal lath and plaster or the pipe is covered with not less than one-half inch of corrugated asbestos or equal insulation the distance from the woodwork or wood lath and plaster may be reduced to not less than three (3) inches Cold-air ducts for warm-air furnaces shall be made of incombustible material for a distance of at least three (3) feet from the furnace Warm-air ducts or pipes passing through combustible partitions or floor shall be protected by ventilated thimbles providing for not less than three (3) inches of air space Warm-air ducts or pipes contained within combustible partition or ceiling construction shall be doubled metal with not less than ⅜-inch space between or shall be single metal ducts or pipes securely covered with asbestos or equal insulation No such pipe or covering shall be closer than one inch to any wood studding joist or floor unless the same be protected by metal or asbestos and metal lath or wire lath shall be used to cover that portion of the partitions or ceilings in which the warm-air ducts or pipes are located Warm-air registers in floors or partitions shall be set in metal slate or other incombustible frames which will provide not less than three inch air space between the register opening and any combustible construction to which the frame is attached The register boxes shall be of sheet metal and be kept not less than one inch from any unprotected woodwork

Section 2906 Openings through floors and partitions Pipe holes or other small openings through floors or partitions shall be protected by continuous metal sleeves properly flanged at each end

Section 2907 Installation of wall heaters When a gas or electric heater is installed in a wood stud wall or partition all wooden surfaces adjacent to the heater and the space between the studs behind above and below the heater shall be protected in accordance with standard practice as promulgated by the Chief

PART IV CLASSIFICATION

CHAPTER 30 Classification of Buildings Based on Types of Construction

Section 3000 All buildings shall be classified according to types of construction occupancies floor areas heights and districts where located in conformity with this Part of the code

Section 3001 was read as follows:

Section 3001 All buildings shall be divided into the following classes of construction and First Class Type A shall be deemed to be the most fire-resistive type of construction and Fourth Class Type B the least fire-resistive type of construction

The terms "Fireproofed" and "fire-protected" shall be understood to have the specific meanings given to them in chapter twenty-seven

First Class Type A)
First Class Type B) Fireproofed construction
First Class Type C)
Intermediate Class Fireprotected construction
Second Class Type A)
Second Class Type B) Slow-burning construction
Third Class Ordinary construction
Fourth Class Type A) Metal Frame construction Fourth Class Type B) Wood Frame construction

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Strike out the word "Fireproofed" and substitute in lieu thereof: "fireproofed."

CHAPTER 31 Walls and Partitions

Section 3100 was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 3100. Exterior and inner court walls Exterior or inner court walls for all classes of construction except as specifically permitted elsewhere shall be divided in to the following

Wall Bearing Type in which the wall carries loads other than its own weight This type of wall shall be of masonry or reinforced concrete as permitted in the Chapter on Masonry It may be used in all classes of construction provided that proper means are taken to give it lateral support and provided that wind and other horizontal forces are resisted by the floors columns or other structural parts of the building

Self Supporting Type in which the wall carries its own weight but no other load This type of wall shall conform to the requirements for and be used as permitted in the Chapter on Masonry

Spandrel Type in which the wall is supported at each floor and carries no load other than its own weight This type of wall may be either solid masonry or reinforced concrete hollow masonry or a combination of any of these It may be used in all classes of construction provided that it is carried on and braced laterally by fireproofed construction

Section 3101 was read as follows:

Section 3101 Partitions In buildings of the First and Intermediate classes of construction partitions shall be of incombustible materials as prescribed in chapter 23 and in buildings of Second class construction partitions may be of two or more layers of plank of a total thickness of not less than three inches spiked together so that the joists are not parallel except as elsewhere required

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Strike out the words "chapter 23" and substitute in lieu thereof: "Chapter Twenty-three."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 3102, 3103 and 3200 were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 3102 Office partitions In buildings or sections thereof used for office puropses where fireproofed partitions are called for wood rails or partitions may be ussd provided that they do not extend to within eighteen inches of the ceiling or wood office partitions may be used up to the ceiling provided that not less than one third of their area is of glass In all cases where wood is used the building or section thereof shall be occupied by one tenant only

Section 3103 Floor openings The enclosure of all elevators stairs and fire towers shall be as called for in chapter forty

All other openings in floors not designed for the passage of people through them but used for pipe ducts dumb waiters etc shall be enclosed in fireproofed shafts

CHAPTER 32 First Class Buildings Fireproofed Construction

Section 3200 "First Class Type A" defined First Class Type A Buildings shall be those having frames of reinforced concrete or structural steel wherein the fireproofing of the skeleton frame and the floor systems is in intimate contact with all parts of the steel and the floor systems are rigidly connected to the skeleton frame

Section 3201 was read as follows:

Section 3201 "First Class Type B" defined First Class Type A Buildings shall be those having frames of reinforced concerte or structural steel wherein the fireproofing of the skeleton frame is in intimate contact with all parts of the steel and the floor systems are of steel rigidly connected to the skeleton frame and fireproofed on the top and bottom flanges but need not be in contact

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Strike out the word "concerte" and substitute in lieu thereof: "concrete."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended/

It was agreed to.

Sections 3202, 3300, 3400, 3401, 3500 and 3501 were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 3202 "First Class Type C" defined First Class Type C Buildings shall be those having frames of reinforced concrete or structural steel wherein the fireproofing of the skeleton frame entirely envelops each member but need not be in intimate contact with the steel and the floor systems are of steel which need not be rigidly connected to the skeleton frame and which is fireproofed on the top and bottom flanges but need not be in contact

CHAPTER 33—Intermediate Class Buildings Fire-protected Construction

Section 3300 "Intermediate Class" defined Intermediate Class Buildings shall be constructed in accordance with the requirements or First Class Type C buildings as specified in Section 3202 except that the structural frames and floor systems may be fire-protected instead of fire-proofed and each individual member of the skeleton frame need not be entirely enveloped

CHAPTER 34—Second Class Buildings—Slow-burning Construction

Section 3400 "Second Class Type A" defined Second Class Type A Guildings shall have floors and roofs of heavy timber of the following minimum sizes columns or posts 8 inches beams and girders 6 inches floor planking 3 inches roof planking 2 inches

Section 3401 "Second Class Type B" defined Second Class Type B Buildings shall conform to the requirements of Second Class Type A buildings except that colunms beams and girders may be fireprotected steel or of reinforced concrete

CHAPTER 35 Third Class Buildings Ordinary Construction

Section 3500 "Third Class Buildings" defined Third Class Buildings shall have floors and roofs of timber in which the floor joists shall not be less than three inches thick in occupancies for which the live load prescribed in Chapter seven exceed one hundred pounds per square foot and in no case less than two inches thick and in all cases the roof rafters shall not be less than two inches thick and the floor and roof planking not less than one inch thick Structural steel may be used without fire-proofing or fire-protection unless such steel supports bearing walls or fire partitions

Section 3501 Nothing in this Code shall be construed to prohibit the Bureau from issuing permits for buildings of third class construction having incombustible walls other than masonry if the walls are fireprotected where buildings of the fourth class are permitted

CHAPTER 36 Fourth Class Buildings Metal Frame and Wood Frame Construction

Section 3600 was read as follows:

Section 3600 "Fourth Class Type A" defined Fourth Class Type A buildings shall be those having frames of unprotected structural steel wherein the walls are of sheet metal or other incombustible materials supported on steel masonry or concrete

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Page 137, section 3600, line 7. Strike out the word "masonary" and substitute in lieu thereof "masonry."

On the question,

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 3601, 3602, 3700 were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 3601,"Fourth Class Type B" defined Fourth Class Type B Buildings may be of timber the studding joists or rafters of which are not less than 2 inches thick and the sheathing and siding not less than one inch thick or the studding may be covered with stucco not less than one inch thick reinforced with metal furred out three-eighths of an inch and shall have foundations of masonry or concrete

Sesction 3602 Councils of cities of the First Class may by general ordinance define the lmits within which frame buildings may be erected regulate the erection of frame buildings and permit and regulate the erection of frame sheds on wharves or elevators for the storage of grain coal and lumber

CHAPTER 37 Classification of Buildings Based on Occupancy

Section 3700 For the purposes of this code all buildings shall be divided into the following groups In the event that a building should not fall within one of these groups its grouping shall be determined by the Chief

Section 3701 was read as follows:

Section 3701 Human occupancy

Special hazards

A Theatres and motion picture parlors

Ordinary hazards

B Dance Halls Amusements Park Structures Convention Halls Stadiums Exhibition Halls Restaurants School Churches any room of 2500 sq ft or over in a school or church possible to be used for dancing any room with fixed seats of 2500 sq ft in a school or church rooms for athletic activities armories gymnasiums libraries railroad passenger stations museums

Institutional

C Hospitals Sanitariums Orphanages Asylums for the feeble-minded Nurseries Old Folk's Homes accommodating six or more Jails and Prisons Reformatories and Houses of Correction Monasteries and Convents accommodating ten or more Municipal Fire and Police Stations

Residential

D Hotels Apartment Houses Lodging Houses Dormitories Fraternity Houses and Clubs

E Dwellings

Office Buildings etc

F Office Buildings Public Baths and Swimming Pools

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 138, section 3701, line 4. Strike out the word "amusements" and substitute in lieu there of "amusement"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 3702 to 3801, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 3702 Commercial occupancy

Highly hazardous

M Buildings for the manufacture of highly inflamable or explosive materials etc

Hazardous

N Buildings for the storage of highly inflammable or explosive materials etc paint or oil storage buildings dry cleaning establishments paint shops planing mills box factories wood-working shops mattress factories filling stations gas stations

Semi-hazardous

O Public Garages
P Private Garage

Ordinary usage

Q Wholesale or Retail Stores or Salesrooms Factories or Shops not using highly combustible or inflammable materials etc Buildings or Shops for the storage or sale of ordinary combustible goods Printing Plants Creameries and Cold storage Plants

Non-hazardous

R Power Plants Ice Plants Pumping Plants Factories or Shops for Incombustible or Non-explosive materials etc Buildings for the storage of incombustible or non-explosive materials etc

Accessories and appurtenances

S Signs Water Tanks and Towers Sheds Fences etc

Section 3703 Mixed occupancy When a building is used for two or more occupancies which are not of the same group it shall conform in all respects to the most stringent requirements of any of the groups to which the occupancies pertain unless the building is divided into sections containing the different occupancies by horizontal and vertical fire divisions

Section 3704 Exception No building of a Highly Hazardous Commercial occupancy (Group M) shall be used for any other purpose than for accessories and appurtenances (Group S) in connection only with its own use

Section 3705 Exits When a building is used by occupancies coming under different groups firetowers and stairs may be used in common provided that each occupancy has its own separate entrance to each firetower or stairs independent of the other occupancy or occupancies A firetower required by one occupancy may be used as a stairs by an occupancy not requiring a firetower

Section 3706 Change of occupancy When the use or the character of the occupancy of any building is changed from one group to another group such building if not conforming to the requirements for the proposed use or occupancy shall be remodeled to comply with the requirements of this code for the proposed use or occupancy

Section 3707 Group R buildings classified under Group R with structural steel columns and floor and roof systems not fireproofed or fireprotected from the inside shall be considered First Class Buildings Steel roof decking properly insulated and weatherproofed may be used in group R buildings or in one story buildings of commercial occupancy except groups M and N without fireproofing or fireprotection on the outside in conformity otherwise with this Section provided the buildng is separated on all sides from other structures by not less than 25 feet

Section 3708 Group S construction Accessories and Appurtenances of steel not fireproofed or fire-protected in connection with the exterior of a building may be considered as not lowering the class of the building

CHAPTER 38 Requirements based on Floor Area

Section 3800 Should the area of any floor of a building exceed in any case the maximum areas hereinafter given the said floor shall be subdivided by fire walls or fire division walls

Maximum Undivided Floor Areas

Commedcial and Industrial Occupancies	One Street Frontage		Two Street Frontage		Three Street Frontage
	Sprinkled	Unsprinkled	Sprinkled	Unsprinkled	Sprinkled	Unsprinkled
First Class A..	Unlimited	25,000	Unlimited	30,000	Unlimited	Unlimited
First Class B ..	27,500	20,000	30,000	25,000	Unlimited	30,000
First Class C ..	25,000	17,500	27,500	22,500	30,000	25,000

Second Class ..	20,000	10,000	22,500	15,000	25,000	17,500
Third Class ...	10,000	5,000	15,000	7,500	20,000	10,00o

Section 3801 A paved driveway 25 feet wide may be classed as a street For human occupancies the above areas may be increased by 20 per cent

Section 3802 was read as follows:

Section 3802 No building of a highly hazardous commercial occupancy Group M as specified in Section three thousand seven hundred two shall have an undivided floor area greater than one-half of those hereinbefore given and in any case the said building shall be sprinkled and the undivided floor area shall not exceed twenty-five thousand square feet

On the question,
Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 141, section 3802, lines 20, 21. Strike out the words "three thousand seven hundred two and substitute in lieu thereof "3702"

On the question,
Will the House agree to the amendment?
It was agreed to

On the question,
Will the House agree to the section as amended?
It was agreed to.

Sections 3803 to 3907, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 3803 This chapter shall not apply to private dwellings nor to one story buildings used only for the storage of or the working in non-combustible materials

Section 3804 No building used as a garage or automobile service station or for any similar purposes which is not of first class construction shall be erected to a greater height than two stories nor have an undivided floor area exceeding five thousand square feet provided that one-story buildings of second class construction used for the purpose set forth in this section may have an undivided floor area of ten thousand square feet

Section 3805 Third Class Buildings with floor and roof plank of 1¾ inches or more may have a maximum floor area of 7,500 square feet and Second Class Buildings one story high sprinkled may have a maximum floor area of 50,000 sq. ft.

Section 3806 All one story buildings not over five thousand square feet in area of commercial occupancy with non-combustible contents may be of Fourth Class Type A construction

CHAPTER 39 Requirements based on Height

Section 3900 All buildings of commercial occupancy over 85 feet high wherein the height is more than two and one-half times the width shall be of First Class Type A construction

Section 3901 All buildings of human occupancy over 85 feet high wherein the height is more than two and one-half times the width and all unsprinkled buildings of commercial occupancy over 85 feet high shall be of a grade not lower than First Class Type B construction

Section 3902 All buildings other than defined in Section 3900 and 3901 over 85 feet in height shall be of a grade not lower than First Class Type C construction provided that for commercial occupancies the floor systems are rigily connected

Section 3903 All buildings not more than eight stories and not over 85 feet in height and all buildings of any height used for forcible detention such as jails prisons and asylums and all buildings over two stories in height used as schools hospitals or for similar occupancies shall be of a grade not lower than Intermediate Class construction except as provided in Section 3904

Section 3904 All buildings not more than six stories and not over 75 feet in height shall be of a grade not lower than Second Class construction except as provided in Section 3905

Section 3905 All buildings not more than four stories and not over fifty feet in height shall be of a grade not lower than Third Class construction provided that all ceilings all vertical enclosures all bearing partitions and store enclosures and all divisions between tenants are fireprotected except as provided in Section 3906

Section 3906 All buildings not more than three stories and not over forty feet in height except dwellings shall be of a grade not lower than third class construction provided that the ceilings and other separations of cellars and basements and all store enclosures in buildings containing sleeping quarters shall be fireprotected

Section 3907 All buildings not more than three stories and not over forty feet in height may be of Fourth Class Type B construction within certain districts defined by the Councils of Cities of the First Class provided that all interior fireprotective requirements of Section 3906 are complied with

Section 4000 was read as follows:

PART V

CHAPTER 40 Means of Egress

Section 4000 Scope The provisions of this part of the Code shall apply to all buildings over two stories in height except

Theatres Motion Picture Houses and Dwellings all of which are specified in the separate sections thereon

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 145, line 1. After the words "Part V." insert the word "Egress"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 4001 to 4008, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 4001 Stairs All stairs in buildings of the First and Intermediate Classes for human occupancy shall be enttirely closed in walls of hard incombustible materials not less than six inches thick except that the main stairs from the first to second floors and first floor mezzanine stories may be unenclosed

All stairs in buildings of the First and Intermediate Classes for Commercial Occupancy any floor area of which above the first floor exceeds 5000 square feet shall be entirely enclosed in walls of hard incombustible materials not less than six inches thick The main stairs from the first to a messanine in the first story may be unenclosed All stairs in buildings of other than First and Intermediate Classes any floor area of which above the first floor is 3500 square feet or over shall be enclosed in not less than nine inches of solid masonry

All stairs in buildings of other than the First and Intermediate classes any floor of which other than the first floor is less than 3500 square feet and exceeds 2000 square feet shall be enclosed in not less than three inches of solid plank or two inches of solid plaster on metal lath or other fireprotected construction supported by incombustible studding

All stairs in buildings of lesser area per floor than provided above in this section but not more than three stories in height may be unenclosed unless used for sleeping purposes

Enclosure walls in buildings other than of the First and Intermediate Classes shall extend not less than three feet above the roof

All doors in enclosures of six inches or more shall be of metal or wood doors covered with metal acceptable to the Chief

Windows shall have metal frames and sash All glass shall be wire glass no pane of which shal exceed two hundred and fifty square inches

The stairs in buidings of the First and Intermediate Classes shall be of incombustible construction

No riser shall exceed eight inches and no tread shall be less than nine inches exclusive of any nosing

A metal skylight with wire glass or windows having an area of one fourth that of the shaft shall be provided above the top landing A stair which does not extend down to the ground shall be sealed off at the bottom by fireproof construction

Buildings for Human Occupancy other than the First Class may have stair enclosures of fire protected construction

Section 4002 Elevators The enclosure of elevators shall conform to the requirements for stairs except that they shall be enclosed throughout the entire shaft with incombustible material when more than one elevator is used the entire group may be contained within one enclosure

Section 4003 Shafts and Ducts All other vertical openings shall be enclosed as called for in Part IV on classifications

Section 4004 Fire Towers Tower fire escapes shall be provided in accordance with Section 4013 and shall be separated from the building by and completely enclosed with walls not less than 8 inches in thickness of brick or such other solid fireproof materials as shall be accepted by the Bureau The said walls in buildings other than of the First or Intermediate Classes shall be built solidly from the foundation to and at least thirty-six inches above the roof

The roof of said tower shall be built of hard incombustible materials

The stairs of said tower may be of wood but in all cases there must be provided stone or iron thresholds iron frames or wood frames covered with metal and iron doors or wood doors covered with tin The rise of said stairs shall not be more than eight (8) inches and the tread not less than nine (9) inches exclusive of any nosing

The entrance to said tower shall be by means of an outside balcony or an incombustible vestibule of which one side shall be entirely open and extend from the top of floor to under side of ceiling and the full width of the tower The said open side to face a street or such space as provides for exit of said tower There shall be a brick wall or other wall of hard incombustible material separating the tower from the vestibule The opening into tower from said vestibule shall be not over seven (7) feet in height The floor ceiling and sides of said vestibule to be of hard incombustible material

The rails inclosing the side facing the open space or street shall be not over four (4) feet high and not less than three (3) feet may be open or inclosed

The entrance to the tower from the building shall be through the vestibule

Towers that have not the fireproof vestibule shall have outside balconies the floors of which shall be built of hard incombustible material and be of sufficient strength to carry the imposed loads

The rails around the balconies shall be not over four (4) feet in height nor less than three (3) feet and may be inclosed or open

Not more than one half the fire towers may be stopped at the second floor and metal fire escapes with drop ladders acceptable to the Chief provided from the second floor to the grounds No fire tower shall extend below the street level and in no case to a cellar or basement

If locks are placed on any door of a fire tower they shall be of the type known as panic bolts

Sections 4104 to 4111, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 4104 Type of construction Every such building hereafter erected shall be of First Class Type A Construction

Means of Egress

Section 4105 Frontage and street exits Every theatre accommodating three hundred (300) persons shall have at least two exits When accommodating five hundred (500) persons at least three exits shall be provided these exits not referring to or including the exits to the open court at the sides of the theatre

Every such building shall have at least one front on the street which shall be as wide as the widest part of the auditorium or assembly hall and in such front there shall be suitable means of entrance and exit for the audience unless there shall also be a way or passage leading directly from the auditorium to another street in which case the means of entrance and exit by such way or passage shall be taken into consideration and to such extent as they shall furnish entrances and exits and if they shall be of sufficient width to meet the requirements of this chapter there need be no means of entrance or exit in front saving by the side courts hereafter stipulated for Any building located on a street having a width thereon as wide as the widest part of the auditorium or assembly hall shall be considered as having a front on said street within the meaning of this chapter if in addition thereto there shall be a way or passage leading from said theatre to another street which way or passage shall be of a width not less than twenty-five (25) feet in the clear

The entrance of the main front of the building shall not be on a higher or lower level from the sidewalk than four steps unless approved by the Bureau

Each exit shall be at least five (5) feet in width in the clear and provided with doors of incombustible material All of said doors shall open outwardly and must be fastened with panic bolts

Section 4106 Exits to courts In addition to the aforesaid entrances and exits on the street there shall be reserved for service in case of an emergency an open court or space on each side of the auditorium not bordering on a street

The unobstructed clear width of every such open court or space shall be not less than eight (8) feet where the total number of persons to be accommodated in the auditorium is not over seven hundred (700) increasing proportionatly in width above eight (8) feet in the ratio of one foot for every five hundred (500) persons above seven hundred (700) to be accommodated

Every such open court or space shall extend from each and every exit required to lead thereto to a street or open public space and opening thereon either directly or through a corridor or passageway of fireproof construction not less than ten (10) feet high in the clear having an unobstructed clear width equal to that required for the open court or space and seperated completely by solid walls floors and ceilings from the building or structure through which it passes provided that no such corridor or passageway shall pass under any portion of the auditorium or stage

Any open court or space may be used in common for two or more auditoriums provided the unobstructed clear width of such open court or space is equal to that required for the total number of persons to be accommodated in all the auditoriums opening on the same

If there be in addition to the front on a street a way or passage of the width aforesaid leading into another street then it will be sufficient if said open court or courts shall extend along the auditorium on each side thereof to said front on said street on which the theatre shall be located

Said courts or corridors shall have no projection in the same the outer openings to be provided with doors or gates opening toward the street

From the auditorium opening into the said open courts or on a street there shall not be less than two exits on each side in each tier from and including the parquet and each and every gallery

The said open courts and corridors shall not be used for storage purposes or for any purpose whatsoever except for exit and entrance from and to the auditorium and stage and must be kept free and clear during performances

Section 4107 Exit doorways Doorways of exit or entrance for use of the people shall not be less than five (5) feet in width and there shall be five (5) doorways for the first five hundred (500) persons and an additional five (5) foot doorway for each two hundred (200) persons or portion thereof thereafter

All doors of exit or entrance shall open outwardly and be hung to swing in such manner as not to become an obstruction in a passage or corridor and no such doors shall be locked from the inside during any presentation or when the building is open to the public

Section 4108 Foyers lobbies and corridors The aggregate capacity of the foyers lobbies corridors passages and rooms for the use of the audience not including aisle space between seats shall on each floor or gallery be sufficient to contain the entire number to be accommodated on said floor or gallery in the ratio of one hundred and fifty (150) square feet of floor room for every one hundred (100) persons

The level of said corridors at the front entrance to the building shall not be greater than one step above the level of the sidewalk where they being at the street entrance

Section 4109 Aisles All aisles on the respective floors in the auditorium having seats on both sides of same shall not be less than three (3) feet wide where they begin and shall be increased in width towards the exits in the ratio of one and one-half (1½) inches to five (5) running feet Aisles having seats on one side only shall not be less than two (2) feet wide at their beginning and increased in width the same as aisles having seats on both sides Theatres having three (3) exits to the side courts on each side shall have a cross-over aisle five (5) feet wide connecting the two (2) central exits

Section 4110 Gradients To overcome any slight difference of level in or between courts corridors lobbies passages and aisles gradients or inclined planes shall be employed instead of steps where possible Such gradients shall be not over one (1) foot in ten (10) feet with no perpendicular rise

Section 4111 Gallery exits Distinct and separate places of exit and entrance shall be provided for each gallery above the first A common place of exit and entrance may serve for the main floor of the auditorium and the first gallery provided its capacity be equal to the aggregate capacity of the outlets from the main floor and said gallery No passage leading to any stairway communicating with any entrance or exit shall be less than four (4) feet in width in any part thereof

From the auditorium opening into the said open courts or on the side street there shall be not less than two (2) exits on each side in each tier from and including the parquet and each and every gallery

Section 4112 was read as follows:

Section 4112 Staircases in galleries Where the seating capacity is for more than one thousand (1000) people there shall be at least two (2) independent staircases with direct exterior outlets provided for each gallery in the auditorium where there are not more than two (2) galleries and the same shal be located on opposite sides of said galleries Where there are more than two (2) galleries one (1) or more additional staircases shall be provided the outlets from which shall communicate directly with the principal exit or other exterior outlets All said staircases shall be of width proportioned to the seating capacity as elsewhere herein described Where the seating capacity is for one thousand (1000) people or less two (2) direct lines of staircases only shall be required located on opposite sides of the galleries and in both cases shall extend from the sidewalk level to the upper gallery wth outlets for each gallery to each of said staircases Stairs leading to the galleries may be left open on one side in which case they shall be constructed as provided for similar stairs leading from the entrance hall to the main floor of the auditorium No door shall open immediately upon a flight of stairs but a landing at least the width of the door shall be provided between such stairs and door

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 159, section 4112. Between lines 20 and 21 insert the line: "capacity is for more than one thousand (1000) people"

On the question,

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Sections 4113 to 4119, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 4113 Stage stairways At least two (2) independent staircases with direct exterior outlets shall also be provided for the service of the stage but they shall not both be located on the same side of the stage

Section 4114 Stairways All stairs within the building shall be constructed of incombustible material througout and the openings to said staircases from each tier shall be of the full width of the stairs In the case of enclosed stairways from balconies or galleries such stairways shall not communicate with the basement or cellar All stairs shall have treads of uniform width and risers of uniform height throughout in each flight Stairways serving for the exit of fifty (50) people shall be at least four (4) feet wide between railings or between walls and for every additional fifty (50) people to be accommodated six (6) inches must be added to their width The width of all stairs shall be measured in the clear between hand rails In no case shall the risers of any stairs exceed seven and one-half (7½) inches in height nor shall the treads exclusive of nosings be less than ten and one-half (10½) inches wide in straight stairs No circular or winding stairs for the use of the public shall be permitted When straight stairs return directly on themselves a landing of the full width of both flights without steps shall be provided Stairs turning at an angle shall have a proper landing without winders introduced at said turn

In stairs when two (2) side flights connect with one (1) main flight no winders shall be introduced and the width of the main flight shall be at least equal to the aggregate width of the side flights All stairs shall have proper landings introduced at convenient distances

Section 4115 Stairway handrails All inclosed staircases shall have on both sides strong handrails firmly secured to the wall about three (3) inches distant therefrom and about three (3) feet above the stairs but said handrails shall not run on level platforms and landings where the same is more in length than the width of the stairs All staircases eight (8) feet and over in width shall be provided with a centre handrail of hard wood or metal not less than two (2) inches in diameter placed at a height of about three (3) feet above the centre of the treads and supported on wrought-iron or brass standards of sufficient strength placed not farther than four (4) feet apart and securely bolted to the treads or risers of stairs or both

Section 4116 Fire-escapes In the said open court or courts there shall be balconies at each level or tier above the parquet on each side of the auditorium of sufficient length to embrace the two (2) exits and from said balconies there shall be staircases extending to the ground level with a rise of not over eight and one-half (8½) inches to a step and not less than nine (9) inches tread exclusive of the nosing

Said balconies shall be not less than four (4) feet in width where the seating capacity is not over one thousand (1000) five (5) feet in width where the seating capacity is more than one thousand (1000) and not over fifteen hundred (1500) and six (6) feet in width where the seating capacity is over fifteen hundred (1500)

If the said balconies be carried to and connect with an enclosed tower stairway having its exit directly to the street the open courts or corridors hereinbefore described may have deducted from their width the capacity of the staircases herein called for

Every staircase from the galleries and balconies to the court level shall be of the same width as the balcony directly above such staircase and as before mentioned in this section

All the before-mentioned balconies and staircases shall be constructed of iron throughout including the floors which shall be of solid safety tread and of ample strength to sustain the load to be carried by them and they shall be covered with a metal hood or awning to be constructed as shall be directed by the Bureau

Section 4117 Auditorium walls Interior walls built of fireproof materials shall separate the auditorium from the entrance vestibule and from any room or rooms of the same also from any lobbies corridors refreshment or other rooms

Section 4118 Roof and floors of auditorium The roof over the auditorium and the entire main floor of the auditorium and vestibule also the entire floor of the second story of the front superstructure over the entrance lobby and corridors and all galleries and supports for the same in the auditorium shall be constructed of iron or steel and fireproof materials not excluding the use of wooden floor boards and necessary sleepers to fasten the same to but such sleepers shall not mean timbers of support and by the spaces between sleepers excepting a portion under the stepping in the galleries which shall be properly fire stopped shall be solidly filled with incombustible material up to the under side of the floor boards

Section 4119 Partitions and Walls The partitions in that portion of the building which contains the auditorium the entrance and vestibule and every room and passage devoted to the use of the audience shall be constructed of fireproof materials prescribed in Chapter 23 including the furring of outside or other walls The walls separating the actors' dressing rooms together with the partitions dividing the dressing-rooms from the stage and the partitions dividing the dressing rooms together with the partitions of every passageway from the same to the stage and all other partitions on or about the stage shall be constructed of fireproof material prescribed in Chapter 23 All doors in any of said partitions shall be of iron or of wood constructed as hereinbefore described

Section 4120 was read as follows:

Section 4120 Proscenium construction A fire wall of solid masonry shall separate the auditorium from the stage and the same shall extend at least four (4) feet above the stage roof or the auditorium roof if the latter be higher and shall be coped If such wall is of the self supporting bearing type it shall b enot less than thirteen (13) inches in thickness if of the spandrel type supported on a steel frame it shall be not less than nine (9) inches thick Such wall shall not be recessed more than four (4) inches for the introduction of such fixtures as electric switches etc Above the proscenium opening there shall be an iron girder covered with fireproof materials to protect it from the heat The molded frame around the proscenium opening shall be formed entirely of fireproof materials if metal be used the metal shall be filled in solid with non-combustible material and securely anchored to the wall with iron

There shall be no opening through the proscenium wall except the curtain opening and not more than four others which shall be located at or below the level of the stage These latter openings shall not exceed twenty-one (21) superficial feet each and have iron or standard fire doors in each face of the wall securely hung to rabbeted iron frames or rabbets in the brick work or made to slide on track of heavy flat-rolled steel They shall be hung so as to be opened from either side at all times Direct access to these doors shall be provided on both sides and the doorways and approaches shall always be kept free from any incumbrance

Should there be constructed an orchestra over the stage above the proscenium opening the said orchestra shall be placed on the auditorium side of the proscenium fire wall and shall be entered only from the auditorium side of said wall

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend page 164, section 4120, line 9. Insert after the word "masonry" the words "acceptable to the Bureau"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

Section 4121 was read and agreed to as follows:

Section 4121 Fireproof curtain 1 General requirements The proscenium opening shall be provided with a curtain made of incombustible materials and installed to lap the masonry opening not less than eighteen (18) inches on each side and two (2) feet at the top and to intercept flame and smoke and prevent glow from a severe fire on the stage from showing on the auditorium side for a sufficient length of time to permit the safe exit of all persons from the auditorium The period of protection shall be taken as not less than fifteen minues The emergency closing of the curtain in case of fire shall be effected by gravity in less than one minute from the full open position but the last six (6) feet of travel shall require not less than five (5) seconds

2 General design of frame The curtain shall have a rigid framework of steel covered with asbestos cloth on both the auditorium and stage sides

The curtain shall in no case have a thickness of less than five (5) inches nor less than 1/120 of its span

The framework shall have interior members of tubes structural shapes bars or rods of steel The horizontal members to be spaced not more than eight (8) feet apart and the vertical members not more than ten (10) feet apart

The bottom of the curtain shall have a yielding pad of incombustible material not less than three (3) inches thick to form a seal against the floor

3 Covering Both the auditorium and stage sides of the framework shall be covered with a brass wire reinforced close-woven asbestos cloth The cloth shall have a content of ninety five (95) per cent asbestos and shall weigh not less than three (3) pounds per square yard All strips shall be in one continuous length the full height of the curtain the strips of cloth shall be lapped not less than one inch and sewed with two lines of stitching of asbestos thread which shall be of the same or greater strength than the yarns of the cloth

The asbestos cloth covering shall be secured by a clamping strip of 1¼x5/16 half oval iron bolted eight (8) inches on centers to the outside members of the frame

4 Painting The asbestos cloth on both sides of the curtain shall after erection be painted with a mineral paint composed of four (4) parts of casein to ten (10) parts of concentrated solution of sodium silicate to which may be added twenty (20) parts of pigment The paint shall be applied hot and be well brushed into the cloth

5 Curtain Guides The curtain shall be guided throughout its travel by rigid steel guides These guides shall be built integral with the smoke pockets and shall extend from the stage level to a height of twice the height of the proscenium opening plus five (5) feet The smoke pocket shall be not less than a nine (9) inch channel and a fourteen by a quarter 14 x ¼) inch steel plate or equivalent section Such guides and smoke pockets shall be securely bolted in place every four (4) feet to approved anchors built into wall or ¾ inch bolts through the wall and designed to form a stop between the curtain and the wall to prevent smoke and flame from passing around the edges of the curtain

6 Lifting Cables and Rigging The curtain shall be hung on steel lifting cables one at each end and one at intermediate points not over ten (10) feet apart These cables shall be ½ inch in diameter and shall be attached to drums twenty (20) inches in diameter which are keyed fast to a heavy rolled operating shaft

The operating shaft shall run in machined and self-lubricating journals one on each side of each drum and one at each end

The journals shall rest in substantial fireproof supports

The curtain shall be balanced by two counterweights only to such an extent that when released it shall descend by gravity Each counterweight shall be supported by two lifting cables of one-half inch diameter which shall be attached to drums keyed fast to operating shaft Counterweight frame to be made with top and bottom weights connected with one-inch tie rods to receive counterweight Counteweights to operate on 2½ x 2½ x ⅜ inch tee bar tracks secured to proscenium wall by 2½ x ⅜ inch "U" brackets Each bracket is to be double-bolted to wall Counterweight guides to be set on the stage floor and continue for the full travel of the counterweight frame plus five (5) feet The counterweight tracks at the stage floor shall be enclosed with a sheet metal guard of number 16 metal to a height of eight (8) feet above the stage floor

7 Operating Equipment The curtain shall be normally operated at least once during each performance

The normal operation of the curtain is to be the raising and lowering electrically from one station by ⅜ inch steel tiller cable controlling operating switch and shall be equipped with travel and over-travel limit stops The emergency lowering of the curtain shall be by gravity obtained by under balancing the curtain with reference to the counterweight

Emergency control stations shall be located at each side of the proscenium opening of the stage floor and there shall be at least three quick-acting heat-operated release devices for automatically closing the curtain

For checking the automatic lowering of the curtain an oil dash pot of five-inch diameter cylinder machine bored and fitted with plunger and rod with a sixteen-inch sheave on top of rod with necessary cable for checking the curtain six (6) feet above the floor and then allowing curtain to lower slowly and settle easily on the stage floor

8 Hoisting Machine The hoisting machine to be of simple design and positive in operation to be connected by roller chain and sprockets keyed fast to operating shaft Machine to have machine-cut gears with bronze worm and steel worm direct-connected to a three (3) horsepower electric motor All gears and worms to be enclosed in self-lubricating housings all mounted on a single base plate

9 Approval of Plans and Installations Complete details of a proposed curtain and lifting mechanism shall be submitted to the Bureau and approval obtained before the installation or erection of any proscenium curtain is begun The completed installation shall be similarly approved after operating tests before any theatre is opened for public performances

8 Fittings Fittings in the main water connections shall be of the long turn patterns and pipe hangers and supports shall be of substantial type well secured

9 Test At the time of installation standpipe systems shall be tested and proved tight at a hydrostatic pressure at least twenty-five per cent in excess of the highest normal working pressure to which they will be subjected Test to be for a two-hour period and pressure taken at the base of the system Concealed piping to be tested before being covered in

10 Automatic sprinklers A separate and distinct system of automatic sprinklers not connected in any manner with the hose standpipe system (Except that the water supply may be taken from an elevated tank of sufficient capacity for both systems provided it meets the specific requirements and the pipe connections are so arranged that an ample reserve supply is maintained for the sprinkler system at all times) shall be installed throughout all portions of the stage section of the building including the roof of stage under gridiron or rigging loft fly galleries under stage in dressing rooms property rooms music rooms storage rooms carpenter and paint shops store basements basements occupied for restaurant purposes and such other sections as may be directed by the Chief of the Bureau of Building Inspection and the Chief Engineer Bureau of Fire

11 Water supply for sprinklers The water supply shall be from a tank of five thousand (5,000) gallons net capacity

or more as may be directed by the Chief Engineer Bureau of Fire at an elevation of twenty (20) feet above the upper lines of sprinklers in the stage roof section

Where the city water supply is sufficient to furnish not less than fifteeen (15) pounds pressure at the upper lines of sprinklers at all times a connection of approved size with city mains may be substituted for the elevated tank at the discretion of the Chief Engineer Bureau of Fire

12 Sprinkler connection A Siamese Fire Department connection shall be provided on front walls of building with female couplings of standard city Fire Department size and construction so that connection can be made to the sprinkler system with city Fire Department hose and water supply either from city fire engineer or high pressure hydrant and to be clearly marked "Automatic Sprinklers"

13 Valves A gate valve of the outside screw and yoke pattern shall be provided at an accessible location inside the building to control the water supply to sprinkler system either from tank or city mains Horizontal swing check valves shall be provided in all tank and city connections and in the Siamese Fire Department connection

14 Alarm Valve and Gong A water flow alarm valve and gong shall be provided on outside of building to give notice of fire

15 Approval The entire equipment including tank tank connections the size of distributing pipes the manner of erection spacing of sprinklers sprinkler heads sprinkler alarm valves sprinkler gongs gate and check valves shall be of types approved by the Chief of the Bureau of Building Inspection and the Chief Engineer Bureau of Fire

16 Definition Sprinkler systems as mentioned in this chapter except as may be otherwise prescribed by the Bureau of Building Inspection must be systems of automatic sprinklers which conform to the standard regulations of the Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Fire

17 Test At the time of installation automatic sprinkler systems shall be tested and proved tight at a hydrostatic pressure of one hundred and fifty (150) pounds per square inch Duration of test to be for a two hour period and pressure taken at the base of system Concealed piping to be tested before being covered in

18 Miscellaneous There shall also be kept in readiness for immediate use on the stage at least four (4) chemical fuel fire extinguishers of two and one-half (2½) gallons capacity and at least four axes and two twenty-five (25) foot hooks two fifteen (15) foot hooks and two ten (10) foot hooks on each tier or floor of the stage

19 Control The entire lighting system and all apparatus for extinguishing of fire or guarding against same as in this chapter specified shall be in charge and under the control of the Bureau of Fire Department of Public Safety and said Department is hereby directed to see that the arrangements in respect thereto are carried out and enforced and Council may by ordinance fix a reasonable compensation for such services

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of two million seven hundred fifty thousand dollars ($2,750,000) is hereby specifically appropriated for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of the act approved the tenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred and ninety-three) entitled "An act providing for assistance to certain mothers providing for the appointment of boards of trustees for the several counties of the Commonwealth and for the appointment of a State Supervisor and assistants and fixing the salaries of such State Supervisor and assistants defining the powers and duties of boards of trustees including the power of appointing assistants and investigators and the distribution of funds at their disposal providing for the apportionment of the State appropriation among the several counties and requiring counties coming under the provisions of the act to appropriate certain moneys and providing penalties" as amended by the act approved the twenty-seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws one thousand one hundred and seventy-five) and by the act approved the twenty-second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and seven)

Section 2 Upon the approval of this act the State Treasurer after deducting from the entire amount appropriated the sums hereinafter designated for salaries and expenses shall divide the balance into two equal parts

The one part referred to as the second part shall be held intact for distribution on and after the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty in the manner hereinafter provided

The other part shall upon the approval of this act be distributed and apportioned to the several counties of the State according to the following classifications

First class counties with a population of more than one million five hundred thousand inhabitants twenty-four per centum

Second class counties with a population of more than one million and not more than one million five hundred thousand inhabitants sixteen per centum

Third class counties with a population of more than two hundred thousand and not more than one million inhabitants equal parts of nineteen per centum

Fourth class counties with a population of more than one hundred thousand and not more than two hundred thousand inhabitants equal parts of twenty-six per centum

Fifth class counties with a population of more than fifty thousand and not more than one hundred thousand inhabitants equal parts of nine per centum

Sixth class counties with a population of twenty-five thousand and not more than fifty thousand inhabitants equal parts of four and one-fourth per centum

Seventh class counties with a population of twenty-five thousand inhabitants or less equal parts of one and three-fourths per centum

Section 3 On the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty the State Treasurer shall set aside out of the second part to each county then organized under the Mothers' Assistance System a sum equal to that apportioned to it under the preceding section except as in section five of this act provided the amount so set aside to any county together with the unexpended balance of the amount apportioned to the county during the first year shall constitute the State's assistance during the second year to such county

Section 4 No county shall receive any sum from the State under sections two and three of this act unless such county shall appropriate a like sum for the same purpose

Section 5 The money set aside on the approval of this act to counties that were at that time organized under the Mothers' Assistance System and which did not come into the system during the year ending May thirty-first one thousand and thirty together with the balance of the second part remaining after the proper amounts have been set aside as provided in section three shall constitute a fund to be known as the surplus fund

A county under the Mothers' Assistance System prior to or during the year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirty may receive during the year out of the surplus fund a sum additional to that apportioned and set aside to it under sections two and three

Section 6 No county shall receive its allotment of the State appropriation available for any year under the classification appointed by this act unless such county has accepted the provision of the act of July tenth one thousand nine hundren and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred and ninety-three) as amended and has placed at the disposal of the board of trustees a sum equal to the amount available from the State appropriation for such year But a county may participate in the surplus fund if in addition to the appropriations and provisions hereinbefore required it shall appropriate a sum equal to the amount which it desires from the surplus fund

No county shall be permitted to participate in surplus fund to an amount in excess of twenty-five per centum of the aggregate sum apportioned and set aside by the State Treasurer to that county for the entire two year period

Section 7 Out of the amount hereinbefore appropriated the sum of forty thousand dollars ($40,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary shall be set apart and applied for the payment of the salaries of the State Supervisor of the Mother's Assistance Fund and of such assistants clerks and other employes as may be required for the proper conduct of the work of the Supervisor for the traveling hotel and other expenses of every kind and description necessary for the proper administration of the Mothers' Assistance System
